ENVOYS WORRY OVER 'IF' CLAUSE IN NAVAL PACT

Britain Asks Right to Denounce Treaty.

THE "IF" CLAUSE

Two features distinguish the naval controversy in the day's news:

Secretary of State Stimson, speaking on the radio from London, said, "We have reached the lowest level that I have ever heard seriously discussed before."

Mr. Henning, The Tribune's correspondent at the London parley, describes the British plan for an "escape clause" in the event by which it will be possible for signatories to disregard the agreements signed.

ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 13.—While Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson was broadcasting his speech to America tonight, lauding the three power pact as an unprecedented step in the direction of naval armament, the leaders of the London conference were struggling with the problem of an escape clause to be incorporated in the treaty for the benefit of Great Britain.

Inasmuch as France and Italy are not parties to the agreement limiting cruisers and destroyers, the British insist they cannot afford to bind themselves unreservedly to the maximum tonnage levels imposed by the treaty.

Treaty Framers Puzzled.

If France should build more cruisers and submarines, the British, it is said, would deem it necessary to build more cruisers and destroyers than permitted by the agreement. The treaty will, therefore, contain a clause under which the limitation agreement may be terminated when any signatory deems itself menaced by the building program of another power.

The escape clause, however, has produced a dilemma for the treaty framers. If it provides merely that any signatory may withdraw from the agreement at will, then any signatory might resume naval building competition on the slightest pretext, according to interpretations. The United States senate might regard such a treaty as merely a scrap of paper and refuse to ratify it, some say.

Escape Clause Knotty Problem.

On the other hand, if the escape clause should provide, as does article IX of the Washington treaty of 1922, that a conference of all signatories shall be called to consider the alleged menace and other difficulties that would be involved, Great Britain might not be able to obtain the consent of the other signatories to exceed the limitation fixed by the pact.

At the same time, if the other signatories refuse to consent, Great Britain may regard America as morally obligated to aid her if she became involved in a war with France. The United States senate, it is believed, undoubtedly would balk at such an entanglement of America in European affairs.

Efforts are now being made to work out a composite clause requiring a conference of the signatories, but still allowing any signatory to denounce the treaty as a last resort.

STIMSON TALKS ON PACT

Washington, D. C., April 13.—(AP)—In the opinion of Secretary Stimson, the London naval conference has reached a lower level of fleet limitation agreements "than any of us on the delegation felt confident could be attained when we came here."

Speaking from London, the head of the American delegation told a world-wide radio audience:

"We have reached the lowest level that I have ever heard seriously discussed before."

The text of the secretary's address was made public by the state department. It was delivered in this country over the Columbia broadcasting system.

Reviews Past Conferences.

Mr. Stimson reviewed the history of naval limitations efforts to say that the primary objective of the London conference was "to stop the dangers of competition in armaments."

"So far as the fleets of Great Britain, Japan, and the United States are concerned," he said, "that purpose has been achieved. There can now be no competition between us. The relation of the fleets is fixed.

"Furthermore, the habit of mutual consultation has received one more successful

REAL PARITY STILL LIES FAR AHEAD

3 GUNMEN BIND MAID; ROUTED BY BABY'S SCREAMS

Three gunmen last night invaded the apartment of Irving Lazar, 7743 Phillips avenue, head of Irving Lazar & Brothers Plumbing Supply company, and trussed up Miss Mary Meegan, 19 years old, a maid who was alone with the Lazar baby. They were frightened away with only a small amount of loot, however, when the screams of the baby and the crash of a falling coffee urn aroused Lazar's mother, Mrs. Rose Lazar, in the apartment below.

The bandits rode to the building in an automobile, leaving a girl outside in the car. They seized Miss Meegan when she answered the doorbell, binding and gagging her after a struggle. The three had wrapped up silverware and three oriental rugs in a sheet when the urn fell from a buffet, causing the baby to scream and arousing Mrs. Lazar. They abandoned all the loot except a $5 necklace.

Miss Meegan said that she felt a sharp jab in the arm after she had been bound and thought the bandits had given her a hypodermic injection, but Dr. Andrew Scherer, 7819 Kingston avenue, who attended her, said there was no evidence that any drug had been administered.

DAVID WARFIELD IS CRITICALLY ILL AFTER OPERATION

New York, April 13.—[Special.]—David Warfield is critically ill in the Post-Graduate hospital, it was learned tonight, and his relatives in San Francisco have been summoned to his bedside. The veteran actor, who is 64 years old, has been in poor health for months. Although physicians declined to disclose the nature of his ailment, from intimate friends it was learned that three operations have been performed on him since January, two of them within the last two weeks.

Mr. Warfield, who began his theatrical career as an usher in the Bush Street theater in San Francisco nearly fifty years ago, scored his greatest successes in such productions as "The Music Master," "The Return of Peter Grimm," "The Auctioneer," and the Belasco "Merchant of Venice."

His first public appearance was made at the Wigwam in San Francisco, a specialty house to which the admission was 10 cents. At that time he virtually was laughed off the stage. Later he came to New York, where he played in various small parts, and eventually he was graduated into the burlesque actors' heaven, the Weber & Fields company.

U.S. Court May Rule Today on Lake Diversion

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 13.—[Special.]—The closing chapter in the long pending lake levels litigation may be written tomorrow in the Supreme court of the United States.

Terms of a final decree which may be handed down, will have an important bearing upon the Illinois waterway, as well as upon Chicago's sewage problem and burdens to be imposed upon Chicago taxpayers in constructions of sewage plants.

This week also will mark another step forward for the Illinois waterway project, as embraced in the rivers and harbors bill before the house rivers and harbors committee. The bill, which contains an authorization for the appropriation of $7,500,000 for federal completion of the Illinois state waterway project, will be reported to the house before the end of the week and is scheduled for passage Wednesday, April 23.

Decision Is Expected.

There has been no announcement that the Supreme court will hand down its final decree in the lake levels case tomorrow. The belief that it may do so is based upon the fact that the court reconvenes tomorrow after a month's recess, which commenced immediately following conclusion of arguments on objections to the form of the decree as recommended by Charles E. Hughes as special master. During the recess the court has presumably been preparing its decisions on cases argued during the previous weeks.

Chief Justice Hughes has already indicated that he will take no part in the disposition of the lake levels case because of his connection with it as special master. The court's original opinion on Jan. 14, 1929, holding diversion of water from Lake Michigan through the Chicago sanitary district canal to be illegal for sanitary purposes, and declaring that the flow should be cut down eventually to only such an amount as is necessary for navigation in the port of Chicago, was written by the late Chief Justice William Howard Taft. Upon what justice has fallen the task of preparing the final decree is not known.

Nine Year Program.

Under terms of the decree suggested by Mr. Hughes nine years would be allowed for completion of the $175,000,000 sewage treatment program contemplated by the sanitary district. As the several sewage treatment plants are completed there would be successive reductions in the water diverted from Lake Michigan until at the end of a nine year period the maximum average diversion would be 1,500 cubic feet per second, exclusive of domestic pumpage. The maximum average annual diversion allowed at present is 7,250 feet under a permit issued by the war department on Jan. 1.

Counsel for the Chicago sanitary district and the state of Illinois urged in arguments last month that the court allow more time than nine years for the completion of the sewage treatment program and that it do not attempt at this time to fix the ultimate maximum diversion.

Think More Water Needed.

It is their theory that a diversion of 1,500 cubic feet per second will not be sufficient to maintain satisfactory navigation conditions on a nine foot channel proposed in the lakes to the gulf waterway, despite declaration of army engineers, in submitting their recent report to congress on the Illinois waterway project, that it would be possible to construct it in such a manner as to use even less than that amount of water.

Counsel for the lakes states, which instituted the litigation, contended that the proposed Hughes decree was not drastic enough and urged that diversion of water be cut off entirely at the end of the nine years.

CHICAGO'S DANES PROTEST STORIES BLACKENING CITY

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, April 13.—(AP)—Protest by 12,000 Danish inhabitants of Chicago against articles in the Danish press describing Chicago as a city of crime and graft and as being on the verge of bankruptcy were prominently displayed in all today's newspapers. The protest, which was coupled with the suggestion that the Danes visit Chicago in 1933 for the centenary celebration, said the city is the center of American industry, literature, art and music.

PRICE, LEADER IN WISCONSIN POLITICS, SLAIN

Shot in His Home by Wife's Side.

Mauston, Wis., April 14.—[Special.]—Clinton G. Price, district attorney of Juneau county and for years a well known figure in Milwaukee and Wisconsin state politics, was struck and fatally wounded by a shotgun charge last night as he stood chatting with his wife in the kitchen of their home on the bank of the Lemon Weir river. He died of his wounds early this morning in Mauston hospital.

Less than a month ago Price was acquitted by a federal jury at Madison after a dramatic trial on charges of complicity in the Juneau county liquor conspiracy, and county authorities who had aided in his defense early this morning indicated their belief that chagrin of his enemies over the acquittal and revenge for his exposure of bootlegging activities might have been the impelling motives for the slaying.

ex-Sheriff in Custody.

Early this morning Sheriff Elmer Hempelman took into custody for questioning Lyall T. Wright, former sheriff of Juneau county, who was the principal witness against Price in the liquor conspiracy trial.

Price was shot about 8:30 o'clock. His wife said she and her husband were standing talking in the kitchen with the door open and only a screen door closed. The shotgun charge was fired from the darkness outside. It pierced the screen and five slugs struck the district attorney in the back.

Boys Furnish Clew.

The only actual clew to the slayer, according to county authorities, was given in the story told by two boys who were on the river bank across from the Price home when the shooting occurred. The boys said that about 8 o'clock they saw a man whom they had never seen before embark in a boat at the river's edge and cross the stream. He left the craft as it drew up at the rear of the Price residence and disappeared, they said. A few moments later the boys heard the shot.

Deputy sheriffs found the boat drifting in the river and discovered bloodstains on one of the thwarts. The craft was identified as the property of Chester Beckman. Beckman was immediately sought out and he told the authorities that he had locked up the boat at 6 o'clock. Investigation showed that the lock had been broken. Former Sheriff Wright was taken into custody when he was seen walking in the downtown district with a bandaged hand.

Price's fight with liquor interests in the county was climaxed by his trial, which began last March and ended with his acquittal on March 16. The case attracted state-wide attention because of the district attorney's prominence in Wisconsin politics.

Raid on Still Starts Trouble.

The trouble started three years ago with a raid on the Kilbourn still, which, with its capacity of 1,500 gallons of liquor a day, ranked as one of the largest ever discovered in the state. The still was raided on information furnished by Price and resulted in a hearing before Gov. Fred R. Zimmerman at which Wright was removed from office as sheriff.

Wright later was convicted with others of conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws, and he then implicated District Attorney Price, although previously he had signed an affidavit saying that Price was not connected with the booze traffic in the county.

The evidence of Wright and his confessed bootlegging associates was placed before a federal grand jury at Madison a year ago. This jury failed to return indictments, but a later jury did so, charging Price with demanding payments for protecting bootleggers and with attempting to sell his farm for liquor operations.

Suspended During Trial.

Price asked that he be suspended from his duties as district attorney, and this was done. The day after his acquittal on both counts of the indictment he resumed his office.

Price first attained political prominence in Milwaukee, where he became assistant city attorney under the administration of Sherburne M. Becker as mayor. He later moved to Mauston and served two terms as a member of the state legislature. Later he was elected district attorney and was serving his third term in that office when he was killed.

Father Gives Life in Crash to Save Sons

Trapped in his automobile in the path of a train on a railroad crossing in Broadview yesterday afternoon, Everett J. Dean, 37 years old, 1707 South 6th avenue, Maywood, saved the lives of two of his sons, but lost his own life by doing so. A third son, whom he attempted to throw from the car just as the train struck it, was injured.

Dean, who was assistant manager of the banquet department of the Hotel Sherman, was taking a Sunday afternoon drive with three of his four boys, when he drove on the tracks of the Indiana Harbor Belt railway at Roosevelt road, in Broadview. According to Tony De Maio, the watchman, Dean apparently did not see the train approaching from the south until the car was on the track.

Throws Boys from Car.

Then Dean stopped suddenly and started to back off, but changed his mind and started to go forward again, stalling his engine.

Sensing that his indecision had robbed him of his opportunity to escape the crash, Dean kicked open the car door and shoved his son, Martin, 7 years old, from the seat and threw the second boy, George, 3 years old, from the car, clear of the track. He was attempting to throw John, 9 years old, out of the machine when the engine of the train struck it.

The wreckage of the car was dragged for 75 feet up the tracks with the father and son in it. Dean was killed instantly, but John received only a few cuts on his face and chest. George and Martin were only slightly bruised and all three were taken to their homes after they had been treated at the Edward Hines Jr. Memorial hospital in Maywood.

Five Other Deaths in Day.

Dean's death and five others yesterday raised the Cook county motor toll for 1930 to 245. The other victims:

William E. Van Doren, 57 years old, 515 South Lombard avenue, Oak Park, a musician in the Chicago Little Symphony orchestra. Fatally injured when he was struck by a car driven by Carles T. Dodge, 1020 Washington boulevard, Oak Park, as he was crossing Washington boulevard at Lombard avenue. He died several hours later in the West Suburban hospital. Dodge was booked on a charge of manslaughter and released under $8,000 bonds.

Andrew Rind, 40 years old, 5633 Roosevelt road, Cicero. He was found fatally injured, lying in the middle of 52d avenue, just south of 14th street, last night after an anonymous telephone call to the Cicero police notified them that a man was lying there. His skull had been fractured and the police believed he had been struck by a hit and run automobile.

Thomas Mahoney, 27 years old, 5553 Augusta street. Died in St. Anne's hospital of injuries received on April 3 when an automobile in which he was riding turned over on McCormick boulevard, near Devon avenue.

Andrew Messerschmidt, 65 years old, 508 Chicago street, Dolton. Died in the Ingalls Memorial hospital, Harvey, of injuries suffered in a collision at 154th and Halsted streets, Harvey, on Saturday. Messerschmidt was riding with Gustav Anderson, 14634 Union avenue, Harvey, when the car crashed head on into a machine driven by Harry Smutz of Chicago Heights.

Mrs. E. J. Keenan, 54 years old, 6534 South Campbell avenue. Died at the Holy Cross hospital of injuries incurred on Friday when she was struck by car driven by James Guisinger, 20 years old, 6006 South Kolmar avenue, at 63d street and Campbell avenue.

Joseph Cvarnick, 23 years old, 506 West 151st street, East Chicago, Ind., was killed when the automobile in which he was riding was struck by a Wabash train on Kennedy avenue, in that city. Stanley Grudgen, also of East Chicago, the driver of the car, escaped injury.

HUNT FOR FLYER FAILS, BUT GIRL STILL HAS HOPE

Insists on Another Search for Skelton.

With an Evanston girl, Miss Betty Cook, as an observer, a Bellanca plane flew close over the wooded and sandy terrain along the southern lake shore yesterday in a continued fruitless search for Ralph Skelton Flaher, artist-sportsman.

When the plane landed at Pal-Waukee airport after a five hour zigzag flight covering approximately 500 miles, Miss Cook was still striving to overcome the conviction of experienced pilots that Skelton, her friend and mentor in art, had drowned while flying across the lake from Ann Arbor, Mich., to Chicago last Thursday evening.

Krum Fears Drowning.

The theory of Morrow Krum, manager of Pal-Waukee airport, was that Skelton, taking a shortcut directly across the lake to insure his prompt arrival here for a dinner engagement with Miss Cook, was forced down on the water by engine trouble or lack of fuel and was drowned. Miss Cook spiritedly disputed the suggestion.

"Ralph was not the reckless sort," she argued to Krum as he motored her from the airport to her home at 1420 Davis street, Evanston, after the flight. "They told him at Ann Arbor that his fuel tank was leaking. Dusk was coming on and he'd never venture across that 100 miles of water with the plane in that condition."

Flyer's Mother to Arrive.

The missing flyer's mother, Mrs. Frank Skelton, widow of a wealthy landowner of Moline, is expected here today, Miss Cook said last night. The girl expressed hope that, with assistance of the mother, she would be able to engage a pilot to make another search today of the hills and valleys of the Indiana dunes and southern Michigan woods where, she is convinced, Skelton lies injured near his wrecked plane and unable to get help.

At the controls of the Bellanca yesterday was Clifford Condit, chief pilot at Pal-Waukee. Accompanying the party was Melvin Swanson, sales manager of the Standard Publishing company, and a neighbor of Skelton's in the Italian Court apartments, where the artist had his studio.

They, too, disputed Miss Cook's conviction that caution would have prevented Skelton from starting directly across the lake. They recalled from his adventurous past his purchase of an $18,000 racing car in England where, for five years, he had studied at the Royal academy under Sir William Orpen.

Recall Driving Habits.

Skelton bought the car, his friends recalled, following the tragic death of his bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Brown of Geneva, who was scalded to death in a bathroom shortly after their arrival in England on a honeymoon. Skelton brought the car back to America two years ago, his friends said, and, previous to taking up aviation, it was his delight to drive it a breakneck speed along the country highways in the early mornings.

Skelton was as reckless in the air as on the highways, Krum recalled. Upon taking up aviation 18 months ago, he had but twenty hours' training experience when he insisted upon a solo flight, according to Krum. The airport manager pointed out in further support of Skelton's daring that no cautious flyer would be apt to project a trans-Atlantic flight, such as the missing sportsman was reported to have planned.

Report Seeing a Plane.

A report tending to confirmation the theory that Skelton had drowned reached the airport yesterday. A farmer, Carl Cropp, whose homestead is three miles south of South Haven, Mich., remembered that about 6:45 p. m. Thursday he saw a plane skimming westward across the lake and that the ship vanished in the mists of the horizon. Skelton hopped off from Ann Arbor between 4:30 and 5 p. m.

South Haven and Ann Arbor are 155 miles apart, a distance which Skelton would have covered in the interval between his taking off and the sighting of the ship by the farmer, the Pal-Waukee pilots pointed out.

FLYER, TWO RESCUERS DIE

Ypsilanti, Mich., April 13.—[Special.]—Three persons, only one of whom was in the plane, were killed today when an airplane struck a high tension electric power line near the landing field here. The field manager and in turn a man who attempted to rescue him were killed during efforts to save the occupants of the plane from the flaming wreckage.

The dead are: Levi Keppler, 24, Ann Arbor, bank teller, passenger in the plane; Harry Walters, 31, field manager; Willard C. Lawson, 60, retired farmer.

The plane in which Keppler and Leon Hanselman, pilot, were riding struck a pole during an attempted landing. The plane, after tearing down high tension lines as the wreckage crashed to the ground, burst into flames. Walters ran to the flaming mass with a fire extinguisher and turned the chemicals on to the blaze. An electric current followed the chemical stream and killed Walters. Lawson then rushed forward and attempted to drag the form of Walters from the blazing wreckage. He in turn was killed by electric shock.

Hanselmann was only slightly injured in the crash. He received minor burns. Walters has a wife and three children residing in Ann Arbor and Lawson is survived by his widow and a son.

Translake Plane Forced Down.

Grand Haven, Mich., April 13.—[Special.]—Passenger hydroplane NC 138-H, belonging to the Kohler corporation, flying between Milwaukee and Grand Rapids, was forced down about a mile from shore by fog and it was brought into port here today by Capt. Preston of the coast guard station. There were five passengers and two pilots, Joseph Doerflinger being in charge of the plane.

The coast guards heard the plane for some time before they could sight it on account of dense fog. The plane left Milwaukee about 8:30 a. m. with weather good.

Young Pilot Lost in Fog.

Valley Stream, L. I., April 13.—[Special.]—Motor boats, airplanes, radio, telephone, and telgraph facilities worked tonight in a frantic but vain search for Ralph White, a student pilot of the Curtiss-Wright Flying school, who took off alone on a practice flight late this afternoon. Ten minutes later a thick blanket of fog swiftly descended on the field and the young pilot vanished. He has not been heard from since.

NEW RADIO DEVICE 'SAVES' LONDON IN SECRET AIR RAID

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 13.—Secret air maneuvers employing a new radio device have been carried on over London for the last two weeks by the full fighting complement of Royal Air Force planes, it is revealed tonight. So effective was the defense that the attacking squadrons broke through only once.

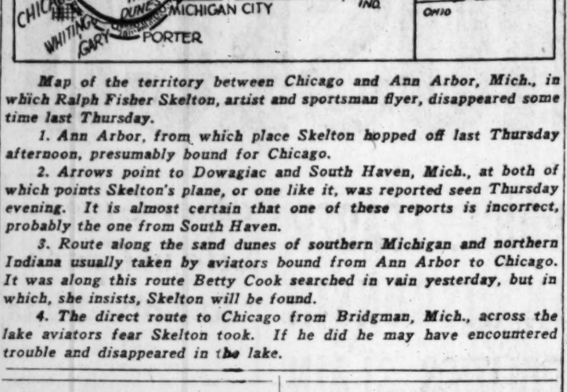

London now possesses virtually an impenetrable air protection, according to experts.

The British high command directed attempts to bomb the city and all nearby air centers were at full defensive strength to resist the invasion. For the first time a mysterious instrument of intercommunication between air and land bases was used, according to reports, speeding up the auxiliary land preparations as well as coördinating the movements of planes.

Pioneer Around-World Aviator Visits Chicago

Maj. W. T. Blake, British aviator, who in 1922 made one of the earliest attempts to fly around the world, his flight coming to an end when he was stricken with illness in Calcutta, arrived in Chicago yesterday. Maj. Blake served with the Royal Flying corps during the world war in France, Belgium, Italy, Egypt, Saloniki, Palestine, East Africa, Mesopotamia, and India, and was in Russia during the famine following the war.

Hopes and Fears for Missing Flyer

Map of the territory between Chicago and Ann Arbor, Mich., in which Ralph Fisher Skelton, artist and sportsman flyer, disappeared some time last Thursday.

1. Ann Arbor, from which place Skelton hopped off last Thursday afternoon, presumably bound for Chicago.

2. Arrows point to Dowagiac and South Haven, Mich., at both of which points Skelton's plane, or one like it, was reported seen Thursday evening. It is almost certain that one of these reports is incorrect, probably the one from South Haven.

3. Route along the sand dunes of southern Michigan and northern Indiana usually taken by aviators bound from Ann Arbor to Chicago. It was along this route Betty Cook searched in vain yesterday, but in which, she insists, Skelton will be found.

4. The direct route to Chicago from Bridgman, Mich., across the lake aviators fear Skelton took. If he did he may have encountered trouble and disappeared in the lake.

Panama Nabs Evelyn Thaw and 11 Girls for Gambling

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, April 13.—Attired in a red hat and a trailing evening dress Evelyn Nesbit, former wife of Harry K. Thaw, was arrested early yesterday morning with eleven other Americans, five of them cabaret girls. They were charged with playing roulette in the poker rooms of the Metropole hotel. They were released on $100 bail.

MISSING FOR SIX WEEKS; FOUND SHOT TO DEATH

Andrew Lucas, 28 years old, 546 North Artesian avenue, an apprentice barber, was found dead yesterday in a marshy field near 87th street and Cicero avenue, shot in the forehead. He had been dead about six weeks.

In the absence of any known motive for murder, Sergt. James Sullivan last night was working on the theory that Lucas may have committed suicide and will make a search of the field today for the gun with which he was shot. In Lucas' pocket the police found eleven pistol cartridges but no gun was found near the body. The police were unable to connect Lucas with any gang and were told that he had never been a bootlegger.

He had lived at the home of an aunt, Mrs. Fotini Totoni, and was not married, the police learned. The day before he disappeared, Jan. 27, he had borrowed $20 from a cousin, Peter Lucas, 544 North Artesian avenue, saying that he intended to pay the premium on his insurance policy. The next morning he left home to go to work at the barber shop of S. Alinkas at 2102 Madison street, and was never seen again. No report of his disappearance was made to the police.

FOREST FIRES CLOSING IN ON VIRGINIA TOWN

Buchanan, Va., April 13.—(AP)—The town of Buchanan with its population of 800 was entirely surrounded by forest fires at midnight.

The worst fire in the three day siege of blazes raging up and down the Blue Ridge mountains was reported to be spreading rapidly and closing in on the town.

The fire started in the Back creek section of Bedford county, burning much property, most of it on government reservation.

In Madison county the fires had crept near the Hoover camp on the Rapidan river.

At Back mountain, where the small village of Salt Petre Cave is located, 15 miles west of Buchanan, fire appeared to be sweeping to the northwest, rapidly approaching Purgatory mountain, bounding one side of Buchanan. Meanwhile from Botetort county on the north other fires were burning rapidly.

District Forester H. M. Sears at Lynchburg sent a hurried call for men.

[...]AY DRY LAWS [...]S BREEDERS OF CRIME, REVOLT

[Wo]men Applaud Speakers at Massmeeting.

[New] York, April 13.—[Special.]—[...] members of the house of repre[sent]atives speaking at a mass meeting [again]st prohibition at Carnegie hall [...]ght denounced the eighteenth [amend]ment and the Volstead act as [breed]ers of crime, lawlessness and re[volt] and predicted ultimate modifica[tion].

The speakers were representatives [Jame]s M. Beck of Pennsylvania, for[mer] solicitor general of the United [Sta]tes, and Mrs. Florence Kahn of [Cal]ifornia. The meeting, attended by [men] and women prominent in both [maj]or political parties, and leaders [in] social work, civic affairs, the church [and] the professions, was held under [the] auspices of the women's organiza[tion] for national prohibition reform [and] the association against the prohi[biti]on amendment, and was the first ["w]et" meeting in New York City [spons]ored by women.

Referendum Proposed.

John Godfrey Saxe, an authority on [cons]titutional law, who presided, pro[pose]d a national referendum as the [first] step toward settling the issue of [cons]titutional prohibition. All the [speak]ers referred to an alleged shift[ing] of popular opinion from the dry [to] the wet side of the controversy, [ca]lling attention to the fact that to[day']s meeting was held on the anni[vers]ary of the birth of Thomas Jeffer[son]. Mr. Beck, who is a Republican, [decl]ared that for "ten years the Amer[ican] people have been in revolt against [the] eighteenth amendment." Never [in th]e history of the country, he said, [has] there been such widespread oppo[sition] to a law; not even to the alien [and se]dition laws or the fugitive slave [...]

"[In] the last ten years," he con[tinue]d, "we have witnessed through[out] this broad land the unprecedented [spect]acle of literally millions of Amer[ican] men and women privately and [publi]cly showing their contempt for [law], even though it had the high [...] of being a part of the con[stitutio]n, and now this revolt has [assume]d proportions which soon will [...] not now, a political revolution.

[Mi]llions Oppose Dry Law.

"[N]o one can question the serious[ness] of the American people and [the g]ravity of the present crisis. [Millio]ns of Americans are no longer [conce]rned about the forms of legal [...], but they are highly resolved [that] the demonstrated folly of prohibi[tion] shall be ended, not by temporiz[ing] expedients, but by plucking up [this a]ccursed upas tree by the roots, [th]at its blighting shadow may no [longe]r rest upon a once happy and [res]pecting nation.

"[Un]less all signs of the skies de[ceive] us, the end of this tyrannical [...] of moral fanaticism is rapidly [...]g. The present generation may [...] the formal repeal of the eight[eenth] amendment, but it will see an [aban]donment of any attempt to en[force] it, except in those states, if any, [...] the policy of prohibition is [...].

"When the Volstead law is repealed, [it] will be when your representatives [in c]ongress realize they can no longer [...] and dodge, there will then be [...] attempt by the federal government to put the American people in the chains of an intolerant policy, and if the eighteenth amendment must remain in the constitution, it can, as a 'death's head' or memento mori, serve as a perpetual warning to future generations not to allow moral fanatics to tamper with that great and noble compact of government.

Respect Constitution.

"This uprising of the American people, of which the evidences now multiply on every hand, would have come long since but for two reasons: The first is the respect of the American people for their constitution; the second, the mistaken belief that no remedy was practicable so long as the eighteenth amendment remained a part of the constitution."

Mr. Beck pointed to what he termed the "moral sanction" for the eighteen constitutional amendments.

While the amendments to the constitution have the same legal weight as the original document, Mr. Beck held there was a vast difference in the "moral sanction." The original instrument, he held, represented the direct will of the people while the later amendments were "proposed by members of congress, who were not elected especially to consider such proposals, and were ratified by legislatures who similarly were never selected especially for that purpose."

"The eighteenth amendment," he declared, "was proposed to the people of the United States by some 500 members of congress, many of whom notoriously acted under duress of threats, which rose little higher than moral blackmail, and was ratified by some 5,000 members of state legislatures, many of whom had no sympathy with the amendment but were similarly coerced. Under these circumstances, no one can regard the eighteenth amendment as being a direct expression of the majestic will of the American people, in the same sense that the constitution of the fathers is regarded."

Continuing, Mr. Beck said:

"I pass now to the second consideration, which has made so many Americans submissive to the tyranny of the eighteenth amendment and that is the belief that any discussion of its merits or demerits is fruitless, as it probably will remain in our constitution and therefore its grim purposes must be accepted as a fatality. I want to show that this is not a fact.

Constitution Elastic.

"It must be remembered that our constitution was formulated by men who cherished the great traditions of the English constitution of 1688, which finally had taken power from the crown and vested it in parliament as the great council of the realm. Following this tradition the American constitution, while giving many powers to congress left it to their discretion in the instances enumerated, whether they should be exercised or not, and, if exercised, to what extent and in what manner. The congress is the great council of the republic and it represents the living generation. This gives to the constitution an elasticity which a more rigid instrument would not have had and reconciles the wise mandates of the dead with the necessities and aspirations of the living.

"Therefore, there is no fatality about this question of prohibition."

Mrs. Kahn, who deplored drinking among the young, the increase in crime, and disrespect for law which she said were consequences of prohibition, held that it was having an even "more dangerous and far reaching effect" upon the government.

Home Rule Foundation.

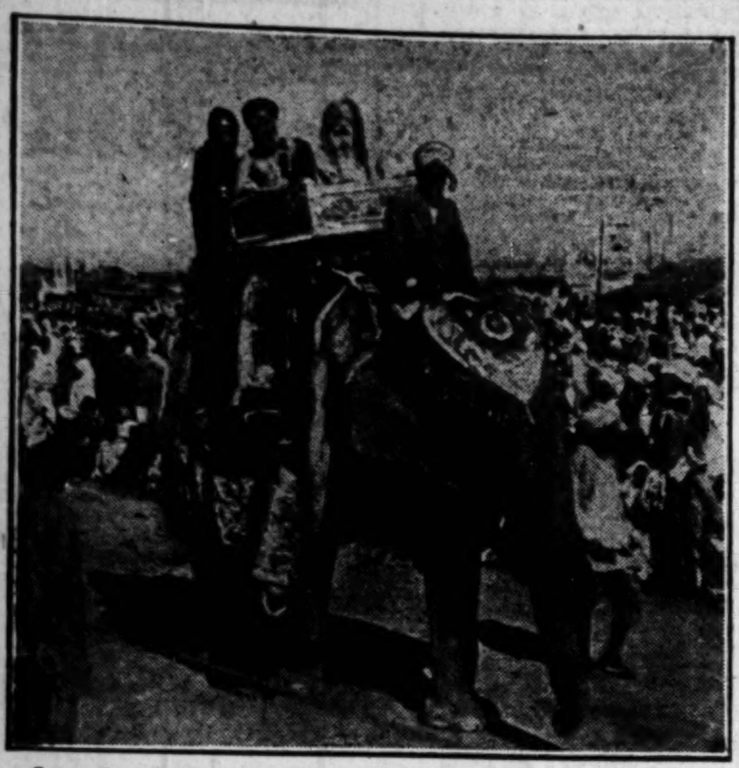

"Home rule, self-determination," she said, "are the foundation stones of our governmental structure. Weaken them and the whole structure is imperiled. Have we surrendered entirely the rights of the individual? Have we given away the freedom of decision as to what we may eat, drink, wear, believe?"

Both speakers were heartily applauded by the audience which was apparently largely drawn from forces opposing the dry laws.

CARETAKER, 67, KILLS HIMSELF.

Arriving home after a professional call yesterday, Dr. E. A. Bredlau, 119 North Le Moyne avenue, found the body of his caretaker, Frank Schlott, 67 years old, who had ended his life with a bullet after taking poison and turning on the gas in the kitchen.

500,000 HURL 'SALT TAX' INTO SEA AT BOMBAY

Gay Celebration Marks Drowning of Effigy.

BOMBAY, India, April 13.—(AP)—A crowd of 500,000 enthusiastic Indians tonight closed the ceremonies of India's "National Week," a time of mourning for the shootings at Amritsar in 1919, by throwing into the sea an effigy representing the salt tax, against which Mahatma Gandhi and his volunteers are now directing their attack.

The ceremony, which was perectly orderly, was like a great nationalist edition of the "Boston Tea Party." A parade of volunteers to Chowpathy sands began the events of the day. The volunteers listened to speeches and illegally made salt until evening as though they were on a big picnic.

From sunrise to sunset dense throngs milled about on the sands.

The demonstration was the most impressive of the "National Week" decreed by Mahatma Gandhi, and the multitude watched the throwing of the effigy into the sea with violent demonstrations of joy. The effigy was a lurid, blood colored monster, which seemed to be squeezing to death two human beings and trampling on others. The "others" in the scene were labeled "Indians."

15,000 in Riotous Parade.

KARACHI, India, April 13.—(AP)—Two great processions of young men wearing "Gandhi" caps passed through this northwestern city today, demonstrating in disorderly fashion. It was estimated that between 10,000 and 15,000 persons took part in them.

Several automobiles were damaged by stones thrown by the demonstrators, and three persons were injured.

The march ended at Ram Baugh recreation grounds, where two jugs of sea water were set upon a fire and salt was manufactured from the boiled water. No arrests were made.

"No Violence!" Ghandhi Warns.

JALAPUR, India, April 13.—(AP)—Speaking to a large meeting of volunteers, Mahatma Gandhi today threatened to use "passive resistance" against his followers, if they caused any sort of violence during the present civil disobedience campaign. He declared he would "observe an eternal fast" if they did not live up to the spirit of his non-violence precept.

Mr. Gandhi asked the men to refrain strictly from participating in the Nationalist picketing of shops selling liquors and foreign cloth lest violence should result. In an earlier address to a gathering of women he had said that such work was for women, because they could stand being beaten instead of beating others.

He announced, therefore, that, from tomorrow on, women would begin picketing liquor shops at Bhimrad. A number of women volunteers immediately enlisted for this service.

Believe Gandhi's Arrest Near.

LONDON, April 14.—(AP)—[Monday.]—Bombay dispatches to the Daily Mail this morning said it was generally believed there that the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi, Nationalist leader, was imminent. According to the Mail, the government of Bombay presidency now feels that Mr. Gandhi's defiance of the salt monopoly in the Gujerat district has caused a grave situation, and an urgent message has been sent to the viceroy, Lord Irwin, at New Delhi.

2 NEGROES HELD FOR SLAYING OF U. S. DRY OFFICER

Washington, D. C., April 13.—(AP)—A short time after he had been implicated in the slaying of Lamar Watson York, a prohibition agent, John Borum, Negro, was arrested tonight and held, along with John Logan, another Negro, on charges of murder.

Borum was arrested after police had learned from Logan the name of his companion on Saturday night, when the agent was killed after he had gone into an alley into which he had trailed two men he believed were transporting liquor.

Police said that Logan had admitted being present at the time the agent was shot, but protested he did not do the shooting.

DRIVE 4 BISHOPS OUT OF POLITICS, AIM OF PASTOR

Georgian Warns They Step on Laymen's Rights.

Washington, Ga., April 13. — [Special.]—The Rev. Rembert Smith, pastor of the Methodist church here, today explained in detail his proposal to prefer charges against the four "political bishops," James Cannon Jr. of Virginia; E. D. Mouzon of Charlotte, N. C.; H. M. Dubose of Nashville, Tenn., and J. M. Moore of Dallas, Tex., as a result of their political activities in the interest of Herbert Hoover and against Gov. Al Smith in the last national campaign.

The charges are to be preferred at the general conference, which meets every four years, this time at Dallas in May. He made it clear there will be no charges against their characters, but only regarding their conduct in bringing the church into politics.

Stir Up Hot Fight.

That introduction of these charges will stir up a hot battle is certain, although Atlanta ministers do not believe that any action will be taken. It is pointed out here that no action has ever been taken, or if so, scores of years ago, against a bishop, as proposed in this instance. The only case in the last seventy years or more came in 1844 as a result of differences in the conference over slavery.

Dr. Smith states that his primary purpose "is that the confusion created by the political activities of 1928 be cleared away and that the pathway for the future progress of the church may be pointed out with all possible distinction."

What Bishops Contend.

"Bishops Cannon, Mouzon, Moore and Dubose claim that the general conferences in their recent deliverances about prohibition gave them warrant and even direction to go into personal and party politics," Dr. Smith pointed out. "While the resolutions of the general conferences have been strongly in favor of prohibition, they have not included any instructions or permission to the general superintendents of the church as such to support any particular party or any individual political candidate.

"If these instructions pointed to any party they did not point to the Republican party or the Democratic party, neither of which has ever been or is now 100 per cent prohibition. Neither of the major parties has ever approved in its platform the principle of prohibition.

"If the general conference had directed and the charter of the episcopacy had permitted in general political activities on the part of the bishops of the church, as they did not, such political activities as the four bishops engaged in were, in many particulars, particularly reprehensible, involving ruthless trespasses upon the rights of the laymen of the church.

"In the course of the 1928 campaign one of the four bishops insinuated that men and women who remained Democratic were not Christians.

"Another accused of 'infamous hypocricy' those who would not yield to his political dictation and insinuated that Bishops W. A. Candler and Collins P. Denny had manufactured modern false decretal of the general conferences.

"Another broadcast the charge that Gov. Alfred E. Smith was a drunkard, and suggested the righteousness of the breaking of solemn pledges of party loyalty.

"The fourth suggested that southern Methodist preachers make what would have been the equivalent of $4,000 pulpit stump speeches on Sundays against the candidate of the Democratic party in 1928 because he was a member of the Roman Catholic church."

HUNT FOR CLEWS TO SLAYER OF AUTO SALESMAN

Several persons were questioned yesterday by detectives seeking a clew to the slayer of Edward J. Wolf, a salesman for the McFadden automobile agency at 10858 South Michigan avenue, who was killed Friday night by a man who asked to have Wolf demonstrate an automobile for him.

Among those interviewed was Miss Ina Hendrickson, 11526 South Michigan avenue. Lieut. John Treacy said she was a friend of Louis Mangel, former owner of the White House inn. Mangel had gone to another of the McFadden salesrooms and sought to purchase a car, but was refused permission to drive it out to have his partner inspect it before he paid for it, Lieut. Treacy said.

The police wanted to question Mangel, but couldn't locate him. Miss Hendrickson said Mangel was with her Friday evening on a trip to La Salle, Ill. Another questioned was Floyd Heaton, 11027 South Park way, who had discussed the purchase of a car from the McFadden agency. No helpful information was obtained, Lieut. Treacy reported.

Youth Shot by Police as He Flees from Auto

Joseph Candisi, 17 years old, 1825 Taylor street, was shot in the back and wounded seriously yesterday as he fled from an automobile in which he and two companions were pursued for several blocks by a police squad. The automobile crashed into another car at Loomis and Polk streets and his two companions escaped. Joe Codotu, 2826 Lexington street, the owner of the car, was taken into custody later for questioning.

RAILWAY AGREES TO PAY TAX AND GETS TRAIN BACK

Avon Park, Fla., April 13.—(AP)—Atlantic Coast Line railroad property, including a passenger train, three locomotives, motor and freight cars, and sixty miles of trackage, was released temporarily today from an attachment made yesterday by Sheriff Oscar Wolff for unpaid taxes.

Train number 192 was released in time to permit it to make its scheduled run today to Haines City. This train southbound is 191 and was levied upon yesterday at Sebring, Fla., where the mail contract terminated. There were no passengers on board at the time of the seizure.

The release was ordered by County Attorney J. M. Lee after a conference with railroad officials at which, Mr. Lee said, he was given assurance the taxes will be paid promptly.

The county attorney has provided for seizure of the property again under the original attachment if there is any undue delay in the settlement.

STUDENTS STRIKE TO BRING SCHOOL TO HIGHER LEVEL

Want Bickering on Staff Brought to End.

Harrogate, Tenn., April 13.—[Special.]—Lincoln Memorial university is nothing with discord and rebellion, due largely to demands of many of the students and a section of the faculty that the curriculum be strengthened.

They have struck and some of them have gone to jail in support of their demands that the scholarship standard be raised so that Lincoln Memorial may be classed as an "accredited" school; that is that a student, in case of leaving Lincoln Memorial for another school in the southern and national educational bodies, will receive full credit in his new school for work done at Lincoln Memorial; that the educational standard at Lincoln be accepted as equal to that of the other schools.

Want Morale Improved.

They also demand that reforms be made to eliminate "inefficiency and injustice" which they claim is due to administration methods in the school. They further ask that conflicts between faculty members and administrative officers be stopped. The strikers blame the conflicts on the administration.

There is one other bill of complaints of not so high a stand. Students, especially the girls, seek a relaxing of college rules which prohibit them from leaving the campus except on three afternoons a week and permit dates with boy friends only once a week, and then in the afternoon.

All connected with the school say that evolution, that bugaboo which reared a section of Tennessee's fundamentalists so severely that the state legislature passed a law forbidding the teaching of the theory in any state-supported school, does not figure in the case.

For Youth of Borderland.

Lincoln Memorial, largely supported by benefactors in the north, was built to provide education for the youths of the Kentucky, Virginia, Tennessee, and Carolina borderland of mountains. It provides a chance of advancement to the descendants of those pioneers who first pushed into the mountains from the Atlantic seaboard, settled in the valleys and became a sort of backwash when culture went on westward and left them behind.

There are not any Negro students in attendance.

Judge J. H. S. Morrison, acting president of the university, denies the charges made by the strikers. He says the strike, now in its fifth day, will be broken. He admits, however, that there is difficulty in reaching the status of an accredited school, but says efforts are being made along that line. In reply to the students' allegation that the former president placed degrees after the names of certain members of the faculty on literature sent out by the university, and that such members did not possess their degrees; he said: "That is one reason why we let him go."

Both sides are in for a fight to the end. Clay McCarroll, student leader, and Ernest Fields a senior, are awaiting trial for inciting riot.

J. R. Ketron, attorney and university trustee, said he would appear before Chancellor J. H. Wallace at Tazewell, to ask an injunction to restrain Profs. M. G. Miller and E. V. N. Diller, discharged by the school, and McCarroll from "interfering further with the student body in the way of agitating a strike." He said that eviction warrants had been served on Profs. Miller and Diller, who live in campus houses.

INTERESTING LETTERS

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place, send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed and some information about the writer of the letter. The sender of every envelope which is reproduced will be paid one dollar.

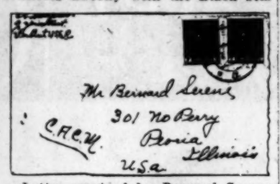

FROM ROSTOV, RUSSIA.

This letter came from Verblut, one of the model farming communities established by the soviet government in Russia. This new model town a few miles from Rostov, near the Black sea, is the center of a 40,000 acre wheat farm and the seat of the chief training and experimental school for farm machinery and equipment.

The writer is from Peoria and is engaged as an instructor for the Caterpillar Tractor company, which furnishes a large share of the tractors used by the soviets on their large collective farms. He says the school handles 350 students at each session of 10 weeks. The graduates are sent to the other collective farms as experts. There are at present, he says, 150 of these large farms in operation and the one at Verbut is planning to double its wheat acreage this year to 80,000 acres.

Rostov, where the letter was mailed, is a city of 250,000 population and one of the most important in southern Russia. It has an excellent harbor on the Gulf of Taganrog, a branch of the Sea of Azov, which connects directly with the Black sea.

Letter received by Bernard Serene, 301 North Perry street, Peoria, Ill.

Rail Agent Retires from Job Father Also Held

When E. J. Adams, 3943 Monroe street, baggage agent at the Union station, retires today after 52 years of service with the Pennsylvania railroad, the position which his family has held for 70 years will pass out of existence. R. B. Hunter, supervisor of baggage and mail service, will take over the duties and the position of baggage agent will be abolished. Adams' father was the first baggage agent at the old station at Canal and Madison streets, entring the service of the railroad in 1860 with the old Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago railroad. Adams began working for the Pennsylvania when he was 16 and in 1893 succeeded his father as baggage agent when the latter retired.

Deputies Vote Solidly to Close Paris Gambling Dens

PARIS, April 13.—(AP)—The chamber of deputies today voted unanimously to abolish all gambling houses in Paris. The decision was made after parliament had refused to ratify the senate bill for reopening Enghien casino, five miles from the city. The chamber's ruling today affects about 75 Paris clubs, where baccarat, chemin de fer, and trente et quarante are played.

250 Rare Etchings, Stolen in Madrid, Found in Berlin

BERLIN, April 13.—(AP)—The police today discovered in the possession of a west end art dealer 250 valuable etchings stolen from the National library of Madrid in 1928 and 1929. The etchings, which include 57 Rembrandts, 5 Buerers, and 5 Lucas Van Leydens, were sold to the art dealer for about $9,600. The vendor described himself as Antonio Lopez, Madrid librarian, and posed as the executor of the estate of a distinguished Spanish family.

HOOVER COMES TO DEFENSE OF JUDGE PARKER

Makes Public Memorandum on Record.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 13.—[Special.]—President Hoover today came to the defense of Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina, his nominee for justice of the Supreme court of the United States, whose decision in a coal miners' injunction case has been attacked by the American Federation of Labor and by radicals in the senate. The President made public a memorandum prepared by the department of justice on Judge Parker's decision in which it was asserted that the jurist expressed no personal opinions, but merely followed precedents laid down by the Supreme court.

Follows High Court Decisions.

The case in question was that of the United Mine Workers of America vs. the Redjacket Consolidated Coal and Coke company. Judge Parker and two associates in the Circuit Court of Appeals of the Fourth circuit upheld an injunction issued against the miners in the district court. They based their ruling on the decision of the Supreme court in the Hitchman Coal and Coke company case.

"There does not appear to be a point decided in the Redjacket case on which Judge Parker assumed to exercise any independent judgment or opinion," said the department of justice memorandum. He and his associates felt bound by the Supreme court decisions. In holding the contracts valid and that peaceable efforts to induce the nonunion men to break them were properly enjoined, he merely quoted rulings to that effect in the Hitchman case. Nowhere are pressed or indicated any personal views about any of these questions. He had no freedom of judgment on any of them; he was bound by decisions of the Supreme court, which he could not refuse to follow."

"To refuse to confirm the nomination of Judge Parker for his decision in the Redjacket Coal company case will amount to refusing to confirm him because he followed and gave binding effect to decisions of the Supreme court of the United States.

Green Continues Opposition.

Despite the contention of the department of justice, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a statement today asserted that "it is inconceivable that a man who has shown such judicial bias against the working people of the country can be elevated to the highest tribunal of the land."

HAITIAN PLOT TO BREAK PLEDGE TO AMERICA BALKED

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, April 13.—(AP)—President Louis Borno today adjourned the council of state indefinitely, thereby preventing it from electing some one other than Eugene Roy, neutral candidate, for temporary president of Haiti tomorrow.

The action was taken, it was indicated, as a result of reliable reports that a majority of the council of 21 planned to go back on their agreement to support the new government plan given Haiti by the Hoover investigating commission. They wished to name a president other than Roy.

On Friday the American state department warned President Borno that no one other than M. Roy would be recognized as temporary president. Today President Borno took cognizance of the warning by adjourning the council, members of which he can appoint or dismiss at will. It is believed he will not allow the council to meet until the situation is cleared.

DREAM SHIP AND HUNCH HELPS TO SEIZE RUM BOAT

New York, April 13.—(AP)—A "hunch" which came to Deputy Surveyor John H. McGill, head of the customs enforcement bureau, while he was listening to his radio Saturday night, resulted in capture early today of the $25,000 subchaser, Junior Annapolis, with a cargo of 2,000 sacks of high grade liquors, valued at about $200,000, and the arrest of her crew of seven.

The hunch, McGill said, came to him in the form of a song, "Three o'Clock in the Morning," on the radio, and was strengthened by a dream in which he saw a sub chaser "passing a long, protecting point of land." As a result, he dispatched a coast guard boat to Rockaway Point at 3 a. m. and the capture was effected.

The Junior Annapolis, McGill said, has been chartered to Boy Scout and church organizations during the daytime by bootleggers to divert suspicion.

Laborer Shoots Mayor and Then Kills Himself

Wyanet, Ill., April 13.—(AP)—Mayor Buhl Hudson of Wyanet was shot and seriously wounded early today by Jean Olds, 40 year old laborer, who ended his own life immediately following the assault. Authorities here said Mayor Hudson had gone to the Olds home late last night to arbitrate some domestic difficulty.

STUDENT HOME FROM HARVARD LEAPS TO DEATH

Plunges Six Stories After Drinking at Club.

New York, April 13.—[Special.]—Dudley Davis Jr., a junior at Harvard university and the son of Dudley Davis, an insurance attorney, leaped six stories to his death at 3 o'clock this morning from the Park avenue apartment of his parents. A momentary fit of depression was responsible for his act.

The student, who was 20 years old and a member of the Harvard wrestling squad, had returned home at 1:30 a. m. He had dined at the Harvard club with a roommate, George Bullock, and then had several drinks. They returned to the Davis apartment separately, and Bullock knew nothing of his friend's fate until awakened by the elder Davis.

Separated at Their Club.

Davis and Bullock were home for the Easter holiday. Bullock said that Davis had appeared to be in splendid health and fine spirits when they had gone to the club to fill an engagement to dine with several friends. Later they separated, Davis going home first. Bullock saw his friend's hat and coat hung up outside the bedroom when he returned and, finding Davis asleep, retired at once.

The dead youth's mother, formerly Miss Alice M. Grosvenor of Providence, R. I., was sleeping fitfully in the bedroom down the hall, owing to a toothache. Mr. Davis said he had heard the boys come in and had dozed off. He was awakened by his wife, however, and decided to see if the boys were all right. He went down to the boys' room, but found only Bullock there. The window, with an iron grille at the base, was wide open. The father hurried to the courtyard at the rear where he found his son's body.

No Known Motive for Suicide.

Bullock, who lives in Worcester, Mass., said that when he entered the bedroom the window was closed. He said it still was shut when he dropped off to sleep. The first he had known of Davis's fate had been when the father aroused him.

Mr. Davis could offer no motive for his son to commit suicide, and the theory was advanced that possibly the young athlete, awakening in a stuffy room, had groped to the window to open it, and had fallen to the courtyard.

Dr. Charles Norris, chief medical examiner, however, listed the death as suicidal. Mr. Davis accepted the verdict.

SENDS FAREWELL TO FORMER WIFE; KILLS HIMSELF

Last Friday George Thorp, 45 years old and a telegrapher at the board of trade, was saved from suicide in the Lexington hotel, 2135 South Michigan avenue, when two policemen took a pistol from him.

Yesterday Thorp went to the Pershing hotel, 6400 Cottage Grove avenue, and asked his daughter, Olive, 25 years old, to say farewell for him to his former wife, Mrs. Ethel Dee. Thence he went to the home of his mother, Mrs. John H. De Lurs, 729 South Oakley boulevard, walked upstairs, and shot himself in the temple. He was dead when his mother came.

RUBIO ORDERS ALL MEXICAN OFFICIALS TO WAGE WAR ON BOOZE

MEXICO CITY, April 13. — (AP) — President Ortiz Rubio in a signed order today summoned the whole hearted support of the federal and state governments for the anti-alcohol campaign started by former President Portes Gil.

"My government earnestly desires and requests the coöperation of all officials, with all the means possible, in the anti-alcohol campaign," the order said.

President Rubio and the secretary of the interior, Portes Gil, also circularized all state and territorial governors ordering them to enforce strictly the religious laws, especially making sure that religion is not taught in private or public schools, as is contrary to the law.

Found Dead Under Car; Injured as Jack Slips

The body of Fred Wittwer, 30 years old, 3718 Maple Square avenue, a motorman for the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railway, was found yesterday under his automobile in a garage near his home. He had been dead for two days. The police believe that Wittwer, while working under the car, was struck on the head when a jack slipped from under the axle.

U. S. ARCHITECT IS QUESTIONED IN SLAYING OF GIRL

Washington, D. C., April 13.—[Special.]—Washington police this evening detained Fred Wilson, a government architect, for questioning in connection with the slaying of Mary Baker, a navy department clerk, whose body was found in a rivulet near Arlington cemetery yesterday.

Wilson, who is married, was said to have been friendly with the girl. The police asserted they did not consider him a suspect in the murder. They said he had given them a "tip" which they hoped might lead to a solution of the case. Wilson was quizzed for four hours.

Meanwhile all available detectives of the District of Columbia and Arlington county were investigating clews in an effort to find who accompanied Miss Baker on the ride Friday night on which she was raped, strangled, and shot. Her body was tossed over a culvert in the outskirts of the national cemetery.

The story of a motorist who said he saw a woman being attacked by a man in an automobile Friday evening near the Washington monument, three blocks south of the White House, was confirmed today.

SLAIN IN DICE GAME QUARREL.

Robert Castine, 44 years old, was shot and fatally wounded yesterday during a quarrel over a dice game in his home at 1435 South State street. Before he died, Castine named as his assailant Gordon Gage, a Negro neighbor, for whom the police are searching.

4 ARE KILLED IN AUTO CRASH NEAR FISHER, ILL.

Fisher, Ill., April 13.—(AP)—Four persons were killed and one seriously injured in an automobile accident on the highway two miles east of here today.

The dead are Mr. and Mrs. Ora Knox of Mahomet, Ill.; their grandson, Harold Davis, and Knox's daughter, Catherine, 8. Another grandson, Russell Davis, 6, was seriously injured.

The Knox car was struck by a machine driven by Edwin Sale, 17 year old student.

Catapulted from the highway, the Knox automobile overturned in a ditch, catching fire. Ora Knox was thrown clear but the others were imprisoned in the blazing wreckage.

Floyd Davis, operating a machine which followed the Knox car, raced to the pyre and managed to extricate his sons, Harold and Russell Davis, and Catherine Knox, but Mrs. Knox was burned to death. Catherine Knox died later.

SOCIALIST FOES PLOT TO DEFEAT BERLIN CABINET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 13.—The fate of the Bruening cabinet is still in the balances as the opposition is lining up its men for the final and third vote on the government's financial proposals on Monday noon. Late tonight Socialist party leaders sent special couriers through this city with orders for the Socialist members of the reichstag to attend tomorrow's meeting in full force to defeat the government and bring about the dissolution of the reichstag.

BRITISH WINE BILL 3 MILLION HIGHER, DRY BODY FINDS

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, April 13.—Britain's steady progress toward temperance suffered a check last year with a sudden increase in the consumption of wines, according to annual statistics prepared by G. B. Wilson, political secretary of the United Kingdom Alliance.

The expenditure on beer and spirits in 1929 did not increase, Mr. Wilson asserts, but on wines it gained by 7 per cent over the preceding year. He estimates the bigger wine consumption caused an increase of $3,000,000 in the nation's total drink bill, bringing it to $1,440,000,000.

Every man, woman, and child in England spent $32 on liquor in 1929, according to Mr. Wilson, or on the basis of adult population, $47 a head. Making allowance for total abstainers and women whose consumption is negligible, Mr. Wilson declares Britishers spend on an average anywhere from $100 to $150 yearly on drink.

SEEK ACCORD ON TRANSIT PLAN AT MEETING TODAY

Disputed points in the proposed ordinance providing for merger of the elevated and surface lines will be ironed out today, it is expected, when bankers, aldermen and transit chiefs meet in the office of Attorney Walter L. Fisher, representative of Federal Judge Wilkerson. Drafting of the agreed points into ordinance form is expected to be finished shortly.

Ald. James B. Bowler, chairman of a transit subcommittee of the city council, said last night that he hoped to be able to make a definite statement on the subway ordinance this week. Engineers are contending that there can be no substantial betterment of local transportation until more trackage becomes available in the loop.

FORECAST STATE INCOME TAX AS ASSEMBLY TOPIC

Special Session, if Held, May Discuss Levy.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

A constitutional amendment which will permit of a state income tax is to be considered by the legislature if a special session is called, according to politicians. Gov. Emmerson is expected to decide this week on whether a special session shall be called.

Such a session is desired by Cook county officials to straighten out the financial difficulties of the local governments. They insist that without legislative relief the local governments will be in as embarrassing a position at the end of the year as they were during the first two months of it.

County Pays Half of State Tax.

Records show that Cook county at present pays more than half of the general taxes of the state government and contributes a still larger percentage of special taxes and fees to the state's income. The last general tax levy for state purposes, in which Cook county was a participant, totaled $27,411,362. Of this, $14,904,706 was levied on property in Cook county, or about 54 per cent.

A state income tax, its proponents admit, would increase the tax burden of Cook county residents a considerable amount.

The federal income tax returns show that the First Illinois district—which comprises about one-third of the state's counties, those in the northern part of the state, including Cook county—paid 97.14 per cent of the federal taxes paid in Illinois for the federal year of 1929. The rest of the state, in the Eighth district, paid the remainder of the taxes.

The following table shows the section of the state from which the federal government gets nearly all of its income taxes:

	1st District.	8th District.
Corporation	$115,645,679	$4,429,883
Individual	94,535,255	2,790,707
Totals	$210,180,934	$7,220,590

In 1927, the last year federal figures are available, there were 378,859 individuals who filed United States income tax returns in Illinois.

Of these returns 292,148, or approximately 77 per cent, were filed from Cook county. If it is assumed that income tax payers in Cook county are no richer as a class than in the remainder of the state, it is apparent that Cook county paid 77 per cent, or $74,940,000, of the $97,325,962 contributed as individual income taxes.

Of the federal income tax, totaling $120,075,562, contributed by the corporations, it is considered probable that Cook county paid in a like percentage, although figures indicate that the percentage was larger in the case of corporations. On the federal basis of exemptions and allowances it is pointed out that Cook county probably has approximately 77 per cent of the taxable income of the state, which could be assessable under a state tax income law.

The Legislative Situation.

In the northern third of Illinois counties comprising the First Illinois district are 29 senatorial districts and portions of two others. These counties have 87 members of the state house of representatives and 29 members of the state senate, a majority in each branch of the legislature. It is pointed out, however, that the lawmakers who represent these northern constituencies cannot be expected to be unanimous in their views. Some of the northern counties are largely agricultural, and the representatives of the farmers have been loudest in their appeal for a state income tax. On the surface the contest for and against a state income tax promises to be reasonably close, according to politicians.

The character of the proposed income tax law for Illinois must await an amendment to the state constitution authorizing it. It is considered probable that the advocates of the amendment will be influenced by the recommendation of the revenue investigating commission headed by State Senator Huebsch. All the gossip regarding the views of the members of that commission says that it favors a "wide open" amendment, by which is apparently meant one that will permit the state legislature to adopt any sort of an income tax law it sees fit.

I. C. CASHIER 'IS ROBBED.

Mrs. Edith Driscoll, 832 East 80th street, cashier of the 82d street station of the Illinois Central railroad, was robbed of $50 on Saturday night by a man who snatched a money bag from her as she stepped on the station platform to turn the money over to a collector.

PAROLE GROUP GIVES REPORT ON ACTIVITIES

Although it costs the state $403.10 a year to maintain a convict in prison, he can be supervised on parole at a cost of only $7.59 a year, according to figures released yesterday by the Central Howard association. The figures were given in the annual report of the association, and the parole supervision cost is based upon the expenditures of the association in its rehabilitation work. The report points to the saving of $395.15 accomplished by parole and then gives the records of the men made while on parole.

Of 555 men under parole to the association during 1929, the summary of work sets forth, 66 per cent were first offenders and 81 per cent of the 555 completed their parole with credit.

Estimated earnings of this group completing parole for 1929 was $373,372. The number assisted by employment, board and room, clothing, wholesome contacts, new purposes and helpful guidance during the year was 2,633.

SAY LOAN MAN IS IN NEW YORK SEEKING FUNDS

Michael Klem, sought for questioning by Assistant Prosecutor Q. J. Chott in connection with an alleged shortage of $50,000 in the accounts of the Dnipro Building and Loan association, of which he is secretary, is in New York trying to raise money to meet his obligations, according to relatives.

A sister-in-law of Klem, who was found in his bungalow at 2836 North 74th court, Elmwood Park, yesterday said she had no direct information as to Klem's present whereabouts, but showed a telegram received by Klem's wife saying Klem left Newark, N. J., last Monday. The wife, who is ill, is secluded with her two daughters in the home of a friend.

Surprise that Michael Hull, president, and Peter Winarsky, treasurer, of the loan concern, appealed to Mr. Chott was expressed by the sister-in-law.

PARLEY PONDERS OVER 'IF' CLAUSE IN NAVAL TREATY

cessful precedent. The principle of limitation is strengthened by its successful practice.

"We have hope that France and Italy will eventually join in a limitation of their fleets similar to that which we have attained."

Reduction Only "By Product."

Reduction of existing fleets and naval expenditures, important as these might be to individual nations, "is merely a by product" of the primary purpose of the London conference to eliminate competitive building, Mr. Stimson said. By way of showing what had been accomplished in such reduction, he suggested comparison "between the three fleets as they stand today, including ships built, building, and appropriated for, and the same fleets as they will stand in 1936 under our agreement." In making that comparison he gave the following figures in tonnage reductions:

Battleships—Nine existing ships aggregating 230,130 tons to be scrapped and not replaced.

Destroyers—A total of 295,000 tons in existing destroyers to be scrapped, or nearly 40 per cent more destroyer tonnage than any of the three fleets will have in 1936.

Submarines—A total of 68,000 tons to be scrapped, or nearly 16,000 tons more than any of the three fleets will have in 1936.

Cruisers: An actual increase in American cruiser tonnage "due to the fact that we have been idle in cruiser building for nearly ten years." British agreement to reduce cruiser tonnage by 20 ships and Japan's undertaking not to increase her cruiser fleet, however, represents an aggregate reduction in cruiser tonnage, built, building, and appropriated for, of 460,000 tons.

Nonfighting naval vessels: Total of 220,000 tons in existing ships of this class not to be replaced when scrapped as they reached the agreed age of obsolescence.

Differ on Battleships.

Supplementing this reckoning of naval reductions to be effected, Mr. Stimson said a "strong movement" had developed at London for further reduction in battleship fleets, but that a difference of opinion had been disclosed as to the method to be followed, whether "reduction either in number or size of our existing battleships."

"This holiday gives an opportunity to settle this question and to decide upon the method for this further economy," Mr. Stimson said.

The secretary added that under the Washington treaty the United States would have laid down ten new battleships and completed five of them during the next six years at an approximate cost during that period of three hundred million dollars.

"Under our present arrangement none of these vessels will be laid down," he said.

HOTELS OF LONDON GET OVER A MILLION OUT OF SEA PARLEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 13.—Owners of the leading hotels are expressing their pleasure the naval conference will be over in time to handle the regular spring tourist rush from America, as the Americans, French, Italians and Japanese are occupying large blocks of rooms at the Ritz, Mayfair, Carlton, Claridge and Grosvenor hotels.

It is estimated that more than $1,000,000 was expended during the three months for accommodations for the hundreds of delegates, advisors, attachés, experts and clerical staffs, beside the families accompanying many, and 400 journalists. The British government expended thousands of pounds on official banquets, entertainments and theater and dinner parties.

The cost for the United States delegation of 170 persons is $3,000 a day, with three whole floors at the Ritz, and large quarters at the Mayfair.

ITALIANS BLOCK PACT'S PROGRESS BY NEW PROTEST

Dislike Clause on Navy Limitation Methods.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 13.—Foreign Minister Briand of France will return to Paris tomorrow afternoon, unless he receives assurance the treaty will be ready for his signature Thursday. Tonight the entire French delegation at the Carlton hotel is packing its bags, in order to be home for the Easter holidays.

The Quai d'Orsay minister doubts if the treaty can be drafted in less than a week, and he is prepared to return to London to sign it whenever it is ready after Easter.

Prime Minister MacDonald and Mr. Stimson both assured M. Briand that the treaty would be ready Thursday, but at tomorrow's plenary session the French foreign minister will ask for pledges from the Japanese and Italians, too. If they promise M. Briand the treaty will be ready he will remain; otherwise he will leave.

Italians Block Progress.

The hard laboring drafting committee received a setback today when the Italian member temporarily blocked progress. Sig. Rosso refused to agree to the insertion of a clause on methods of limitation in future disarmament treaties. He declared he felt this question, which represented the compromise of the British global tonnage proposal and the French category plan, with percentage transfers from one class to another, should be sent to the league of nations for consideration.

The Italians are opposed to including the formula in the treaty on the ground that the league is entitled to adopt any method of dealing with the subject of disarmament it chooses and should be left with free hands. The difference is expected to be ironed out tomorrow.

It is estimated that the treaty, consisting taree parts, will be composed of 60 articles. The preamble takes up several. The first portion of the treaty enumerating the agreements of submarines and procedure, will consume several more. The treaty of the United States, Great Britain, and Japan on naval limitations utilizes about forty articles. The rest of the articles will outline the points on which accord has not been reached.

Tonight the drafting committee had completed the sixth article. The bulk of the treaty covering the three party agreement will be speedily whipped into shape, it is believed.

Tokio will be the scene of the next naval conference in 1935. Informal talks over arrangements for continuing the negotiations, when the present treaty expires, indicate that Great Britain and the United States are agreed in principle to hold the next parley in Japan.

Japan is eager to obtain the conference because of national prestige, and the Americans and English do not conceal the beliefs that accepting the Tokio invitation will probably make the Japanese more elastic on certain points over the ratios, which should come up for definitive settlement in 1935, and might otherwise cause the same difficulties in the Franco-Italian parity obstacle here.

It is pointed out that, as the hosts, the Japanese would be placed in the position of seeking conciliatory and compromise measures to insure the parley's success, where otherwise they might stand firm on their position.

Paris Has Its Views.

The French and Italians also agree that Tokio is the logical spot for the resumption of the naval discussions five or six years hence, but the Paris delegates, supported to a certain extent by the Fascist representatives, point out that the league of nations general international disarmament conference for land, sea, and air forces, may obviate further particular negotiations among the sea powers alone.

It is generally admitted, even among the French, however, that Geneva will be unable to definitely settle disarmament of any of the three branches before 1935, despite whatever efforts are made.

Germany May Participate.

Meanwhile, if sufficient progress is made at Geneva, however, it is expected that Germany may be a participant in the 1935 discussions, especially in view of the effect the German government's new types of cruisers and pocket battleships exercised in the present deliberations. It is also likely that Russia may be invited to partake as another potentially powerful maritime nation.

JEALOUS NEW JERSEY HUSBAND CHOKES HIS WIFE UNTIL SHE DIES

East Orange, N. J., Sept. 13.—[Special.]—Frank D. Crawford, wealthy real estate dealer and theater owner, choked his wife to death early this morning during a quarrel provoked by jealousy. He then summoned the police, confessed, and will face a first degree murder charge tomorrow.

The struggle between Crawford, 45 years old, and his wife, Louise, 43 years old, took place in their bedroom. A son, Frank Jr., 15 years old, saw part of the struggle and then fled. Kathryn, 18 years old, a daughter, slept through the tragedy.

U. S. PLANS ASK 125,000 TONS OF FIGHTING SHIPS

Navy Board Drafts 6 Year Program Under Treaty.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 13.—[Special.]—Preparation of a revised six year naval construction program based on the terms of the three power naval treaty negotiated at the London conference will be initiated by the navy general board as soon as final tonnage figures are available in Washington.

Indications are that this program will call for the addition of at least 125,000 tons of cruisers, destroyers, submarines and aircraft carriers to the 332 million dollars' worth of naval ships now under construction in American navy yards. If the naval recommendations meet the approval of the President and congress, the United States will embark on the most ambitious warship construction program since potential battleship supremacy was sacrificed by this country at the Washington naval conference in 1922.

Plans for Many New Ships.

As the construction plan now shapes up, counting ships appropriated for, under construction and likely to be added to the naval program, the administration would spend 100 millions a year on new ships over a six year period. Such a program probably will embrace 26 cruisers, 3 aircraft carriers, 15 to 17 submarines of around 1,500 tons each, and from 25 to 35 destroyers. In the latter group would be several destroyer leaders, a type of vessel which has not yet been built for the American fleet.

The total cost of the program visualized by the administration would amount to roughly 600 to 650 million dollars. This would include ships now authorized but not completed as well as vessels added to the building plan as a result of approval of the three power pact.

When completed the United States would have in modern ships under the age limit 323,000 tons of cruisers consisting of eighteen 8-inch gun vessels and twenty 6-inch gun ships; 50,000 tons of destroyers, 45,000 tons of submarines and 125,000 tons of aircraft carriers.

In addition the United States would have 460,000 tons of battleships, several over the twenty year age limit. They would have 100,000 tons of destroyers over the age limit, but still of some value for fighting purposes, and 7,000 tons of submarines over the thirteen year age limit.

While the general board is studying new naval construction in an effort to work out a balanced and orderly annual program, the house naval affairs committee will be conducting an investigation of the value for American purposes of the 6-inch gun cruisers which the United States consented to accept at London in lieu of 8-inch gun ships.

It is considered certain that a battle over the question of the advisability of building all the smaller cruisers will be fought out in both the general board and in the house committee. Many general board members are known to feel that this country should build no more 6-inch gun cruisers.

Britten to Quiz Stimson.

"As soon as Secretary of State Stimson and his aides return from London I will invite him to appear before my committee," Chairman Fred Britten [Rep., Ill.] of the house naval affairs committee said today. "I will ask the delegation to explain why this country changed its traditional position and surrendered to the British on the question of small cruisers. Unless the delegation can show how this country can use small cruisers of the type which the general board of the navy hitherto has rejected for future building I will oppose adding them to the new naval building bill."

The naval appropriation bill will be introduced shortly in the house. Debate on this measure in the house and senate will reflect the line opposition to treaty ratification will take. Opposition to naval building to bring the fleet up to date under treaty provisions is certain to develop.

17 BODIES TAKEN FROM COAL MINE AFTER EXPLOSION

Tacoma, Wash., April 13.—(AP)—The last of seventeen bodies of victims of an explosion in the Carbonado mine of the Pacific Coast Coal company was taken from the mine today and placed in a temporary morgue.

Wives and families of the miners, who had pressed against a rope barrier about the mine entrance, maintained their vigil until the work was complete. Then they went to their homes indifferent to the investigation which started immediately to determine the cause of the blast.

Twelve of the victims were married. Besides the widows, 23 children survive.

A broken air hose on a drill may have saved sixty other miners, mine officials declared. The day shift of sixty working where the blast occurred failed to fire the customary final shot because of a break in their drill hose.

The smaller afternoon shift of 21 men which went on duty at 4 p. m. took a new section of hose into the workings. Mine officials believed the crew repaired the drill, placed charges and then fired them—and that this caused the explosion which killed seventeen. Four members of the shift were separated from the others and were uninjured. They did not witness the accident and could suggest no cause.

COUNTY PARTIES TO ORGANIZE AT MEETINGS TODAY

Governor Is Invited to G. O. P. Convention.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Having had five days since the primaries in which to catch their breath, both Republicans and Democrats will start their machinery going again today.

The Democratic county convention will be held at the Hotel Sherman at 11 o'clock and the Republican convention in the same hotel at 3 o'clock. The Democrats predict the adoption of a wet platform in addition to the transaction of other business. The Republicans say they will merely go through the process of organization and the selection of delegates to the state convention.

Both state conventions are set for next Friday at Springfield, but as that day is Good Friday both are expected to recess until later. The Democrats are talking about adjourning until Democratic day at the state fair next August, and the Republicans tentatively have agreed to recess for about thirty days.

Law Sets Convention Dates.

The 1927 primary law is uncompromising in its provisions that the county conventions must be held today and the state conventions next Friday. The theory of the law is that the winners in the committee elections of last Tuesday will take hold, but as the Cook county ballot canvass does not begin until this morning and no certificates are issued until after this official counting of the ballots all the party organization work will have to be done without credentials.

Under these conditions the police returns on the voting are to be accepted as the basis for the county conventions. The Republicans will elect their officers first of all. It is reported that B. W. Snow, chairman since fall, will be reelected. There are two candidates for the vice chairmanship, Leroy Milliner and Eden T. Brekke. Charles V. Barrett has said he does not want the treasurership again and an outside business man may be chosen for this post. It is understood that William H. Weber is not a candidate for reelection as secretary and this post, according to reports, may go to Edward F. Moore.

The Democrats expect to hear from James Hamilton Lewis, their nominee for United States senator, and they were working last night on a platform denouncing prohibition and unemployment. The present officers of the county central committee are said to be scheduled for reelection.

The question about recessing the state conventions arises because those gatherings nominate the candidates for trustees of the state university and the lawyers say the certificates on this subject must be filed with the secretary of state next Monday. Therefore, even if there is only a skeleton attendance, politicians say, there probably will be large enough meetings at Springfield to name the trusteeship contestants.

What the Republicans will do will be determined at a meeting of the state central committee called by Chairman Perry B. McCullough for tomorrow morning at the Stevens hotel. Some of the state candidates also will attend and Gov. Emmerson, who is to be in town, has been asked to participate.

A Problem for Democrats.

Before their state convention is held the Democrats hope to settle the problem presented by the victory of Edward J. Barrett over M. C. Zacharias, the organization candidate for state treasurer. Barrett is described by politicians as a political unknown. Efforts to reach him yesterday were unsuccessful, but it was reported that, having started as a laborer in the city street department, he became secretary to Mike Carrozzo, head of the street sweepers' union.

If Barrett can be persuaded to surrender the nomination the state convention or the state central committee, according to reports, will fill the vacancy on the ballot.

RUMORS PERSISTENT KELLOGG WILL QUIT GRAIN CORPORATION

Washington, D. C., April 13.—[Special.]—Reports that W. G. Kellogg, general manager of the Farmers' National Grain corporation, an agency of the farm board, would soon resign grew more persistent today as farm board officials declined to discuss them. However, no denial was forthcoming from the board's offices.

Mr. Kellogg, a former Minneapolis grain trader, was selected early this year following formation of the corporation.

Reports have it that Mr. Kellogg has failed to agree with members of the board of directors of the farmers' national, some of whom are said to have complained that he lacks the executive requirements for his position. It also is said that there is some resentment over the fact that a man closer to the farmers did not receive the appointment.

Woman U. S. Judge Here Today for Term of Court

Tomorrow she will make her first appearance on the bench in Chicago when she opens a term of the Customs court in the federal building with 500 cases on the docket.

SHACKLED MAN DIES IN WATER AFTER ESCAPE

New York, April 13.—[Special.]—W. H. Brown, a seaman, and Peter Sinnott, believed to be a deportee, who were being detained in the Marine hospital at Ellis island, attempted to escape late last night. Sinnott, who tried to swim to the New Jersey shore, although shackled, is believed to have been drowned, and Brown was captured by the crew of the coast guard cutter Wissahickon as he was rowing away in a skiff.

CLOUDY WEATHER KEEPS MOTORISTS OFF HIGHWAYS

Lowering clouds which sprinkled showers in some sections of the metropolitan area yesterday, notably the Fox river valley, left many motorists wary of slippery pavements and a drenching yesterday. With thousands of drivers foregoing their customary Sunday trips, the highways were relieved of the congestion which has occurred in county traffic on holidays since the advent of spring. The weather forecaster, W. P. Day, predicted cloudy and cool weather today.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should try Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, a substitute for calomel, were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 20 years of study. Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and help overcome constipation. Take nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes sold yearly. 15c, 30c, 60c.

ASSAILS YANKEE PROTESTANTISM IN SO. AMERICA

Catholic Paper in Rome Scores Missionaries.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, April 13.—Protestant pastors and missionaries constitute the principal reason why the United States is having such a difficult time cementing good political and commercial relations with South American republics, declares this week's issue of Civilita Cattolica, a Jesuit magazine, edited in Rome by Father Rosa.

The magazine has devoted a series of articles to the subject of Protestantism in the United States and in South America and declares that a gigantic campaign is on among American Protestants to make a conquest of South America in order to further business expansion. Facts and figures on the number of missions and methods of their work are cited, but, according to the Jesuit paper, these activities are financed by Americans, who have met stout resistance by South Americans.

"Misguided Protestant Zealots."

"As was inevitable, this odious campaign of Protestant propaganda, sustained by the United States, has met with aversion in South America and rendered its promoters unpopular," continues the Civilita, which explains, however, that the campaign in South America is the work of "misguided Protestant zealots" rather than the American government.

"If the government knew what damage these Protestant ministers were doing it would deplore their work, and if the North Americans really want to remove the cause of exasperation of their relations with the South Americans they would have only to pull the principal root of it by showing themselves more respectful toward the sacred Catholic traditions of the South Americans. By so doing they would quickly reestablish relations of mutual sympathy which would gradually add to the progress and peace between the two continents."

"Peril to Catholicism."

As things go now, however, Protestant pastors work by subtle means of philanthropy and by welfare organizations to expand their religion and are a grave peril to Catholicism, says the magazine.

Suspected Kidnaper Aid Shot to Death at Home

Detroit, Mich., April 13.—[Special.]—James Walters, 38 years old, who figured in the recent police hearing as the man said to have called an officer to the Book Cadillac hotel to negotiate with the supposed kidnapers of the murdered David Cass, was killed tonight while working on his car in the yard of his home. He was killed by two men who drove up in an automobile.

TAXICAB DRIVER HIT ON HEAD, BUT SEIZES ROBBER

William Hausman, 28 years old, a resident, he says, of the Y. M. C. A. hotel, 826 South Wabash avenue, was held at Hyde Park station last night on a charge of attempting to rob Bryant Foster, taxi driver, whom he engaged to take him to 1328 Midway Park Saturday night. On arrival Foster said Hausman asked him to accompany him to the back door, where Hausman seized a bottle of milk and hit Foster on the head. Foster recovered quickly from the blow, seized Hausman, and held him for the police.

30 Detroit War Veterans Here for Luncheon Today

Thirty members of the American Legion of Detroit will reach Chicago today to be the guests, with the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin of Royal Oak, Mich., at the noon meeting of Advertising Men's post of the Legion at the Hotel Sherman. Father Coughlin, a world war veteran and chaplain, will be the guest speaker.

THE RESULTS OF NAVAL CONFERENCE.

The facts of the naval accord do not justify the congratulations offered by Mr. Hoover to America. On paper the figures are imposing. Behind those figures are facts that tell a different story. Great Britain will scrap five battleships and four large cruisers. Her cruiser strength will be reduced by twenty vessels to 330,000 tons. Her destroyer tonnage will be 150,000 tons, her aircraft carriers 135,000 tons, her submarines 52,000 tons. The United States will scrap three battleships. She will be allowed 323,000 tons of cruisers, including a larger complement of 8 inch guns. Her destroyer and aircraft carrier tonnage will be identical with that of Japan and Britain. No new battleships will be built by the three powers for six years. The net reduction by America and Great Britain will be 364,000 tons. Japan will reduce proportionally. This by Mr. Hoover is hailed as victory. The saving in what we might have built is said to be one billion dollars. Parity with reduction is acclaimed.

Britain entered the conference to save money and to keep her naval strength. Japan entered to climb up on the ratio that she already had. America entered to make a showing for the folks at home. The results of the conference are that Britain saved money and more than kept her relative naval strength. Japan climbed up again on her ratio as per schedule. America made a specious showing for the pacifists at home. Behind the figures of that showing is a story not generally considered.

Behind the claims of parity with Britain is the fact that Britain's naval bases athwart our coasts and her far flung coaling stations double her cruiser power, and although suggestions were made before the conference began that Britain might be willing to dismantle or to cede to America those bases threatening our coasts nothing came of it in conference. With her bases Britain is today by far the greatest naval power. For submarines Britain has little use. To Japan and to America they are important instruments of naval war. With submarines Japan can drive the commerce of the United States from the Pacific. She can force America into alliance with Great Britain for protection; and this may be what Britain wants in making submarine tonnage for the three nations equal. Much of the tonnage counted in America's bid for parity is junk. Our destroyers and our submarines are in most cases antiques fit for a museum. Our battleships are old. Our aircraft carriers, even the great Lexington and Saratoga, are far behind the times.

The terms which are hailed as a triumph for Washington fall in every respect to represent what our government was supposed to seek. What is offered us as parity is not parity. What is offered us as reduction is not reduction. The British battle fleet remains easily superior to ours. The cruiser tonnage our naval authorities have declared necessary for the defense of our communications and enormous trade has been substantially reduced and the relative strength of Japan has been increased. The terms represent a further retreat in our relative naval position and the enormous saving in expenditure which the agreement is alleged to have secured is merely hypothetical.

The best result which can be hoped from the conference is that it may induce the American people to turn their thought to our maritime affairs and bring in due time through discussion a realisation of our interests in foreign trade and our need for protecting it.

BLOCKING BRIDGE RELIEF.

Eighty-five per cent of the grain elevator men on the river have said they do not object to the proposed change in bridge hours. Mr. Connell of the Fitz Simons & Connell Dredge and Dock company says he will withdraw objections on terms. A few days ago another contracting concern demanded some compensation for its consent.

The contrast is significant. The elevator men represent a real navigation interest. They are in a different class from the objectors. The contracting concerns are using the river as a business convenience and though their standing in the controversy is subordinate and incidental they are the least reasonable and public spirited.

The elevator men, and, we believe, all the real shipping interests, recognize the importance of the public interest and their own relation to the convenience and prosperity of a great city. The contractors are just a group of private exploiters who have had a very peculiar influence on the authorities and exhibit a selfish and insolent resistance to reasonable regulations which should be treated with an ax. The mystery of their influence as opposed to millions of motor users and great business interests of the city is the strangest aspect of the bridge situation. The fact is, probably, that they are in politics, habitually dealing with politicians and officials, and thus acquire a personal acquaintance and direct influence.

The dredge and dock companies seem to think they should be protected by the United States government in running up and down the river at their own convenience regardless of the interests of millions of citizens and to the cost of business involving hundreds of millions of dollars. A trucking firm using Chicago streets as these contractors use the river would collide with the police at the first offense, and it is preposterous that two or three contracting concerns should be supported by the government in making themselves an expensive public nuisance on the erroneous theory that they represent an important navigation agency which must be left free to send a sand sucker or a pile driver through the heart of the business district of the second city in the country at any hour or moment they find convenient.

TAXATION WITHOUT REPRESENTATION.

Gov. Emmerson is considering calling a special session of the legislature to relieve Chicago's financial distress. He is being urged to include in his call a recommendation for amendment of the revenue clause of the state constitution. Such an amendment no doubt would permit the legislature to classify property for purposes of taxation, and thus enable Illinois to modernize its antiquated taxation laws.

There is much to be said for amending the taxation provisions of the constitution, but no such step can be considered as long as the legislature refuses to give Chicago and the other urban centers of the state an honest share of the legislative seats. Every member of the legislature is sworn to carry out the constitutional mandate to reapportion the seats every ten years in accordance with population changes in the state, but there has been no reapportionment since 1901. Men and women who will deliberately violate their oaths, deliberately perjure themselves, to maintain control of the legislature, cannot be expected to treat fairly in matters of taxation those to whom they have denied representation. Members of the legislature from all the growing urban centers in the state must assume that the cities are denied a reapportionment for a purpose, that purpose being to saddle the cities with an unjust share of the cost of government.

Unjust as the present provisions may be, they are not as inequitable as must be expected of a gerrymandered legislature given a free hand to devise new modes of taxation. The probabilities are well understood in Peoria, East St. Louis, Rockford, and the other cities of the state, as well as in Cook county. No constitutional amendment permitting the legislature to levy taxes on a new basis can obtain the approval of a majority of the voters until a reapportionment has been adopted, for only then can the urban taxpayers have some assurance of immunity from taxation without representation.

Editorial of the Day

RUTH AND BIG BILL IN ILLINOIS.

[Milwaukee Journal.]

Ruth Hanna McCormick wins the Republican nomination for senator, Big Bill Thompson's crowd comes back strong in Chicago, Frank L. Smith, twice refused a seat by the United States senate, is nominated for one of Illinois' two seats as congressman at large. Those are the outstanding features of Illinois' primary Tuesday.

The victory of Mrs. McCormick is easily the dramatic thing, because she is the first woman nominated by the Republicans for the senate, because she is a daughter of Mark Hanna, sister-in-law of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and because she administers a stinging defeat to Senato. Deneen, who six years ago took the nomination away from her late husband, Senator Medill McCormick. Moreover, it puts the wet and dry question into Illinois' choice of a senator next fall. For James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic nominee, has said that this is the only active issue on which he and Mrs. McCormick are opposed, he as an outright wet, she as a dry.

No crusade for recognition of woman, no fervor for reform has marked Mrs. McCormick's campaign. She has played the political game as a man plays it. Organization beginning years ago, a vigorous speaking campaign, no repudiation of the Big Bill Thompson crowd's support in Chicago and Cook county—shadow boxing with Deneen on the world court downstate; charge and counter-charge about whose supporters were the worst gangsters in Cook county—these have been the factors in Mrs. McCormick's campaign. It helped dramatize her that she was a woman, but she made no sentimental appeal for sympathy as the widow of a senator; Mark Hanna's daughter could hardly ask sympathy.

Two years ago the better element in Chicago was exulting that the Thompson crowd had been thoroughly licked in the primaries. Deneen's reformers might not be very white, but Big Bill and his buffoonery had been drubbed. Now the pendulum swings and the Thompson crowd comes back, supporting Mrs. McCormick, perhaps because it could not support Deneen. Their victories run side by side in Cook county, and Frank L. Smith, the favored of public utility magnates when he ran for the senate, appears to be nominated to the place in the house Mrs. McCormick leaves vacant.

No tears need be shed over the loss of Senator Deneen, old time hack politician, senator from a great state, but almost a nonentity in the senate. But those hoping for better things will hardly be overjoyed by the success of a woman candidate whose statesmanship was such that it let her wage a make-believe fight over the world court and bandy charges about the late unlamented Diamond Joe Esposito. Not much promise of sweetness and light in Illinois politics in that.

But there is some hope of a real decision in the bout now staged for November between wets and drys. Illinois is a big state and accounted very wet. But it also is generally Republican. Mrs. McCormick, dry Republican nominee, is sister-in-law of the wet Republican CHICAGO TRIBUNE, whose acrobatic antics in the primary have been mildly amusing, but which now will pretty nearly have to fish or cut bait. Wet Republican leaders will probably follow the example of Atterbury and Vare in Pennsylvania and support dry Republican candidates. But what will the rank and file do? Will party or prohibition come first? If we can't hope for a better day, at least we may witness an interesting fight and discover how all those wet straws in the Literary Digest's poll compare with ballots that really count.

HIS INTEREST AROUSED.

The Negro was being tried and asked for time to obtain legal assistance.

"Legal assistance!" snapped the judge. "You were caught in the jeweler's shop; two policemen saw you. You had the goods on you, and you have been convicted forty-two times. Now, what could a lawyer say for you?"

"Well, sah, judge," said the Negro, "that's just what I'll sure be interested tuh know."—Vancouver Star.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. W. M.

WHEN YOU BEGIN TO THINK ABOUT OWNING A CAR—

you are like a feather tossed about in winds blowing from a dozen different directions. The automobile salesmen descend like a swarm of locusts and each one is sure that his car is the only one you ought to buy—that is, if you want a real car and don't want to throw away your money. People call you up and offer you their old car at a terrible sacrifice, simply equivalent to making you a present of the car; that's all there is to it; although, of course, there is a small matter of money mentioned.

And other people who drive cars—well, some advise the kind of automobile they have, and others warn you on your life not to get it. And some say gloomily not to get any. We got so that everything we met seemed to speak to us about automobiles. That's how the dogs happened to talk to us. We were waiting in the doctor's office to talk to him about our little Sealyham, Thomas Atkins. He seemed to have spring fever, or perhaps it was winter itch, or fallen arches, or growing pains, or something. After all, the doctor said he simply had to be stripped; he had too much hair for the warm weather. We knew that Mr. Atkins would hate to walk down the Boul Mich absolutely stripped, just stark naked as it were, but the doctor said it had to be done, and turned him over to one of the internes in the dog hospital, who did the job neatly and with dispatch.

But we are ahead of the story. We were sitting in the doctor's office waiting our turn. Ahead of us was a haughty looking Chow, a simpering spaniel, a Scottie, and a wire-haired terrier. Of course, they all had their keepers with them, but the doctor's office was somewhat darkened, and it didn't seem to be the keepers that talked—it was the dogs.

"So you're thinking of getting a car, are you?" asked the Scottie of Tommy Atkins.

"Quite," said Mr. Atkins, who is nothing if not English. "I detest the damn things myself, but my people seem to want one. Silly, I say!"

"It is here in Chicago," said the Scottie. "We've got one and we'd like to sell it. Down east, with mountains and quaint old towns and winding roads and all that, a car would be lovely. But here in Chicago the roads are so jammed on Saturday and Sunday there's no pleasure in going out of town, and much less in coming back."

"Oh, absolutely," said the Chow. "You simply take your place in an endless parade. If a car forty or fifty ahead stops for anything at all the whole parade stops. Horns honk and hoot, and after a while you move forward three or four car lengths, and then you stop again. And then you start and then you stop. It's something horrible."

"We tried to get ahead of the parade," said the simpering spaniel, "by going early Saturday afternoon. But the roads were simply an endless line of cars packed solid like sardines in a can——"

"Sardines? I love sardines," said Mr. Atkins. "I ate——"

"Shut up," said the Chow, giving Mr. Atkins a dirty look. "Last Sunday we started back to Chicago at 2 o'clock, expecting to get home long before 6, because it was a short drive. Do you know what time we got in? Well, somewhere after midnight. We just got fastened in the middle of the procession and couldn't budge only as it moved. And if we so much as touched the car ahead the man would jump out and come back, and swear, and threaten to beat all our heads off. Everybody gets tired and hungry and mad, and it's really disgusting. What kind of a car are you going to get?"

"Street," replied Mr. Atkins, starting for the stripping room, "street, and now and then a taxi."

And Mr. Atkins may be right at that.

DEDICATION.

Though I have sought to find in books and song
Rest from the unrest of my love for you,
And stop your voice with voices yet more strong,
And shed your touch for things more warm and true,
Though I have longed for all forgetfulness
Of rise and fall and surge and ebb and flow,
And sought a spot within whose silences
Is naught to do but watch the bright sails go,
Oh, never have I found an hour's escape
Since the first hour your heart beat over mine,
And never have I molded any shape
But held you as the hillock holds the pine;
Your arm is always round me, and your name
Burned through the living silence like a flame.

DOROTHY R. KISSLING.

AH HA! AT LAST we've found out what the new long dresses the girls are wearing remind us of. For lays we've struggled to remember; every time we saw a girl in the new style dresses or saw pictures of the latest thing from Paris we knew it reminded us of something, but we couldn't say what. But yesterday we saw some gals in the new long dresses and it flashed on us at once. They reminded us of Junior, aged 5, wearing his papa's overcoat.

AND MINNEAPOLIS, Andy Volstead's old home town, straw votes three to one against the enforcement of the sacred 18th. Which reminds us that every time we meet a man nowadays who looks as though his rich aunt had disinherited him, or that he had stepped on a tack, or been kicked by a mule, we know at once that he is a bone dry who has just been looking at the straw vote in the *Literary Digest. DISORDERS OF BLOOD VESSELS.

HAY fever, asthma, urticaria and angioneurotic edema are very closely allied physiologically and pathologically. They affect different parts of the body and have different causes, but they are all disorders of the small blood vessels and the nerves which control them, and the lymph and other tissues which lie near to and are connected up with these small blood vessels.

In one instance the outstanding symptom is itching. In another it is sneezing. In another, difficult breathing. In one there is local swelling and in another the exuded fluid runs away as nasal secretion and tears. In one there is redness of the eyes and in another redness of the skin. Back of each there lies what the physicians call allergy, or exceptional sensitiveness to something. The something may be any one of many kinds of pollen. This is the outstanding cause of hay fever.

Dr. W. W. Duke gives the following additional causes of sensitization, these latter being the more usual causes of asthma, urticaria and angioneurotic edema and their subdiseases: Feathers and hair, smoke, insects and animal parasites, drugs, therapeutic sera, transfused blood, perfumes, cosmetics, heat, cold, ice and sunlight. Among the common food offenders are: Milk, eggs, wheat, lard and bacon grease. Salmon and other fish are not found on Dr. Duke's list. Among the more frequent drugs offending are: Salicylates, iodides, arsenicals, atropin and its relatives, quinine, morphine, and cocaine, and the cocaine kinsmen used by dentists.

Dr. Duke thinks we put too much dependence on skin tests. Most people learn by trial and error the substances to which they are sensitive. If they do not they can find out by experience. A hay fever subject can generally find out which pollen causes his trouble by holding suspected flowering plants for a few minutes against his nose and eyes and noting the results. Or, dusting the offending pollen on the skin of the arm will cause a fine rash to appear.

There will be cases in which skin testing is necessary, but they will be in the minority. Likewise, most people can learn the cause of their sensitivity by simple experiments made with those objects that they are liable to contact with. For instance, what is the effect of burying the face in feathers or the fur of a cat? Or from eating certain foods? Or exposure of the skin to cold or heat?

SWELLING OF THE LEGS.

M. L. writes: Please tell me what causes swelling of the legs. I am 22 years of age and apparently in good health, but I have noticed in the last year that my legs are much larger than they were and appear swollen, being much larger at night than in the morning, accompanied by an aching numbness. I might add that I am not on my feet during the day, and I do not wear the round elastic garters.

REPLY.

Among the causes of this symptom are heart disease, Bright's disease, and sometimes cirrhosis of the liver and anemia. It may be caused by any obstruction to the flow of blood or lymph in the legs. Have a physician find the cause.

DON'T LISTEN TO IT.

Mrs. P. writes: Recently I was told that if a young child were fed chocolate bars the child would get worms.

No. When eggs cause trouble the fault does not lie in digestion.

NOT FOR THAT PURPOSE.

COULD BE HELD TO RENEWAL.

Chicago, April 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Would you kindly inform me as to what the proceedings would be if a party fails to move when his lease in an apartment is up and he does not move until two or three days later? D. I. R.

Technically the landlord would be entitled to hold the tenant to a renewal.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

LEASE STILL VALID.

Chicago, April 8.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—We hold lease, form B, calling for a total sum of $8,775 to be paid in monthly installments of $135 for two years, then $150 for three years. When time arrived for increased rent to start, lessor stated we could continue paying the smaller sum monthly. 1. Is the lease now broken? 2. Or, can lessor demand the difference between amount paid and amount due? If it has been customary to pay rent on the 10th or 11th of the month, can lessor break lease on this violation? P. H.

1. No. 2. Unless there was some legal consideration for the new agreement superseding the old, he is entitled at any time to insist upon the old agreement. 3. He is entitled to insist upon the lease being complied with. He can serve a five day notice on the rent day, and if payment is not made within the five days he can sue for possession. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

Chicago, April 8.—[Friend of the People.]—A Canadian citizen entered the United States illegally in 1916, was drafted into the United States army and received an honorable discharge. May he become a citizen? G. J.

If the person referred to has an honorable discharge from the world war showing service before Nov. 11, 1918, he may be entitled to naturalization by reason of his army service without the payment of any fee. He should write this office for advice and assistance. FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT,

PROHIBITION

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 14, 1865.

WASHINGTON.—Secretary of War Stanton issued this announcement: "This department, after mature consideration and consultation with the lieutenant general upon the results of the recent campaigns, has come to the following determination, which will be carried into effect by appropriate orders to be immediately issued: First—To stop all drafting and recruiting in the loyal states. Second—To curtail purchases of arms, ammunition and quartermaster's and commissary supplies, and reduce the expense of the military establishment in its several branches. Third—To reduce the number of general and staff officers to the actual necessities of the service. Fourth—To remove all restrictions on trade and commerce as far as may be consistent with public safety."

THE NEWS.—The fugitive, homeless, miserable traitor Jeff Davis is now reported as wanting to found a trans-Mississippi confederacy out of the states of Arkansas and Texas, the western part of Louisiana and the disaffected Mexican states. The only confederacy he should be allowed to form hereafter should be himself and a halter. Members of the Virginia legislature and prominent citizens of that state have issued a call for a convention to arrange for a return to the Union. A Mobile dispatch says that gratifying progress is being made by the Union forces in the reduction of that city.

WASHINGTON.—It is stated that information has been received at the French embassy of the dangerous illness of the Emperor Louis Napoleon.

CHICAGO.—Samuel D. Hovey and Miss Flora Louise Cogswell, daughter of William Cogswell, were married on April 12 by the Rev. Dr. Everts. The Rev. E. T. Doane of the Micronesian mission and Miss Clara H. Strong of Dundee were married at Dundee on April 13 by the Rev. S. J. Humphrey.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 14, 1900.

PARIS.—More than 50,000 visitors have poured into Paris during the last 48 hours to witness the ceremonies tomorrow which will inaugurate the great Paris exposition.

CHICAGO.—Porch climbers entered the home of Abraham M. Rothschild, 3725 Michigan avenue, while the family was at dinner, and carried away diamonds and other jewels valued at $2,000.

LONDON.—Mafeking, hard pressed on every side by the Boers, and almost at the point of starvation, has now left but one hope of relief. This is through Gen. Carrington's mysterious movement from the north. Bloemfontein telegrams state that Lord Roberts has determined to send no further troops from the south to the succor of Baden-Powell's heroic garrison. Gen. Roberts, London war experts argue, has decided that Mafeking is not worth the effort necessary to save it.

DENVER, Colo. — Benny Yanger, better known as the "Tipton Slasher," of Chicago defeated Young Corbett in eight rounds.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 14, 1920.

CHICAGO.—In the preferential preference primary yesterday Frank O. Lowden won the state by 80,000, Gen. Leonard Wood carried Cook county by 27,533. Hiram Johnson's name was not on the ballot, but 40,881 men and women in Cook county wrote in his name.

CHICAGO. — The Republican party organization in Cook county was taken over bodily—almost unanimously—by the city hall machine headed by Mayor Thompson and controlled by Fred Lundin, as a result of the balloting for ward committeemen yesterday. Every ward of the thirty-five in Chicago was decisively won by the city hall, except the 19th, where a solidified Italian vote unhorsed Chris Mamer and elected "Diamond" Esposito, classified as a Deneen man. The Deneen organization was put out of commission.

CHICAGO.—Miss Margaret Farrelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Farrelly, 4826 Vincennes avenue, and Thomas J. Shaughnessy, son of John Shaughnessy, 4901 Forrestville avenue, will be married this morning at Corpus Christi church. Mr. Shaughnessy is a nephew of Lord Shaughnessy, chairman of the Canadian Pacific railway.

THE AMERICAN AND THE LAW.

Chicago, April 12.—I should like to call to the attention of your readers the most intelligent discussion of American law enforcement which I have read to date.

In his article, "The American and the Law," appearing in the current issue of the International Journal of Ethics, Prof. T. V. Smith of the University of Chicago analyzes the paradoxical plight of American law—reverenced but unrespected—and points out that by heritage, temperament, and environment the American citizen is predisposed to lawlessness.

First, the heritage. "Neither the type of emigrant that settled the American colonies nor the method whereby the colonies achieved political independence augured unequivocally for a law-abiding citizenry in the United States . . . Liberty achieved through revolution is not the natural progenitor of liberty under law."

Second, the environment. After indicating that the economic considerations which dictated the constitution were not such as to foster in the minds of jealous citizens a respect for law, he continues: "Nor is his respect increased by his acquaintance, oftentimes intimate, with the law's minions—the judge, the lawyer, the policeman, the legislator . . . The judge, like the traditional school teacher, is to be respected when necessary, outwitted when possible."

Third, the temperament—and here Mr. Smith is most incisive. The American citizen finds that it is a great relief to conscience finally to place upon the statute books a personal conviction. Few men there are who do not harbor a secret ambition to stop some pet peeve or other by law. The expression of this tendency has many undesirable results. There is first an overabundance of legislation. There is an increased disrespect for law, for "to settle by law really unsettled questions of public opinion is not to beget real respect." And the corollary of this is the over-rigorous attempt to enforce law, hence to lessen the discrepancy between ideality and reality. Lastly, there is an inclination to aim "hopefully at a maximum in order to achieve a minimum."

The upshot of all this is disobedience—and disobedience ethically justified, for "as majority rights came only through revolution, individual liberty maintains itself through selective lawlessness . . . Circumspect disobedience may be the average American's only protection against his own laws."

Certainly this analysis of the American citizen and the American law and this defense of disobedience by an eminent student of human conduct is worth the consideration of the American body politic—particularly the legislator.

RALPH A. LEWIS.

THE BASKETBALL STATES.

Chicago, April 6.—Just after the football season closed last fall an editorial appeared in THE TRIBUNE, entitled "The Football States," in which the class of football played in the central states was stated to be superior to other regions, based on the results of intersectional games.

Now I would respectfully suggest that another editorial be written, this to be called, "The Basketball States." Base this on the results of the national interscholastic tournaments at the University of Chicago for the last two years. In 1929 the south won first and second places. In the meet just ended Texas won the championship, Louisiana was runner up, and Kentucky was third. Does not this indicate that the south is the section of superior basketball teams, Indiana to the contrary notwithstanding? OLD KENTUCK.

MERGERS.

Chicago April 10.—I believe if there were less mergers and amalgamations there would be more of us working. I am a skilled man and had been steadily employed for years. Then the firm merged or was absorbed so that five of us have had to look for other jobs. Last Saturday I went to the savings bank to draw on my emergency fund. I found that there had also been a merger there and the savings department of the combined banks was being conducted at another bank two blocks away. I suppose this is done to save working expenses, but I did notice about twenty vacant windows where formerly that number of people would be working. The bankers who compile the prosperity statistics would no doubt, find such a situation quite satisfactory. L. O'L.

THE HARDEST LANGUAGE.

Havana, Ill., April 9.—In your issue of the 9th E. H. Kempcke asks which is the most difficult language of the world to master.

Huh! That's easy. The language of silence, of course. BEN L. MCFADDEN.

GREBO IN THE TALKIES.

Chicago April 9.—I would like to say that Grebo, a West African tongue, is probably the most difficult language to master. It has been described as being five times more involved than Chinese.

Welsh is one of the Celtic group of languages. It is quite different from either Scotch Gaelic or Irish Gaelic.

C. E. SHIELDS.

ENGLISH.

Chicago, April 10.—The hardest language on earth is the English. There are two very different languages, the spoken English and the written one. Since the days of Shakespeare there has been very little progress in spelling. All other languages, German, Swedish, Spanish, etc., are phonetic.

A stranger intending to learn English can learn no words without hearing their pronunciation. In grammar schools, high schools, colleges, offices, all over, the people must consult a dictionary for their own language. All other languages never need a dictionary for daily use.

Other hard languages are Welsh (it is an entirely independent language), Bantu, Chinese, Hindustani, Lap, Russian, and Icelandish.

LEXA ESTHMAKER.

ANOTHER VOTE.

Chicago, April 9.—The English language seems to be the most difficult, given that its vowels are rarely pronounced as written, as in all the Indo-European tongues except the English one. Moreover, as exceptions in the English grammar predominate, English is then the most unconventional language de facto, the most difficult language, if even the richest of all dialects with their funny suffixes of on, ed, ng, ough, etc, and in. MAN NEEDS FUN EVEN IN JUNGLE, FORD JOB SHOWS

Bright Lights Lure Highly Paid Brazil Rubber Men.

BY L. PALACIOS GALVEZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BELEM, Para., Brazil., April 13.—Despite the provision of electric lights in permanent houses, good food, clean water, paved roads in the jungle, and wages so high as to be unheard of in this region, the native workers on Henry Ford's rubber growing concession along the Tapajoz river are discontented. After working a couple of months they become bored, pocket the small fortune they have amassed, lump the concession, and come to Belem, where they spend their cash for the entertainments this town affords.

To remedy this situation, and it is a grave situation owing to the fact that the labor supply is scarce, the Ford company is planning a picture theater and club houses to be built in Boa Vista, the community which is being developed on the concession. It is the company's hope to woo the natives to their jobs with the latest and best amusements that can be imported from the United States.

Turn Jungle into Plantation.

Meanwhile the work of clearing the 2,470,000 acres of jungle land, which comprises the concession, is going on as fast as the 2,200 occasional workers and a fleet of labor savers in the form of tractors, trucks, and steam shovels, can cut down trees, level off rises, and fill swamps in preparation for the rubber trees, which Mr. Ford expects to grow there.

But when the Ford company expects to produce is a puzzle to people of the region who see a vast amount of capital being spent in clearing land and in laying permanent foundations for a large city with only slight results in terms of rubber. Of the first 1,250 acres which were planted with rubber seedlings, in compliance with the terms of the concession, which provides that certain increasing acreages be planted at yearly intervals, only 10 per cent will be productive owing to dry weather and a poor selection of seedlings.

Builds a City for 200,000.

It appears that Mr. Ford is devoting present expenditures to building and providing for 200,000 people. Temporary structures which sheltered machine shops, saw mills, implements and supplies, are being supplanted by buildings of steel and concrete. A power house, sufficient to supply light and power to a city of a half million is almost completed. This is the greatest power house ever erected in this section of Brazil. In connection with the power house are five pumps of 1,500 gallons capacity, and a refrigerating plant.

The water installation provides for 700 gallons of filtered water per minute. The reservoir, which will hold 150,000 gallons, is made of steel and is fitted our for the treatment of the water with chlorine for the extermination of microbes.

To facilitate transportation from the river, material is being imported for the construction of a full gauge railroad. Already about 100 miles of roads have been opened.

Sanitary Conditions Good.

The new general manager of the concession is expected here soon with his wife and family. The fact that he is bringing his family is an indication that the housing and sanitary conditions are good at Boa Vista.

LONDON CZARISTS RECRUIT SECRET ANTI-RED ARMY

Make Plans to Avenge Kidnaped Paris General.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 13.—The baffling abduction of the famous White Russian leader, Gen. Alexander Koutiepoff, in Paris on Jan. 26, has furnished the pretext for a fantastic attempt by czarist exiles in London to form a vast White army for the purpose of kidnaping soviet officials and holding them as hostages and restoring a czar to the Russian throne, according to a sensational story, which will be splashed across the front page of tomorrow's Daily Herald, the official British Labor party newspaper.

Recruiting volunteers by an inconspicuous announcement buried in the midst of the Morning Post's want ads, the invisible command of the White army is trying to assemble soldiers, sailors, airmen, doctors and nurses who will be at the disposal of the "Russian monarchist high command," the Herald will say.

Appeal with Box Number.

The advertisement read:

"Gen. Koutiepoff. Will those in sympathy with the work of and anxious as to the fate of this gallant soldier, please communicate with CRN 3275, Morning Post?"

According to the the Daily Herald, all answering the advertisement received a confidential circular advising them to consider themselves bound by sacred duty to further the work of exterminating bolshevism and restoring the rule of the Romanoffs. They were also requested to recruit friends who were able to serve through the pen, oratory, physical strength, or technical knowledge. The ultimate end of the organization, however, is the kidnaping of officials as hostages for Gen. Koutiepoff and forcibly overthrowing the Red régime in Russia, the paper claims.

Scotland Yard Investigates.

A special branch of Scotland Yard is taking energetic steps to investigate the activities of the scheme and the promoters, the Herald says.

Thus far the identity of the advertiser has not been revealed. It is claimed that he commands his correspondents to write to headquarters every two weeks, otherwise their names are erased from the roll call. A volunteer is being sought who will provide premises to serve as a meeting place where a huge massmeeting can be called in the near future. Here officers will be elected and the work of organized members will be designated by figure instead of name. Meanwhile sympathizers are requested to pray for spiritual aid for their cause.

LOBBYING PROBE WILL HEAR BOTH WETS AND DRYS

Leaders of Organizations to Be Quizzed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 13.—[Special.]—Prohibition battling with renewed intensity is expected at the capital this week as committees of both houses continue wrestling with various phases of the liquor problem.

Quizzing on use of money raised and spent by wet and dry organizations, the senate lobby committee investigation will hold the spotlight Tuesday with Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, as principal witness. It also is probable that Bishop James Cannon Jr. of the Methodist church, south, and other clerical dry leaders will be summoned before the committee.

Bishop Cannon Offers to Come. . .

Bishop Cannon wrote to Chairman [illegible] H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.] yesterday that he and other officers of the board of temperance and social service of his church would be "glad to appear" before the inquisitors with such information as may be desired. Representative G. T. Tinkham [Rep., Mass.], who initiated the investigation of dry church lobbies, announced that he would demand that Bishop Cannon be called.

Taking of wet rebuttal testimony at hearings of the house judiciary committee which had been scheduled for last Wednesday has been postponed for one week in order to give the wets more time to prepare replies to arguments completed by the drys two weeks ago. The house committee, however, will meet to finish its consideration of the Stobbs bill to modify the Jones law, the "juryless trial" bill and other measures recommended by the Wickersham law enforcement commission.

Agreement Seems Unlikely.

At three previous sessions the house group has failed to agree upon a report on the bills and doubt has been expressed by members that they will reach the floor of the house.

Next Thursday a subcommittee of the senate judiciary committee will hold its second hearing on the one Wickersham bill which has passed the house, that transferring the prohibition unit to the department of justice. During the Sabbath day interval the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals loosed a new broadside in its weekly clipsheet against the Literary Digest poll, saying:

"The form of question is absolutely unfair," they stated. "The wets are given two questions, the drys one, and two questions always win against one."

MELLON FACTION BACKS GRUNDY IN RACE FOR SENATE

Davis Is Supported by Vare Group.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 13.—[Special.]—W. L. Mellon, former state Republican chairman and representative of the so-called Mellon interests, announced today that he would support Joseph R. Grundy for senator and Francis Shunk Brown for the gubernatorial nomination in the May primary.

By selecting Grundy and Brown the Mellon spokesman crossed the present political alignment and injected further doubt into the outcome of the contest.

On the Vare ticket with Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, who is seeking to succeed Senator Grundy, Brown will now have the support of both wings of the Republican party, while Davis will have that of the Vare-Philadelphia-Pittsburgh Republican machines, with several other counties already aligned for him.

Senator Grundy, who was playing a lone hand, now will have the backing of the Mellon interests, Gov. Fisher, and a large section of the state Republican machine.

Former Gov. Pinchot, who is seeking to take Gov. Fisher's job, will have the backing of the independent vote, the dry vote, and a large section of the labor vote. Pinchot is making a vigorous fight.

These are the sixteen important rules of health as given in the Life Extension Institute's book, "How to Live." This book contains the consensus of opinion of the foremost scientific authorities on the correct rules of living.

The Life Extension Institute was organized sixteen years ago, in co-operation with a large group of eminent physicians, scientists and professors of medicine, to teach men and women the value of yearly physical examinations and to bring to their attention the latest and most authoritative information on healthful living.

If you are interested in such a health examination, for yourself or any member of your family, send in the coupon below for further information about the Institute's work and for the free booklets, "How to Live Long" and "Hygiene at Middle Life." Your inquiry involves no obligation of any kind.

The Life Extension Institute was the pioneer in establishing and popularizing the periodic health examination. The Institute has established in its Western Headquarters in the Tower Building, 6 North Michigan Boulevard, Chicago, a health examination unit similar to that which it has at its Home Office in New York City, with every scientific facility necessary to the making of these critical and searching examinations.

Since the Institute was organized in 1913 over 700,000 men and women have had the benefit of its examinations and instructions on healthful living, and in this large group many lives have been saved and prolonged and much physical suffering and financial loss averted.

During the past year the Institute examined about 125,000 men and women and referred at least 90,000 of those examined to the clinical profession for some form of needed medical attention, either for serious impairments or for defects that could shorten life or reduce efficiency. At least 70% of this group were not aware that they were in need of any form of scientific attention.

These life extension examinations are available everywhere, as the Institute has medical examiners in all the principal cities and towns of the United States and Canada and in several foreign countries. If you will send in the coupon below the Institute will send you complete information about this subject, together with many interesting free scientific reprints on health and hygiene.

Only registered and ethically accredited physicians, highly trained and experienced in this work, are selected by the Institute to examine its members. The Institute renders no treatment, performs no operations, but makes a scientific survey of your whole life and body to determine the need for medical treatment for correction of defects, or better regulation of the ways of living. Every man and woman should be examined at least once a year, either by their own physician, through the Life Extension Institute, or by any accredited scientific agency where the work can be competently done. Send in the coupon below.

CHICAGOANS EYE ARKANSAS' ONLY DIAMOND FIELD

Good Will Party Entertains Hot Springs Mayor.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hot Springs, Ark., April 13.—[Special.]—Diamond fields, long vistas of the de luxe bath houses vending the famous Arkansas waters, and burning heat—these met Chicago's good will delegates at the first stop of their southwest tour here today headed by Col. Isham Randolph, president of the Association of Commerce, thirty-four business men are en route to six southern states spreading booster propaganda and seeking to cleanse Chicago's maligned name.

Since the stop over was planned only as a period of girding their loins for a daily visit to fourteen cities during the next two weeks, the delegates had no set schedule, save for an informal dinner tonight at the Arlington hotel, where Col. Randolph spoke briefly of the objects of the tour.

3 Dams Cost $22,000,000.

Thus, only the task of thoroughly enjoying themselves confronted the party. This was accomplished in a number of ways. A coterie including Col. Randolph drove out to the Ouachita river dam during the morning, where they inspected the second of two enormous barriers which impounds enough water to furnish Hot Springs and most of the surrounding territory with electric power.

These two and a third to be built at a cost of $22,000,000 will generate 150,000 horse power and from a lake twenty-five miles long in the heart of the Ozark foothills.

Col. John Fordyce, engineer and owner of the Fordyce baths, conducted the Chicagoans to the dam, impressed them with its potentialities and later was pressed into service himself by Charles F. Peterson, Chicago's city treasurer, who appointed him chairman of the Hot Springs committee to boost the 1933 world's fair. Col. Fordyce accepted and promised his utmost in enlisting state support for the exposition.

Another party traveled twenty-five miles by auto to the mines of the Arkansas Diamond corporation, the only diamond fields in North America. This territory encloses 100 acres where placer mining has yielded many fine stones in recent years. Close mouthed employés admitted that recently a $30,000 stone was washed down from the bluffs.

Bath House Industry.

The bath house industry, Hot Springs' most important business, has recently received impetus by an influx of gin paralytics, according to Dr. Hugh Devalin, superintendent of the Hot Springs National park. From six or seven nearby states, officials of the Hot Springs-Garland County Medical society, said men and women suffering from the effects of poisonous liquor have flocked to take the baths.

Attorney W. R. Rummler, Chicago patent lawyer making the trip, was relieved today by word from his son, Joe, who with the Cornell University classmates, has been crossing the southern Atlantic in a 46 foot auxiliary yawl. The young sailors arrived in Nassau, Bahama islands, Mr. Rummler was informed by radiogram.

Tonight, Mayor Leo P. McLaughlin of Hot Springs, and President George Brenner, of the Association of Commerce, were guests of the Chicago party at dinner at the Arlington hotel. The speeches were brief—only statements of mutual belief in the value of the southwest's contribution to the Chicago central market.

De Soto, the Spanish explorer, came to Hot Springs in 1546, say local historians, and since then thousands have come here to bathe. Plus its 30,000 constant population, the city plays host to 300,000 visitors a year.

Tomorrow morning the delegation goes to Little Rock for a day and then on south through Louisiana, Texas, and back north through Oklahoma, Kansas, and Missouri.

Hit by Train as He Walks on Tracks; Dies

Frank Yoekundt, 45 years old, of Moline, Ill., died yesterday in the Victory Memorial hospital at Waukegan of a fracture of the spine incurred on Saturday when he was struck by a Chicago and North Western train as he was walking along the tracks about a mile north of Waukegan.

E. H. SUTHERLAND, CRIME EXPERT, TO JOIN U. C. STAFF

Dr. Edwin H. Sutherland of the University of Minnesota, regarded as one of the country's foremost criminologists, has been appointed professor of sociology at the University of Chicago.

In announcing the appointment yesterday, President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago, described it as another step in strengthening the institution's program of crime study. Dr. Sutherland is the author of "Criminology" and is associated with the bureau of social hygiene of New York.

The appointment of Dr. Harry D. Gideonse of Rutgers university as associate professor of economics, and of William C. Casey of the University of Illinois as associate professor of political science, were also announced by President Hutchins.

The ball and bottle test

THIS simple and graphic test shows clearly that New Iso-Vis does not thin out or "break down" in the crankcase no matter how many miles you drive.

To motorists accustomed to find oil thin and diluted after a few hundred miles of driving, New Iso-Vis brings an entirely new conception of motor oil quality.

It is important to realize that 90 percent of the "thinning out" in your crankcase takes place during the first 200 miles after changing your oil. By overcoming this thinning out Iso-Vis assures you of lubrication not only when your oil is fresh but right up until the time you change.

New Iso-Vis actually is as heavy, after a long period of use, as it was the day you put it in the crankcase.

Remember, too — New Iso-Vis reduces carbon deposit far below most premium priced oils and gives lubrication over a wider range of engine temperatures.

You can get New Iso-Vis from any Standard Oil dealer or service station. Try this improved motor lubricant in your car. Have the crankcase drained and New Iso-Vis put in today.

The Ball and Bottle Test
shows you the way oils differ in "body". The more "body" an oil has, the slower the little ball falls in the tube. You can see this test at any Standard Oil service station. Notice the difference between used Iso-Vis and any other oil drained from the crankcase. Iso-Vis does not thin out or break down in your motor—regardless of miles of running.

SAVE MONEY on carbon removal. Further reduction of the carbon nuisance is another way in which New Iso-Vis proves a definite economy.

New ISO-VIS 30¢ a quart Motor Oil

Polarine

The New Polarine is also affected by our new refining processes—giving it a degree of lubricating efficiency which we believe is exceeded only by the New Iso-Vis. (The price is 25c a quart.

WARSAW, April 13.—(AP)—Clara Mercel, an American citizen from Chicago, was arrested as a conspirator today by police, who took from her what they described as important documents. The authorities said the woman is a member of the communist internationale at Moscow and came here a fortnight ago to meet a courier from that city. Her arrest was part of an April campaign by the police to prevent communist trouble next May day. [Miss Mercel's name is not in the Chicago city directory.]

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, April 13.—The communist internationale of Moscow is determined to strengthen the communist party in the United States, an official of the Russian soviet legation in Riga declared today.

When questioned concerning the reason for the soviet government's action in closing their trade delegations at Tallinn, Esthonia, and Helsingfors, Finland, and reducing the staffs of others located here, in Berlin, Paris, and London, this official said the soviet government is using all the funds saved by these economies to promote communism in America.

Report on U. S. Communists.

The Moscow Pravda publishes a lengthy cable from its New York correspondent detailing the meeting of the full executive committee of the American communist party held in New York, attended by 32 members, ten candidates, and 80 representatives from 14 district committees of the party.

The activities of the Chicago section of the communist party were discussed and the leaders, Clyne and Feingold, were charged with being too conservative and against the revolutionizing of the masses. Clyne and Feingold were dismissed from their posts and placed on probation.

Moscow, according to the soviet official interviewed here, is optimistically watching the work of American Reds, which it believes can be developed into serious disorders, thus promoting the morale of European revolutionists.

Exaggerate U. S. Jobless.

The Moscow press in discussions of recent events in the United States confirms these views, and communist speechmakers are addressing Moscow factory workers proposing to collect funds to aid the starving and unemployed in the United States, whose number Dictator Joseph V. Stalin estimates at 8,000,000 families.

The Latvian police arrested 39 communists this afternoon when upon hearing that an unusually large number of tickets were being purchased for a nearby resort, the chief of police ordered a force of reserves there. The investigation disclosed that a secret red meeting was being held in the forest. Those held included the accredited agent of the Moscow communist internationale, and three delegates to the Latvian parliament.

New York, April 13.—(AP)—Belle Livingston, former actress who was the toast of two continents in the gay 'nineties, was arrested for the third time in three months today when her alleged speakeasy in fashionable Park avenue was raided by federal officers. Miss Livingston gave her age as 55 and her occupation as author.

POSTUM HEIRESS WEDS DRAMATIST DESPITE FAMILY

Preston Sturges Elopes with Miss Hutton.

New York, April 13.—[Special.]—Eleanor Post Hutton, younger daughter of Mrs. Edward F. Hutton of 2 East 92d street, and a granddaughter of the late C. W. Post of Battle Creek, Mich., eloped Saturday, it was learned today, and despite the objections of her mother, was married to Preston Sturges, the author of "Strictly Dishonorable."

Family Will Not Talk.

Members of the Hutton family declined tonight to discuss the elopement. Nor would they reveal where the marriage took place. At Sturges' apartment, at 603 5th avenue, it was said he had not been seen there all day. No one could say when he was expected back.

For several weeks the probability of Miss Hutton's marriage to Mr. Sturges has been the subject of discussion in society circles. It was known that both Miss Hutton's mother and her step-father, Edward F. Hutton, were opposed to the match, but it was also known that she was determined to marry Sturges, who is in his early thirties, with or without her parents' consent.

Sturges Married Previously.

Sturges had been married before. His first wife, from whom he was divorced, is the former Estelle Mudge, now the widow of Draper M. Daugherty, son of former United States Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty.

The bride is only 20 years old. Both she and her sister, the former Adelaide Brevoort Hutton, who was married in November, 1926, to Thomas Wells Durant, an employé of their stepfather's stock brokerage firm, were the daughters of Mrs. Hutton's first marriage. Their mother, who was Marjorie Post, divorced her first husband, Edward B. Close, in 1919, and was married to Mr. Hutton soon after.

FOUND DEAD IN HOME.

Henry Cullen, 68 years old, an unemployed machinist, was found dead in bed yesterday in his home, 1927 Congress street, a victim presumably of heart disease, according to Warren avenue police.

EGYPT DEMANDS GRIP ON SUDAN AT LONDON PARLEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 14.—Anglo-Egyptian treaty negotiations going on in London have reached an acute crisis over the future of Sudan, the Daily Mail says this morning. The crux of the question is the new and sweeping demands put forward by Mustapha Nahas Pasha, prime minister of Egypt, in his conversations with Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson.

It is stated by a reliable authority, that Nahas Pasha has again put up the most fantastic claims including the following:

That the whole of Sudan be recognized as Egyptian territory and be administered jointly by Egypt and Great Britain. The appointment of an Egyptian vice governor. That the administrative council consist of Egyptian as well as British members. That Egyptian officials be appointed to provincial posts.

SEEK WIGMORE'S NOMINATION FOR WORLD COURT

Noted Men Are Signers of Testimonial.

Nomination of John H. Wigmore, dean emeritus of the Northwestern university law school, as one of the judges of the world court is the purpose of a testimonial to be sent today to the nominating members of the international court of arbitration, and to the council and delegates of the league of nations. University presidents, chief justices of state Supreme courts, and deans of law schools are among the signers of the testimonial.

Dean Wigmore, who is internationally known for his legal scholarship, is traveling in Europe. He retired last September as dean of the law school, after serving for thirty years, and after his six months' leave of absence will devote all his time to teaching.

Strawn Heads Committee.

Efforts to bring about the nomination of the Chicago men are being carried on by a committee of his friends, headed by Silas H. Strawn, formerly president of the American Bar association. Supporting the testimonial proposing his name are letters from such notable men as the late Chief Justice Taft, Oliver Wendell Holmes, justice of the United States Supreme court; Elihu Root, Judge Benjamin N. Cardozo of the Court of Appeals of New York; Henry Upson Sims, president of the American Bar association, and others.

Dean Wigmore has interested himself in the league of nations, and was one of the members of the committee on intellectual coöperation of the league. Through his initiative, Judge Antonio S. de Bustamente, a member of the world court, and Judge John C. H. Wu, former judge of the Court of Appeals of Shanghai, recently lectured in this country.

Author of Many Books.

Dean Wigmore was general editor and in part translator of thirty volumes of writings of European jurists in France, Germany, Italy, Spain, Switzerland, Sweden, and other countries, and is also the author of numerous other works on legal topics. For his services in making known in America the achievements of French scholars, he was made a chevalier of the Legion of Honor in 1919. He holds honorary degrees from the University of Louvain, Harvard, and the University of Wisconsin.

The full panel of fifteen judges of the world court will be elected next September.

NEW BUILDING WILL DISPLACE PULITZER HOME

New York, April 13.—[Special.]—The Pulitzer home in East 73d street, a stately white house erected thirty years ago from plans by Stanford White, is to go the way of many other dwelling landmarks in the 5th avenue area, it was learned today. The property has been leased by Joseph Pulitzer of St. Louis and Ralph Pulitzer to a syndicate consisting of John Sloan and T. Markoe Robinson of Sloan & Robinson, architects, and Seward Eric, a real estate operator.

The lease is for eighty-four years in four periods of twenty-one years, and the syndicate contracts to pay an aggregate rental of more than $4,000,000. The house will be razed and the site improved with a modern housing development.

Wagner Music Ends Symphony Radio Concerts

Series Seen of Growing Importance.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

This season's series of concerts by the Chicago Symphony orchestra under Conductor Frederick Stock, through W-G-N, 2 to 3, came to a close yesterday with a magnificent all-Wagnerian display. The programs this year have steadily grown in musical significance. "The Valkyrie," "Tristan and Isolde," and "The Dusk of the Gods" were drawn upon copiously yesterday, including several pages of gleanings from "Tannhauser."

After the White Sox finished showing the Giants how to play baseball [W-G-N, 3 to 5:30] the Musical Melange took the air, and Eusebio Concialdi, Chicago baritone, came into the field and sang several arias and songs. Gaston du Moulin and his orchestra played all accompaniments, and also many attractive numbers on their own account.

Mme. Maria Olsezewska, contralto, was the soloist on the New York orchestral concert through W-G-N, 8:15 to 9:15. She was not able to make the best of her well arranged program. Gifted with a voice of great power and magnificent tone, she seems to have acquired the habit of pinching her tones, only letting her voice open up to its natural state some few seconds after the attack.

Congratulations are due the choir and soloists of the First Presbyterian church, Gary, Ind., through WJKS, 8 to 9, for a highly creditable performance of Maunder's cantata, "From Olivet to Calvary."

AUTO WRECKED IN CHASE; THREE THIEVES CAUGHT

Three robbers were captured by police of Michigan City yesterday, when the car with which they had executed seven filling station holdups was wrecked against a fire plug after a gun chase. The prisoners identified themselves as Wilbur Hunt, 22 year old Negro of 3112 Federal street; Robert Strohell, 21, recently of Coal City, Ill., and Claude Lancaster, 20, formerly of Brodhead, Wis.

They had robbed oil stations at South Chicago, Chicago Heights, Valparaiso, Ind., Westville, Ind., South Bend and Plymouth, Ind., taking the attendant to the town outskirts and escaping. At Rolling Prairie, Ind., their victim called Michigan City police.

The trio had held up a Michigan City filling station and were escaping with the attendant, Fred Poehl, when a flivver squad picked up the trail. At Lincoln avenue and Fort street a truck blocked the robbers' flight and the car swerved, being wrecked against the fire plug. The trio also confessed a robbery at New Buffalo, Mich., for which Ralph Devine, 6124 North Claremont avenue, had been indicted.

QUIZ TWO ON REFUSAL TO AID CENSUS TAKERS

A man and a woman were under inquiry by federal officials yesterday as a result of their alleged refusal to coöperate with census enumerators. Mrs. Cora Rozak, a census enumerator, requested the district attorney's office to arrest the woman, a west side resident. The man was picked up by Hudson avenue police and charged with disorderly conduct.

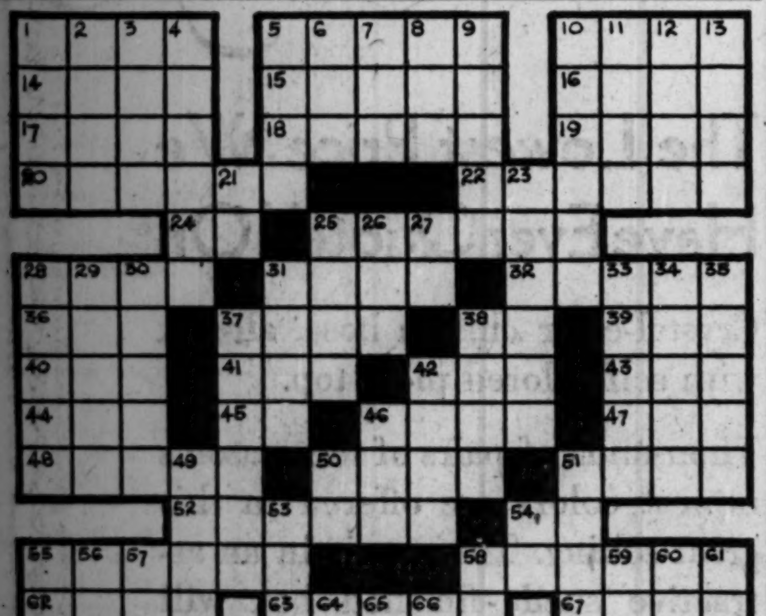

Mrs. Rozak stated that the woman refused flatly to answer questions and finally slammed the door in her face. John Sankavich, 38 years old, 519 Center street, was the man arrested.

Archie L. Hoffman, 1817 Cleveland avenue, a census taker, signed the complaint against Sankavich. After Sankavich, a Russian, was in a cell he declared he had not understood the nature of Hoffman's call at his home.

Too Busy to eat properly

What a tremendous supply of energy children seem to have. Always going, going, going—sometimes they even push away from the table before they have eaten all that they should—to get back to their play.

Call them from play, mothers, for a glass of "SELECTED" Milk

It is exceedingly important that busy-bodies get plenty of nourishment. "Selected" Milk is both drink and food. It quenches the thirst that play produces, and supplies balanced nourishment indispensable to the growing child.

How children love "Selected" Milk. Its "Sweet Natural Taste" puts it in a class by itself. It is a better milk for drinking, because produced with extra care on 105 picked dairy farms near Lake Geneva, Wisconsin.

Grown-up milk drinkers enjoy "Selected" just as keenly as do the tinier tots. A pint a day is good for any man or woman—to repair waste and keep up energy.

Giving your family the manifold benefits of this better drinking milk requires only a trifling three cents more a quart, and remembering to order "Selected." Three easy ways to make a trial are suggested below.

Costs only 3 cents more a quart to enjoy this special drinking milk.

ARMY ASKS BIDS ON SIX SPEEDY FIGHTING TANKS

Wants Powerful but Light Armored Machines.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 13.—[Special.]—Six fighting tanks of a type far superior to the world war machines with which the army now is equipped will be acquired by the war department within the next few months. Letters asking manufacturers to bid on contracts for constructing the new tanks and an armored car were sent out yesterday at the direction of Gen. Charles P. Summerall, army chief of staff. Delivery of these vehicles will give the army its first service protected tanks since world war days.

The new machines will be modeled on the Christie combined wheel and track laying tank and armored car demonstrated to the army and members of congress last summer. The specifications call for tanks protected against projectiles from the service rifle. The armored car is to be protected by armor plate against steel jacketed bullets.

Speed and Stability Sought.

The new machines are to be seven times as fast as the world war light tanks and will have at least four times as much fire power. They will have far greater mobility of action and more stability. Whereas world war tanks had to be overhauled every eighty miles, the new Christie vehicles are expected to travel more than 500 miles before needing repairs. They will travel on solid rubber tires on hard roads and on caterpillar tracks across country.

The specifications call for tanks which can travel 40 miles an hour over roads and 30 miles an hour over fields. They will have four speeds forward and one in reverse. They also must be able to operate at one mile an hour. The tanks will have eight wheels, be from 17 to 20 feet long, and have spring suspension tracks. Protection will be provided by nickel steel plating from ⅛ to ⅝ inch in thickness. Eighty gallons of gas will be carried in specially protected tanks.

Engines to Be in Rear.

Because of trouble experienced with tanks not providing proper visibility for the drivers, the war department has directed that the new machines be built with the engine in the rear and the driver's place in front. The specifications call for a turret built so that the gunner can fire in any direction except directly up. A 37 millimeter semi-automatic weapon capable of 30 to 40 rounds a minute and a 30 caliber machine gun will be installed in each tank.

Before being accepted the new tanks must show ability to cross ditches three feet in depth, climb a 35 degree dirt slope without detachable grousers, and display ability to go through barbed wire. They must also run 160 miles on hard roads in eight successive hours.

ARMY AIR REVIEW AND MANEUVERS TO BE HELD OUT WEST

Mather Field, Sacramento, Cal., April 13.—(AP)—An aerial review for San Francisco and entertainment of Assistant Secretary of War F. Trubee Davison and Maj. Gen. James E. Fechet, chief of the army air corps, are on the program of the army's first provisional wing during the coming week. Secretary Davison and Gen. Fechet are expected to arrive Friday.

The San Francisco review is to be held Saturday. The war planes, led by Gen. Gillmore and his staff officers, are to fly across the city and maneuver over Mills field, the San Francisco municipal airport.

After the formal review before Gen. Gilmore and other army officers, bombardment, pursuit, attack, and observation planes of the wing are to demonstrate offensive and defensive tactics.

Vandal Smashes Window of 43d Ward G. O. P. Club

Two bricks were thrown through the window of the Regular 43d Ward Republican club, 1432 Larrabee street, early yesterday. The club is headquarters for Charles G. Burmeister, who on the unofficial count defeated Reviewer Edward R. Litsinger for the Republican nomination for ward committeeman at Tuesday's primary. The Hudson avenue police attributed the act to a political crank.

BILL GIVING VETS MILLIONS MORE IS NEARING VOTE

House Will Take Relief Measure Up Tuesday.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 13.—[Special.]—Veteran relief legislation will reach its critical stage in the house of representatives this week when that body takes up, probably on Tuesday, the important Johnson bill to amend the world war veterans' act.

In several particulars the Johnson bill is the most far reaching relief measure which has stood a chance for passage by congress since adoption of the original act. If enacted, according to the report of the veterans' committee, "this bill will add at least 100 million dollars a year to the annual appropriations, now amounting to about 500 million dollars for the benefit of veterans of the world war and their dependents."

Legion Expects It to Pass.

The outstanding feature of the bill is that it will extend the benefits of compensation to every disability incurred between the date of a veteran's entrance into the military service and Jan. 1, 1925, if within that time a 10 per cent degree of disability was manifested, unless there is clear evidence that the condition is due directly to some intervening cause not in any way associated with military life.

As 100,000 or more veterans will be aided by the bill the American Legion and other ex-service organizations are supporting it energetically and their officers claim to have sufficient votes to pass it.

Some Favor Greater Generosity.

Opposition is expected to come from these who feel that the bill is not generous enough with the veterans. Representative J. E. Rankin [Dem., Miss.], ranking minority member of the veterans' committee, has announced that he will fight for his substitute bill extending the presumptive period to Jan. 1, 1930.

It is expected that the debate on the bill will occupy three or more days.

Either before or just after the Johnson bill is considered the house will finally dispose of the Williamson bill to consolidate all of the veterans' agencies under a new establishment headed by an administrator of veterans' affairs.

Kansas City, Mo., April 13.—The Cubs brought their pre-season labors to a close this afternoon, but the final act on the barnstorming circuit wasn't impressive. Outside of the irrepressible Hack Wilson one hit up to form. There were cracks in the defense and the pitching was too bad even to be funny. When all these defects had been put together the Blues were on the long end of a 10 to 9 score, giving them one triumph in the four battles waged here.

HACK WILSON.

Having used his regular hurlers just enough to prime them for the campaign, McCarthy turned to the younger members of the staff today and the Kaws accepted it as an ideal arrangement. They displayed their appreciation by blasting Al Shealy off the mound with five runs in five innings. Then they did the same amount of damage to Malcolm Moss in two rounds. McCarthy relieved the youngster from further suffering by calling Warneke forth in the eighth. He managed to pick off the Blues without trouble in his one inning of work.

Hornsby Limps; Excused Early.

Rogers Hornsby, who brought his trick heel back into the lineup yesterday, also was a starter today, but not a finisher. He drew a pass in the first inning, and in the third uncorked a single. The extra effort on the base lines brought back his limp, so after he had fanned in the fifth he was permitted to leave the premises. The heel may prove a problem, despite assurance of doctors that there is nothing to worry about. The Rajah will start the season, but how long he can remain in the game is a question.

The Cubs started doing things in their customary roughhouse fashion in the second inning. Hartnett slammed one of Lefty Thomas' offerings over the score board. Then the Blues put on a little demonstration of their own in the home half, three scoring. These tallies resulted from Grigsby's single, McMillan's double, a triple by Peters, and a single by Thomas.

Cubs Take Temporary Lead.

The Cubs cut loose with three runs in the third, thus getting a lead, which didn't last long. English opened the inning with a scratch hit to short, and after Blair's demise Hornsby singled to right. Wilson tuned in with a double, which scored English and sent Hornsby to third. Cuyler then lined

King Tut Faces Fine, Suspension for Fouling Foe

Milwaukee, Wis., April 13.—[Special.]—King Tut will stay suspended and face a fine for fouling Bruce Flowers Friday night, Secretary W. H. Liginger indicated today as he discussed probable action the state athletic commission would take Tuesday at its meeting.

"Whether the foul was intentional or otherwise, the state boxing regulations make our duty clear," Liginger explained, and by inference added that Tut was due for a layoff.

Tut and his manager, Ernie Fliegel, will appear before the Wisconsin ring czars Tuesday to give their version of the foul which resulted in the holding up of Tut's share of the purse.

NED SAWYER WINS LOW GROSS PRIZE IN ADMEN'S GOLF

Homer Buckley Takes Net Honors with 71.

BY HARLAND ROHM.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Excelsior Springs, Mo., April 13.—Ned Sawyer of Midlothian, western amateur champion 23 years ago, won low gross and set a new course record in the second day of the Western Advertisers' Golf association today by going around the south course in 75. For the most part, the golfers were better than on the first day, but a few found stiffened muscles and brought in higher scores. Frank Llewellyn finished two shots back of Sawyer with a 77.

From Tee to Bird's Nest.

One of the prize shots of the day was Ned Earle's drive into a bird's nest on the 13th hole, which took him eight shots to get out. Another incident that brought a few laughs was provided by Don Smith and Dutch Bannister. Don got so disgusted with his game he left his clubs on the platform with a decision to discard golf for pole vaulting or some other sport in which one might reach a fair degree of proficiency. When the special train reached Chillicothe Dutch appeared with the discarded clubs.

Homer Buckley of Butterfield, publicity director of the 1933 World's Fair, won low net by exceeding his normal game. Buckley cracked out 95—24—71, which was two shots better on net than John L. Sugden, 101—28—73.

Hartman Leads Foursome.

George Hartman, president of the Admen, led his foursome to low gross with 81. Earl, despite the bird's nest, had 96; Don Smith, 101, and A. B. Sweet, 85. Ned Sawyer was out in front of the foursome which won first low net with his 75—3—72. Lloyd Maxwell had 93—13—80; Jack Weiss, 106—25—81; and Leonard Trembley, 108—25—83. Other prizes:

Low gross—Ned Sawyer, 75.
Second low gross—Frank Llewellyn, 77.
Low net—Homer Buckley, 95—24—71.
Second low net—John Sugden, 101—28—73.
Fewest putts, 38 holes — Arthur B. Sweet, 85.
Chamber of Commerce trophy, 36 holes, low net—Paul Fish, 71—75—146.
First low gross [foursome]—George H. Hartman, 81; Ned Earle, 96; Don Smith, 101; Art Sweet, 85. Total, 363.
Second low gross [foursome]—R. W. Richardson, 96; C. F. Flitcraft, 98; Rodney Hanson, 80; Harland Rohm, 104. Total, 376.

FIELDS DEFENDS TITLE AGAINST THOMPSON MAY 9

Detroit, Mich., April 13.—(AP)—Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, will defend his title against Young Jack Thompson, Chicago Negro, at Olympia arena May 9, Manager Dick Dunn announced today. Contracts for the bout, which is scheduled to go 15 rounds, were signed this afternoon.

JACKIE FIELDS.

Thompson will be the first Negro to fight for the welterweight title in about 20 years. Fields won his title from Joe Dundee of Baltimore on a foul in Floyd Fitzsimmons' stadium at the state fair grounds here last spring.

Hockey Leaders to Discuss Draft Agreement Renewal

St. Paul, Minn., April 13.—(AP)—The American Hockey association in annual spring meeting here today decided to arrange a meeting with representatives of the National Hockey league to discuss renewal of the draft agreement with the major organization. The present agreement will expire Sept. 24. The National loop is scheduled to meet in Chicago May 7.

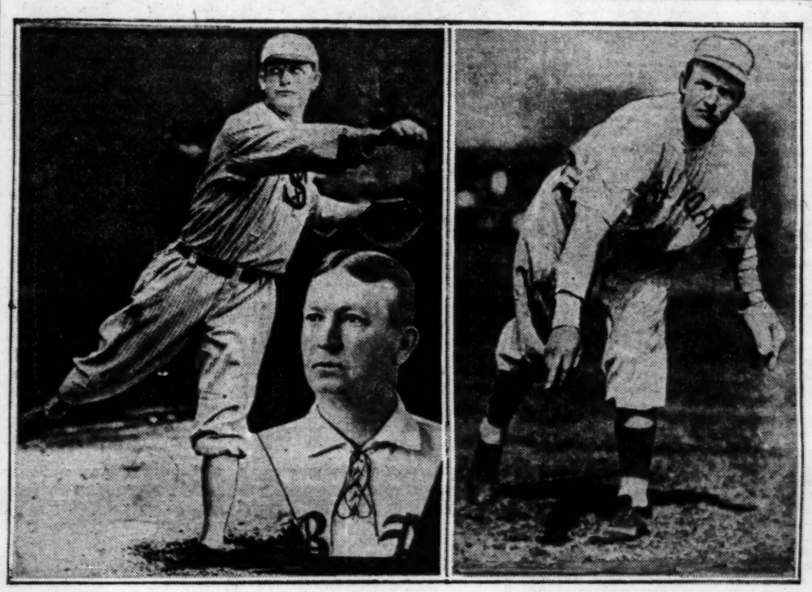

SUNDAY SPORTS POPULAR WITH U. OF I. PUPILS

Urbana, Ill., April 13.—[Special.]—Hundreds of Illinois students invaded the 46 tennis courts and nine hole golf course of the University Athletic association this afternoon as the result of an edict handed down by the board of trustees last Wednesday permitting students to use the university tennis court and golf course after 1 o'clock each Sunday afternoon.

The Sunday ban on the use of the courts and course had existed throughout the history of the state co-educational institution, with the exception of a period during the world war, when all athletic equipment was open for use on Sundays.

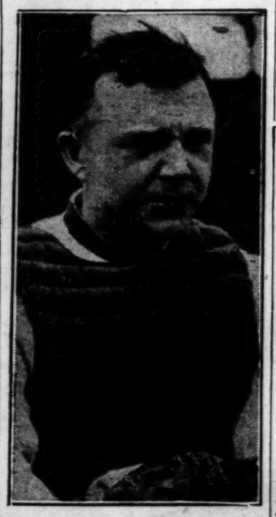

A poll of students taken several weeks ago showed 96 per cent of those participating in the vote were in favor of Sunday recreational sports.

PITCHERS' CLASSROOM MODELS

Boys who have desired to emulate this trio of pitching heroes—Ed Walsh (left) of the old White Sox, Cy Young of the Boston Red Sox (center) and the late Christy Mathewson of the New York Giants—will find plenty of opportunity to learn to do so with the opening of The Tribune's baseball school. Tommy Thomas of the Sox, whose first lesson appears today, will give young aspirants tips on how to keep the pitching arm in condition, how to throw curves and drops, how to detect a batter's weakness, and will give a practical lesson Saturday morning at Comiskey park.

Thomas Gives Pitching Aspirants Fundamentals

This is the first of a series of six pitching lessons for the boys of Chicagoland written by Tommy Thomas of the White Sox for The Tribune. Seven other major league stars—four from the Cubs and three from the Sox—will tell you how to play other positoins. Thomas will give a personal demonstration of his lessons at 9 o'clock Saturday morning at Comiskey park. Every boy interested in becoming a pitcher is invited to attend, the only admission required being a free ticket which will appear in The Tribune Saturday morning.

BY TOMMY THOMAS.

LESSON I.

It is my purpose to deal with all phases of baseball pitching in a series of instructions and suggestions, of which this is the first installment, but before I proceed it should be understood that all that is set down here and in subsequent lessons is given with the assumption that each of my "pupils" has aspirations to be a major league pitching star some time not so many years hence.

Some of the things to be explained may seem a bit deep, or technical, to the youth who plays ball but once or twice a year. But he won't be interested anyhow.

It's the future big leaguers that I'm concerned about helping. I promise not to clutter your minds with any points that I haven't personally found useful in the pitching business. And pitching is a business—THE business I selected for myself when I was a very small boy. Incidentally, I never have regretted my early choice of baseball as a career.

First Decide What Position to Play.

Don't let any one tell you that you should be a pitcher instead of a catcher, an infielder or an outfielder. The first step in YOUR baseball career is for YOU to decide what position you'd love to play above all others. Once having made this decision, the next order of business is to concentrate on the department you have selected.

So, let us say, we have now arrived at this point: You, the baseball pupil, are a strong, healthy youth with athletic ambitions to be a big league pitcher. And I, your "teacher" for the time being, am a young man who will never grow tired of studying the science of baseball pitching. I know that "pupil" and "teacher" are going to get along fine. Let's proceed.

The first thing you want to determine, now that you've decided to be a pitcher, is whether your arm actually is strong enough to pitch. Your arm should be strong before you give any thought to delivery, curves, etc. If you are to be a good major league pitcher, you'll have to have a fast ball for use at least in the pinches. And to acquire speed, you've got to develop a strong arm. The fast ball is a pitcher's emergency weapon and without it a pitcher never achieves great success.

There is only one way properly to develop strength in a pitching arm, and that is through throwing a baseball. I always have shied at medicine balls and other gymnasium paraphernalia as the means of developing arm muscles. The wrong muscles are developed in this way and there always is the danger of becoming muscle bound.

College Stars Seldom Make Good Hurlers.

In this connection it has been my observation that all around collegiate stars rarely make good big league pitchers. It is a matter of the wrong muscular development. My belief in this regard is shared by Ted Lyons and others who could have been stars in all branches of collegiate athletics, but slighted all for the sake of baseball. While there are many who supported this theory and succeeded in baseball there are as many who were great all round stars but failed to make good as big league pitchers, mostly because of improper muscular development or to an injury sustained in some other form of athletics. I might add that I enjoy watching any athletic contest, but have refrained from playing any game except baseball.

Rules that apply to men in professional ball should apply to sand lot youngsters. A boy should not pitch a full game more than twice a week but he should do some throwing every day. In your daily throwing exercises you should be the sole judge of how much throwing you should do. Stop the moment you feel the least bit tired. You may grit your teeth and think you're a bulldog, but at the same time you may, in five minutes, wreck your chances of becoming a major league pitcher.

The thought I want most to leave with you right now is, "Don't overwork your arm."

While throwing is the only proper exercise for the development of the arm there are separate exercises for the strengthening of the wrist and

HOOVER TO SEE SENATORS PLAY RED SOX TODAY

President Will Toss First Ball of Season.

Washington, D. C., April 13.—(AP)—The American league baseball season will open here tomorrow with President Hoover and many of the nation's dignitaries in attendance to witness the opening clash of the Washington Senators and the Boston Red Sox.

President Hoover has agreed to throw the first ball. The usual flag raising has been planned, with both teams marching to the center field flagstaff behind Patrick J. Hurley, secretary of war. The martial music of the army band will vie with lusty lungs of veteran fans to cheer the 1930 season on its way.

Manager Walter Johnson, entering upon his second year as pilot of the Senators' destinies, named Fred Marberry to start in the box against Heinie Wagner's choice of Danny MacFayden for the Sox.

If sport writers' predictions are fulfilled, two last place clubs will be lined up against each other at Griffith field. A consensus among recognized dopesters has relegated the Red Sox to the cellar at the close of the season, while Washington was named to fill seventh place.

ROBINS BOW TO YANKS.

New York, April 13.—(AP)—The New York Yankees ended their pre-season exhibition schedule today by beating the Brooklyn Robins, 8 to 5, to gain an even break in the two-game series. The Robins did more hitting, but the Yankees were more successful in bunching their blows and were aided by three Brooklyn errors.

The deciding runs were scored in the fourth inning when Glenn Wright threw the ball into right field trying to catch Combs at second and let two men cross the plate. Score:

Brooklyn	100	301	000—5 11 3

Batteries—Luque, Morrison, Faulkner and Lopez; Gomez, McEvoy and Hargrave, Jorgens.

BRAVES TAKE SERIES.

Boston, Mass., April 13.—(AP)—The Boston Braves won the annual spring city series with the Red Sox in two straight by defeating their American league rivals, 4 to 1, at Braves' field today. The contest was played in a sprinkling rain before 2,500 persons. The score:

Red Sox	000	000	100—1 7 0

Batteries—Russell, Morris and Berry, Hawing; Cooney, R. Smith and Spohrer, Cronin.

MACKS TAKE CLOSE GAME.

Baltimore, Md., April 13.—(AP)—Four Philadelphia Athletics pitchers held the Baltimore Orioles to three hits in an exhibition game today and the world's champions scored a 1 to 0 victory. Two fast double plays by the International leaguers prevented the Athletics from sending additional tallies across the plate. Score:

Philadelphia	000	100	000—1 7 0
Baltimore	000	000	000—0 3 1

Batteries—Grove, Earnshaw, Quinn, Liebhardt, and Schang; Chambers, Bolen, Weaver, and Dunning.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox finished their exhibition season with a fitting flourish yesterday by defeating the New York Giants, 5 to 4, in a 15 inning battle at Comiskey park. The climax:

Two out in the last of the fifteenth inning. One more putout and the game is to be called a 4 to 4 draw. A record exhibition game crowd of 23,000 wonders when Manager Danie Bush sends the pitcher to bat at such a do or die moment. But the pitcher, Dutch Henry, Giant castoff, smacks out a double and becomes the first Chicagoan to reach base in 6 2-3 innings. Next: Ernie Smith, a rookie, comes up. Bang! A liner into right and the White Sox have beaten the Giants.

DUTCH HENRY.

Pitchers Do the Hitting.

The contest yesterday was made the more interesting because things were sort of mixed up. The hits of the three Chicago pitchers played vital parts in the production of all the runs and the sluggers were stopped flat footed. Furthermore, Smead Jolley, who hasn't been doped to set the world afire on the defensive, saved the game with a diving, one hand catch in the 13th inning. So you see, it was an unusual victory.

Pleasing as the home victory was, it wouldn't have been that kind of a triumph if Ed Walsh hadn't blown a 4 to 1 lead after one was out in the ninth. Ed has shown some great stuff this spring. But he usually becomes self conscious with men on bases. It has been suspected he doesn't like the going when it's tough and he showed it again yesterday. But don't blame the boy too much, for it was his triple in the seventh that fortified the team against just such an uprising as the Giants staged in the ninth.

Dutch Does a Good Job.

Henry took over the pitching job in the tenth and didn't allow a hit in the five innings he worked. Nevertheless he had an arduous time in the tenth, for he walked three men and there was a sacrifice hit besides. But the threat collapsed and the inning ended with a nice easy fly by Jackson right into the waiting paws of Jim Moore. He was a great pitcher the rest of the way. Ott's terrific smash, which Jolley speared with his dive in the 13th, being the nearest thing to a safety acquired by his former mates.

Ted Lyons, an invalid for two weeks, worked the first four innings to give a pulled muscle a test, and gave up

Hudlin to Pitch Opening Game Against Sox

Cleveland, O., April 13.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians were on their way home tonight from training quarters at New Orleans and a stopover at Cincinnati for exhibitions with the Reds. They will spend tomorrow at home and go through a two hour workout before leaving for Chicago to take on the White Sox in the opener of the American league season Tuesday.

The workout tomorrow will be held at League park, the scene of the, at home games of the Indians. The rookies will start at noon and the regulars will begin their warming at 2 p. m.

Willis Hudlin will pitch the opening game with Chicago Tuesday and Luke Sewell will catch, Manager Roger Peckinpaugh announced.

Peckinpaugh said his team, at this early date, looked as formidable as the others in the league, and he seemed satisfied with his pitching staff.

SOX WIN FINAL FROM GIANTS IN 15TH INNING, 5-4

Doubles by Henry, Smith Bring Victory.

but two singles, one in the third and the other in the fourth.

Walsh went in in the fifth and disposed of the Giants in order in that inning and the next but in the seventh Lindstrom opened with a single and scored when Terry slammed a double off the right field wall. Ott popped to Smith, Cissell threw out Jackson and Roettger was called out on strikes.

Only four batsmen faced Little Moose in the eighth and in the ninth, with the score 4 to 1 in his favor, he made Lindstrom pop to Cissell. But big Terry rose up again, and this time his drive was high enough to go into the right field stand for a homer. This upset Walsh and he promptly walked Ott, after which Jackson cracked a double, Ott stopping at third. Roettger, playing his first game in a New York uniform, then singled to center, scoring Ott and Jackson, the latter with the tying run.

Fitzsimmons Holds Sox.

Freddie Fitzsimmons had entered the game in the eighth and was a very tough gentleman right up to the blow off. From the beginning of the eighth it was strictly three up and three down until two were out in the fifteenth. In the final inning Jackson threw out Kamm and Riddle. Henry then doubled to right, and Smith duplicated the performance, stopping at first, but under the rules he was credited with a double, he having advanced Henry two bases.

Having told you of the emergency tableaux, we'll now backtrack and tell you something of the calmer moments, in which the Sox apparently were piling up an easy victory.

In the third inning Riddle singled to left, and stopped at second while Lyons was beating out a bouncer to Marshall. The pair moved up on Smith's sacrifice bunt. Cissell sent a grounder to Lindstrom, and Freddie, trying to throw out Riddle at the plate, hit him in the back. Before Hogan could recover the ball Riddle and Lyons had scored.

Riddle Singles Again.

Riddle singled again in the seventh, and scored on Walsh's triple to right center. Walsh held on while Lindstrom was throwing out Smith, but came in on Cissell's single to left center.

After the game Manager Bush announced that Tommy Thomas will pitch the league opener tomorrow and that Riddle will do the catching. The lineup otherwise will be the same as in yesterday's game, except that Watwood may start in left instead of Moore. Moore is the favorite for the assignment, however.

Bush will be presented with a chest of silver by south side fans at the opening game. Ald. Joseph B. McDonough will make the presentation.

FRENCHMEN WIN PARIS BIKE RACE; HORAN TEAM 2D

PARIS, April 13.—(AP)—The French team of Charles Pelissier and Armand Blanchonnet won the Paris six day bicycle race tonight, finishing one lap ahead of Harry Horan of South Orange, N. J., the only American rider, and his German partner, Buschenhagen. The winners traveled 2,073 miles.

Horan, who started paired with another American, Anthony Beckman of Secaucus, N. J., lost ground early tonight when Beckman was forced out of the race by stomach trouble. He was paired with Buschenhagen, but they were placed a lap behind.

Regaining that margin, they dropped behind once more when the French pair stole a lap a few hours before the finish and held the lead to the end. The German-American combination tried to remain with them during the theft of the lap, but the referee, Marcel Bethet, ruled that Buschenhagen made a faulty pickup and they were set back with the field.

Cubs Lose to Kansas City in Last Exhibition

a single to center, putting the Rajah and Hack over the plate.

The Chicagoans' lead slipped away in the home third, when two runs were peeled from Shealy's supposed foolers. A pass to Gerken started the inning. Kuhel flied out, but Smith singled to right and Gerken headed for third. Cuyler made the long throw, but it got through both English and Blair. This induced Gerken to race for the plate, but Shealy, who backed up the play, pegged him out. Then Grigsby singled to score Smith and McMillan doubled Grigsby home. That put the Kaws out in front, 5 to 4.

Moss' Blunders Help Blues.

Moss' blunders rather than hits caused him to be dented for three runs as soon as he took over the hurling job in the sixth. McMillan led off with a bounder at Moss, but he let it elude him for a hit. Then Michaels grounded to the young southpaw. A double play was possible, but he heaved wild to second base, letting McMillan go to third and Michaels to second. Peters' sacrifice fly scored McMillan, and Spurgeon tripled to register Michaels. When Moss forgot himself and took a windup, Spurgeon stole home.

A courtesy run was handed to the National leaguers in the seventh when Warmouth started to pitch. English beat out a bunt and got around to the plate on an error and an infield out. Then to show that they could be big hearted, the Cubs presented two tallies to the Blues in the home portion. A fumble by Beck at second in between hits by Smith, McMillan, and Peters did this.

Bell Fans for Moss.

The Cubs still were trying in the eighth, and managed to put together three runs. Zack Taylor, who had relieved Hartnett of the backstopping, singled with one out. Bell was permitted to bat for Moss but fanned. Warmouth then walked English, Blair, and Beck, forcing Taylor to score. Wilson stepped into the picture with a single through short, scoring English and Blair. Warmouth promptly was removed in favor of Maley, who tossed out Cuyler to close the round.

For a few minutes in the ninth there was reason to think the Cubs intended to bring about a tie, but they subsided after scoring one run. Stephenson and Tolson walked, and the latter was forced by Zack Taylor. Heathcote batted for Warneke and singled to score Stevie. Then a double steal was pulled, putting runners on third and second, but English fanned and Blair was tossed out by McMillan.

McCarthy put his champions aboard a St. Louis bound train tonight. They will put in about an hour of practice at the Cardinals' park tomorrow afternoon.

TIGERS SCORE 5 IN LAST INNING AND WIN ON BALK

Detroit, Mich., April 13.—(AP)—A five run rally in the ninth inning gave the Detroit Tigers a 9 to 8 victory over Toronto club of the International league today in an exhibition game. The Tigers were awarded the winning tally on a balk by Harrison, Toronto pitcher.

The Tigers went into the last half of the ninth on the short end of an 8 to 4 score, but six hits and Harrison's balk accounted for the necessary runs. The balk was called on a bluffed throw to third.

fingers. Each spring for years I have carried around a tennis ball, trying to burst it by squeezing it with my fingers. I've never burst a tennis ball yet, but I do know that the exercise has done wonders in strengthening my fingers and wrists. Another good exercise to accomplish the same purpose is to take a page of a newspaper in your pitching hand and wad it into a ball without assisting with your other hand. These simple calisthenics cannot be performed too often, although your pals may think you are a little crazy if they see you doing the stunt frequently, without knowing your purpose.

Now, to summarize the first lesson, remember—no curve balls. No fancy deliveries. Plenty of simple throwing, but stop when you begin to tire. Avoid gymnasium exercises. Develop your wrists and fingers. That's enough to ponder 'till tomorrow.

In the meantime, don't become impatient, for later we're going to take up the more fascinating things, along with the pitching A B C's.

GOODRICH, RIOS TRADE PUNCHES IN RING TONIGHT

Substitute Mexican for Tramel in Windup.

Tonight's Card

Ted Goodrich vs. Tommy Rios [10], 148 pounds.
Ted Ross vs. Jack Barry [10], 170 pounds.
Shuffle Callahan vs. Red Griffo [6], 160 pounds.
Mickey Patrick vs. Tuffy O'Dowd [6], 165 pounds.
Sonny Larson vs. Tommy Bambrough [6], 140 pounds.
Jim Barth vs. Roy Peters [4], 130 pounds.

Ted Goodrich, the Atlanta strong man, who headlines Jim Mullen's boxing presentation tonight at White City, has a new opponent. For a week Ted has been thinking he was going to face the "Oklahoma slugger," Duke Tramel, but it was announced yesterday that the Duke was taken ill just before he left home, and of course could not exchange greetings with Ted tonight.

Mr. Mullen hustled about, seeking a substitute. Then he thought of Tommy Rios, a South Chicago Mexican. Now Mr. Mullen is sincerely sorry he didn't think of Rios in the first place.

Speaks Well of Rios.

"This boy Rios," the official commentique from Mr. Mullen's office reads, "should be better competition for Goodrich than Tramel. The Mexican is one of those boring in fighters, who never lets up from the time he enters the ring."

The remainder of the card tonight is as of Saturday's announcements save for Roy Peters, who will substitute for Franklin Cheek of Milwaukee in the fourth round opener against Jim Barth of Chicago. The reason for Cheek's inability to attend was not given, but perhaps this isn't necessary in the case of preliminary fighters.

There'll be forty rounds, more or less, of fighting. Ted Ross, South Chicago, and Jack Barry complete the double windup. Each is anxious to use the other as a stepping stone to better purses. This is advanced as explanation for the prediction of some old fashioned socking.

Shuffle's Back Again.

Then there's Shuffle Callahan. It has been over a year since the fans have seen the Chicago Heights boy put on the gloves and take every punch coming his way in order to send back a few with his compliments. Red Griffo is Shuffle's opponent and the bout calls for six rounds.

The Great Art Shires and other members of the White Sox team will be guests of Mr. Mullen tonight. For Shires it will be a pilgrimage to the scene of his first ring victory, a career which, while short lived, stirred up more fuss than any in several years. Perhaps, too, Shires will recall another night when he was defeated by George Trafton, the only time Arthur finished on the wrong end of a decision.

American Giants Trounce All-Star Aggregation, 8-2

The American Giants opened their season yesterday by beating the Negro National league All-Stars, 8 to 2. Smaulding held the losers without hits until the fifth inning. Score:

What Catcher Could Pick 'Em Off the Bases Like Schalk? Irwin Howe Rates Him Best Backstop of 42 Years

[This is the eighth of a series of articles in which Irwin M. Howe discusses the ten players he considers best of those who have come under his observation in 42 years of baseball writing.]

BY IRWIN M. HOWE.

July 4th, 1928, the Chicago White Sox played a double header with the St. Louis Browns. In the first game Manager Raymond W. Schalk elected to start as his pitcher Edward A. Walsh Jr. Almost sixteen years before, on an August afternoon in 1912 Manager Callahan named Schalk, a slim kid, to receive the terrific spitball delivery of Ed Walsh, the giant mainstay of the White Sox pitching staff for years.

Walsh laughed aloud at the idea of this school boy catching him in a real game. As they started to warm up next to the stand Walsh said to the boy: "I'll just toss 'em up easy."

"Never mind me," was the quick retort from the stripling. "If you have any speed I'd like to see a little of it now."

Big Ed puffed and perspired. He threw them high and he sent them low. They came on either side of the plate and on the ground and little Ray clutched them all and without seeming effort. When the first three innings had been finished Walsh said to his boss that at last he had a catcher he was not afraid to throw to. He had never had but one, the brilliant but now, aging Bill Sullivan, whom Schalk had been brought in to relieve.

Catches 1,719 Games in Sixteen Years.

What a day was that for the fans and for the game! I expect to be criticised in some quarters for some of the selections I have made for this all star team, but there can be none of the choice for catcher. In the glorious light of the Cracker's daily performances for almost sixteen full seasons, the record of the second best catcher, whoever he may be, is so dim it can hardly be discerned.

As Schalk ran up near the screen on that August day in 1912 to warm up Walsh, the grand stand critics agreed with Big Ed that the boy was too small. "He can't stand the pounding Ed will give him, nor any other fas. ball pitcher," they said. But he broke all records for all time in number of games caught, 1,719—and all these in not quite sixteen full seasons. No giant or medium sized or other shaped backstop ever approached this record.

Until the little Cracker came on the scene 100 games behind the bat in a single season was a rare performance for any catcher. The "iron men" who had accomplished that feat almost could be numbered on the fingers of one hand. But the little lad caught more than 100 games for eleven consecutive seasons. Schalk never caught a "strikeout" pitcher like Clarkson, Sweeney, Keefe, Waddell, Johnson, Vance, or Grove, but he leads the world of catchers in putouts. There have been dozens of maskmen with better arms, but he leads all in assists.

Makes Weak Arm a Dangerous Weapon.

When Ray began catch as a boy he discovered that his arm was not naturally strong enough for the duties of a backstop so he began a rigid course of training and when after one and a half years in the American association he reached Chicago he could give a runner a lead and then retire him easily. The reason was the lightning rapidity with which he released the ball and the deadly accuracy, not his unusual speed, for he did not have it. While he watched all bases like a hawk, the Cracker was not one of those receivers who contipually shoot the ball here, there and everywhere, frequently making a poor peg and allowing the winning run to score. As a consequence when he did throw usually there was one less runner on the paths.

Expert in all the mechanical duties of his trade Schalk was preeminent in several particulars, one of which was the art of snaring fouls. To incomparable skill in reaching, getting under and holding the ball, Ray added a genius for sensing the direction the foul had taken.

Base running was a factor in ball games eighteen years ago, and at that time the American league had its full share of skillful practitioners of that art. Cobb, Collins, Milan soon found in Schalk an opponent whose skill in checkmating their efforts was equaled only by his enthusiasm for his task. He picked them off the bags, threw them out at second or third on attempted steals, and when they came crashing up to the plate the Cracker "rode" them in with reckless abandon if the ball arrived in time and blocked them off, regardless of the spikes if it was late.

Schalk's Unerring Throws Stop Double Steals.

When Eddie Collins joined the White Sox in 1915 he was able, with Schalk's assistance, almost instantly to bring to perfection his unique method of breaking up double steals which he had so successfully practiced with Jack Barry and the Athletics' catchers. Ray's unerring throws simplified the task for Collins, Weaver, and Risberg, and during the next five seasons double steals against Chicago were almost unknown, and when tried both runners were frequently retired.

While his skill in the mechanics of the game would have given him high rank in any company, it was Schalk's quick intelligence, tireless energy, reckless courage, and sharp tongue that marked him as the master backstop of all time.

As the table printed herewith shows, Schalk could hardly be rated as an average batter, judging by the figures, but as a matter of fact he always was one of the most dangerous men on his team with a bat if the tying or winning run was at second or third when he came up. He was a past master at working the "squeeze," probably the best in either league.

Hall Breaks 99 Pigeons to Win Shoot

Shattering 99 clay pigeons, E. E. Hall of Medinah won the second annual Medinah Country club trap shoot in the class A 100 target event yesterday. Seventy shooters, representing ten clubs, participated before 2,000 spectators. C. F. Bishop of Glen View won class B with 94 markers. J. H. Blakemy of Glen View was first in class C with 94, while class D honors went to G. H. Hamilton of Brookwood with 94.

Medinah shooters captured the club prize by breaking 470 clay birds to beat Glen Oaks, which finished second with 465.

BRICKLAYERS BEAT PULLMAN

The Bricklayers defeated Pullman yesterday at De Paul field in a Peel cup game, 5 to 1. Munro, Coutts, and McLean scored for the Brickies in the first half, while Orr counted Pullman's lone tally in the same period. Poxon and Coutts added another pair for the victors in the second half.

The Maccabees defeated Joliet, 2 to 0, in a major league game on the losers' field yesterday.

America's Cup Yachts Leave Drydock Today

Bristol, R. I., April 13.—(AP)—While Uncle Sam is launching a defender, John Bull will launch a challenger for the famous America's cup, emblematic of yachting supremacy, tomorrow, weather permitting.

At Gosport, England, Sir Thomas Lipton's latest challenger, the Shamrock V., is scheduled to slide down the ways.

Here at Bristol, the Enterprise, the first of the four prospective defenders of the famous cup, will slip into the water at the Herreshoff yard. The Enterprise is the smallest of the four, and smaller than Sir Thomas' Shamrock V.

The Enterprise is named for the Lucky Little Enterprise, a navy schooner which won renown a century ago when against the Barbary pirates. Her dimensions are: Length over all, 120 feet 9 inches; water line, 80 feet; beam, 21 feet 8 inches; displacement, 128.5 tons, and sail area, 7,583 square feet. Her professional sailing master will be Capt. George H. Monsell of Greenport, N. Y.

The dimensions of the Shamrock V. show her to be slightly larger though slimmer than the Enterprise. The Shamrock V. is 119 feet 10¼ inches over all; 81 feet 1¼ inches water line; 19 feet 7½ inches beam; displacement, 134 tons, and sail area, 7,600 square feet.

FINUCANE TEAM LEADS WOMEN'S BOWLING MEET

Aurora, Ill., April 13.—[Special.]—The Finucane team of Chicago, winner of the Illinois women's bowling tournament, today rolled into first place in the interstate women's tournament. They ousted the Schuenemann Uptowns by 18 pins. The Kelly Hotels of Elgin rolled into first place in the class B event with 2,455.

"I AM YOUR FATHER," SAID JUDGE McINGLENOOK

"No, no," cried Oleomargerine from the prisoner's dock. "I well remember the cracked tones of my father's voice as he drove poor mother and me out into the snow."

"But, dear, OLD GOLDS have put this clear, smooth tone in my voice."

They fell into each other's arms. The lawyer, the prosecutor, and the jury all smiled through their tears and reached for an OLD GOLD. Not a cough in a carload.

City of Barranquilla

(Republic of Colombia)

External Twenty Year Secured 8% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds

Series E of 1929

Dated December 1, 1929 — Due December 1, 1949

The following information is taken from the certificate of Dr. Abel Carbonell, President of the Municipal Council, and from other official sources:

BARRANQUILLA, the largest and most important city on the north coast of South America, is the principal port of the Republic of Colombia. The City ranks second in volume of business and population and occupies first place as an industrial center. It has shown a steady increase in population for the past fifteen years; the census of 1928 showing a present population of 139,491. The assessed valuation of real estate for taxation (1929) was $53,245,865, not including tax exempt property of an assessed valuation of $6,566,900. The Municipality owns income producing utilities which, in accordance with an appraisal made in 1925, plus additions and improvements at cost, have a present value of nearly $4,500,000.

SECURITY: The bonds, which are authorized by the National Government and approved by the Department of Atlantico and the Municipal Council, are a direct obligation of the City, for which its full faith, credit and resources are pledged, and are specifically secured by first mortgage upon the municipally owned public market, waterworks system and abattoir, and by first lien and encumbrance upon the gross revenues of such utilities, the proceeds of the real estate tax, the vehicle tax, and the tax upon outside markets.

REVENUES: For the 9 years ending December 31, 1929, average gross revenues amounted to over $620,000 per annum, equivalent to more than 3.7 times annual interest requirements and over 2.1 times total service charges on all bonds presently to be outstanding. For the year ending December 31, 1929, gross revenues amounted to $1,001,492 and Net Revenues were $702,360, such gross revenues amounting to over 6 times the annual interest requirements and more than 3.4 times total service charges on all bonds to be outstanding, including this issue.

SINKING FUND: Of $2,500,000 principal amount of bonds (including Series E Bonds) originally issued, $419,500 have been retired to March 1, 1930, leaving $2,080,500 presently to be outstanding.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The proceeds of Series E Bonds will be used in connection with the sewerage and paving program adopted after an exhaustive survey made by prominent American engineers.

In view of the comparatively small difference in value between the Columbian Peso and the American Dollar, the above figures regarding revenues and valuations have been stated in Columbian money.

EXPEDITE QUIZ INTO RAILROAD HOLDING TRUSTS

700 Companies Get Questionnaire.

Washington, D. C., April 13.—(AP)—Plans of the house interstate commerce committee to expedite its investigation into railroad holding and investment trust companies were announced today when a questionnaire sent to 700 of the organizations was made public.

Representatives Rayburn of Texas, ranking minority member of the committee, said the companies were expected to file their replies not later than May 1 and shortly thereafter hearings into probably 20 or 40 would be undertaken.

Either the officers and stockholders of the companies will be called before the full committee in Washington, D. C., or subcommittees will be sent to their home offices, the Texan said.

Suprise Members.

In the meantime, Dr. W. M. W. Splawn, special committee counsel, is carrying on the inquiry into the various holdings of the companies, which, Mr. Rayburn said had surprised many members of the committee.

"The testimony of Joseph B. Eastman of the interstate commerce commission reaveled far reaching and extensive holdings," Rayburn said. "The stocks of different railroads held by the Pennroad corporation, dominated by the officials of the Pennsylvania system, and those in the possession of the Alleghany corporation, controlled by the Van Sweringen interests at Cleveland, were a revelation to us."

The inquiry would be pressed as rapidly as possible, the Texan said, in order that the committee could turn over its findings to the interstate commerce commission so that a definite policy on legislation needed to bring the holding companies under the jurisdiction of the commission could be submitted to the committee by the commission not later than next fall.

Mail Questionnaires.

Already the committee has sent to 75 class one railroads a questionnaire similar to that submitted to the holding companies, to determine their holdings in different carriers. Both questionnaires demand a report on all securities and their forms and owners, earnings, and whether they exercise influence on the companies through their voting power.

The holding company questionnaire also requires complete statements as to class of operations, domestic and foreign, as well as to securities of railroads serving one section of the United States. Each officer, director, and trustee has to be listed.

The investigation was undertaken to establish the true ownership of the nation's common carrier in order that the government's plan for consolidating the 1,500 railroads into 21 systems might be carried out to assure competition and service.

Spring Lines in Demand as Easter Nears

BY HOWARD CARSWELL.

For the first time this year Chicago wholesalers of mercantile lines reported an active and buoyant movement of goods during last week, thanks to the recent agreeable spring weather and the approach of Easter Sunday. City sales especially made a notable pickup in volume.

Purchases of women's and men's apparel should attain its peak volume during the next three days, according to opinions expressed in the wholesale market district. The lateness of Easter this year has been universally blamed for the poor wholesale business last month as compared with that of March, 1929. Last year Easter came on March 31, thus stimulating spring buying to activity several weeks before the same seasonal buying occurred this year. Bad weather also seriously aggravated the lull in business in the wholesale market last month.

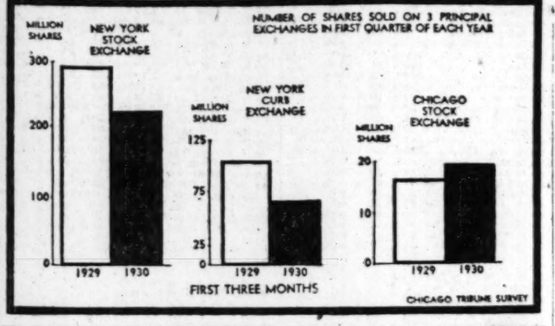

"Generally accelerated buying was enjoyed last week by all loop and outlying department stores," says the weekly review of the Chicago Association of Commerce. "There was a noticeable increase in the demand for sporting goods. Demand for summer weight articles of wearing apparel was unusually brisk from out of town merchants of surrounding states, who appear to be taking advantage of Chicago's package car delivery system, making overnight receipt of shipments possible."

Many Chicago merchants are planning displays of infants' wear in preparation for the National Baby week observance beginning April 28.

Century Shares Reports $103,459 Gain in Surplus

The balance sheet of Century Shares trust, an investment trust, sponsored by Brown Bros. & Co., as of March 31, shows $103,459 was added to surplus in the first quarter of 1930. This is exclusive of market appreciation on securities owned and brings the total surplus to $183,533. The cost of securities owned on March 31, 1930, was $6,061,388, the market value of which was $6,389,115, or $327,727 in excess of cost. Since as of Dec. 31, last, the market value of securities owned was $552,602 less than cost, the total appreciation in securities owned for the three months was $880,327.

Spend Record Sum for Newspaper Aids in 1929

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 13.—A total of $260,000,000, a record sum, was expended by national advertisers in newspaper advertising during 1929, according to statistics just published by the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' association. The largest volume of expenditure was by the automotive industry, twenty-three companies manufacturing cars and trucks having invested $64,245,000 in newspaper advertising. Individual expenditures of 535 national advertisers totaled $220,545,000. Some classifications showed lineage increases ranging from 25 to 80 per cent.

EATON FORCES WORK QUIETLY ON PLANS TO UPSET STEEL MERGER

Youngstown, O., April 13.—(AP)—Forces opposing the merger of Youngstown Sheet and Tube company with Bethlehem Steel corporation, quietly worked at laying battle lines tonight under the leadership of Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier.

"The merger has been voted but it is not consummated," declared Eaton yesterday. It will be fought on its merits."

Meantime Washington dispatches have been received to the effect that an investigation of the merger will be made by the federal department of justice to determine whether any restraint of trade might result in the combine.

Otherwise, the pitched battle of business which raged for more than three weeks and culminated late Friday in the vote of the stockholders of Sheet and Tube here in favor of the merger, was at the stage of marking time until Eaton's forces make some further move toward the courts, this, they have openly vowed to do.

Crop Control Is Necessary in Co-operative Marketing

BY SCRUTATOR.

Admittedly some system of prevention or control of agricultural surpluses is indispensable if the federal farm board is to get over its program of cooperative marketing in an effective way.

This means, in effect, that there will have to be some co-relation of supply and demand, with the supply determined on to some degree even before crops are planted. It is not too much to say that the entire success of the farm relief proposals depends on crop limitation. It is hardly too much to believe that if limitation is effective the peculiar spectacle of a government furnishing its servants money with which to speculate with in commodity markets may be eliminated.

There are certain commodities in which consumption does not respond readily to changes in price. Foremost among these are agricultural products. The Brazilian manipulators of coffee prices found that they sold about as much when the price was high as when it was low.

Doubts Effectiveness.

The wheat eating nations absorb about as much at $1.60 a bushel as at $1 a bushel. Commentators on the Brazilian situation said some months ago that it was doubtful if the drastic cuts in prices, made as a result of over supply, would increase sales by a single bag.

The reason is rather plain. There is a definite limit on what any normal person wants to eat or drink. Once that is reached the supply remaining is a drag on the entire market. The prospective buyer does not want the additional amount any more than the people of Havana want snowshoes. He has no use for it. The producer, on the other hand, wants to sell all he has produced, and the price is driven down until wheat, for instance, is cheap enough to substitute for other articles with which normally it does not compete. Corn has on occasion been burned as fuel; wheat or coffee might sometimes meet the same fate.

The farm board has solemnly warned the tobacco growers that an intended 15 per cent increase in burley acreage, with average growing conditions, will run the price down to 13 cents a pound, below the cost of the best production. It has urged restrictions also on cotton and wheat acreages. The board members know that effective demand for these products is limited and that no way to keep prices up can be found unless the supply is held near that demand.

Past Experiments.

Experiments in control of crops have been made in the past, but under conditions of absolute power. The royal council of Louis XV., it is related in history, told the peasants over the whole French kingdom what to plant and "seasoned the order with sage advice." The Incas of Peru and the sovereigns of ancient Egypt did the same thing.

Those crop controllers wanted large rather than small production. King Louis tried to get his reluctant subjects to raise potatoes, and wore a potato blossom in his buttonhole as an encourager.

Crop control nowadays has an entirely different aspect. The appeal is made on the grounds of sound reason to independent farmers. They are asked to cut down and make money instead of working harder and losing it.

Set Hearing on Charges Against Pennsylvania Ry.

Washington, D. C., April 13.—(AP)—Hearing on the anti-trust charges which the interstate commerce commission has lodged against the Pennsylvania railroad and the Pennsylvania company in connection with their holding of Wabash railway and Lehigh Valley railway stock was set today by the commission for May 19.

TWO BIG UTILITIES REPORT INCREASED EARNINGS IN 1929

Larger earnings are shown in annual reports made public by two big public utility companies last night. The Northern States Power company, which serves 462,982 customers in 597 communities in Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, reports gross earnings of $32,754,119 for 1929, compared with $31,339,721 for 1928. Net profit after all charges was $8,881,885, compared with $8,342,333 in 1928.

The Associated Telephone Utilities company, which operates 378,164 stations, reports gross earnings of $8,926,583 for 1929, compared with $4,896,842 in 1928. The increase was due principally to acquisition of new properties last year.

Net earnings after all charges were $1,244,699, equivalent after preferred dividends to $2.18 a share on the average number of common shares outstanding last year. Net income for 1928 was $707,593, or $2.07 a share.

EVENTS SOUND HESITANT NOTE IN INDUSTRY

"Emphatic Revival" Is Not Here Yet.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 13.—The beginning of springtime has made evident, what had in fact been plainly enough foreshadowed by the course of general trade in March, that the year's earlier predictions of an emphatic revival of industry on the arrival of this season are not to be fulfilled.

The note of industrial hesitancy was sounded rather more distinctly last week than in March. Markets will hereafter be engaged in conjecture as to what special influence can be reckoned on to change the picture in the later summer months or in the autumn.

Sometimes, as at the end of 1927, full activity is resumed simply because the reactionary or corrective process seems to have run its course. More often some definitely favorable development in the situation calls the turn, as with the windfall of American good fortune in the harvest of 1924 and Wall street's interpretation of that year's November election.

See Uncertain Future.

Thus far, the playing of just the rôle of 1924 by the grain trade of 1930 is somewhat difficult to imagine, because the present chief desire of the markets seems to be to have the American wheat crop heavily reduced. Any one who at this time is willing

South American Railways Company

6% Convertible Gold Notes

Due April 15, 1933

Price 100 and Interest, Yielding 6%

The Company will agree to pay interest without deduction for any Federal Income Tax up to 2%

Principal and Interest Unconditionally Guaranteed by The Public Utility Holding Corporation of America.

The following information is taken from official sources:

Conversion Privilege: These notes will be convertible, at the holder's option, into common stock with warrants attached of The Public Utility Holding Corporation of America at the rate of 35 shares for each $1,000 principal amount of notes prior to April 15, 1931; into 30 shares on or after April 15, 1931 and prior to April 15, 1932 and into 25 shares on or after April 15, 1932 and prior to maturity, with adjustment for interest and dividends; subject to the indenture provisions regarding redemption, certain stock dividends and stock offerings, recapitalization, successor corporations, dissolution, etc., and as more fully outlined in the circular.

The Public Utility Holding Corporation of America: The Public Utility Holding Corporation of America has total assets aggregating, on the basis of current market quotations, more than $60,000,000. It has no preferred stock, no funded debt and no bank loans, and has guaranteed no outstanding indebtedness other than these 6% Convertible Gold Notes. Its assets, in addition to its ownership of Common Stock of South American Railways Company, consist entirely of cash and securities—mostly common stocks—of important public utility systems of the United States.

Company: South American Railways Company is controlled by The Public Utility Holding Corporation of America. The Company will own $14,500,000 principal amount of Three Year 8% Gold Notes of the Buenos Aires Central Railroad and Terminal Company (Ferrocarril Terminal Central de Buenos Aires). In addition, it will acquire an option to purchase approximately one half either of the ordinary or Class A shares of the latter Company.

Security: These $12,000,000 6% Convertible Gold Notes will be, in the opinion of counsel, direct obligations of South American Railways Company and will be unconditionally guaranteed as to principal and interest by endorsement by The Public Utility Holding Corporation of America.

Earnings: The income which will accrue to South American Railways Company from its holding of $14,500,000 Notes of the Buenos Aires Central Railroad and Terminal Company will amount to $1,160,000 per annum or in excess of one and one-half times the annual interest requirements on this issue.

Buenos Aires Central Railroad and Terminal Company: Buenos Aires Central Railroad and Terminal Company operates, through subsidiaries, a railroad system in the Argentine Republic; a transportation system in the City of Buenos Aires, and is constructing and will operate a subway extending from the present railroad terminal on the outskirts of the City of Buenos Aires to its approximate business center, where an underground terminal is to be constructed. Construction of the subway was started in October 1928 and it is expected that operation of the first section will commence in September 1930. Power for the operation of electrified portions of the railroad system, the city transportation system and the subway is supplied in part by a wholly owned subsidiary of Buenos Aires Central Railroad and Terminal Company.

We recommend these notes for investment and shall be pleased to send circulars describing the issue in detail.

Predicted Revival Fails to Materialize.

to predict results from the present highly complicated political situation is a courageous prophet.

Two incidents in the week's financial markets have a curious potential bearing on the position of the next few months. One was the rapid accumulation of gold by European central banks, notably at Berlin and London, whose reserves are in the long run most sensitive to the American market's requisitions. The other is the recurrent instability of exchange rates on Europe.

The coincidence has suggested, even to some foreign observers, that the European banks may be strengthening their gold reserves partly with the purpose of preparing for another conceivable American demand on them.

But the elements at work in that direction are obscure. The international movement during and after an old time American financial panic followed an invariable formula. While the crisis lasted gold would be brought in huge quantities from Europe to New York. This would be accompanied or followed by a cut in prices for American goods, a sudden expansion of exports, a slashing curtailment of imports and reversion to an abnormally large export surplus. Nevertheless, the gold taken from Europe in the panic would rush back again almost as rapidly when "panic influences" had subsided.

Different This Time.

Nothing of the kind has occurred on this occasion. Last November and December our gold import fell to negligible figures and we sent out $102,000,000. But no sooner had the financial crisis ended than the gold exports stopped and, in January, February, and March, $50,000,000 foreign gold came in. This was not because of an increasing surplus of merchandise exports.

WHEAT MARKET PRICES ERRATIC AS WEEK ENDS

Weather Reports Cause Profit Taking.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A week of greater activity and uncertainty both as to the course of prices and weather conditions, with a strong advance and a more bullish feeling, featured wheat trading the first two days of last week.

In the remaining days an erratic movement of prices, with increased selling on bulges and good buying on breaks, the former being attributed to uncertainty as to weather conditions, made a disappointing finish at the week's lowest prices. Extreme ranges on wheat futures for the week were 5@7c, the latter on July, and the close was at net losses of 4⅝@5⅛c as compared with a week ago.

Sentiment was extremely bullish early, based on dry weather and crop deterioration in the southwest, also on reports of moisture being needed in the middle west, northwest, and in Canada.

Drought Less Certain.

Fears of a breaking in drought in the southwest, with a showery forecast predicted by the weather man for the week, was the basis for profit taking and short selling in the closing days. Winter wheat in many sections of the southwest has gone back during the week, and unless rains are liberal and general within the next two weeks, production of winter wheat will be greatly reduced. Prospects of a bumper winter wheat crop are regarded as past, and about the best that can be expected is an average. This is 550,000,000 bu as given by the government report issued last Wednesday, which suggested a crop of practically the same as the average and 28,000,000 bu below last year's harvest. Abandonment of acreage is estimated at 11.2 per cent, compared with 6.2 per cent last year, and an average of 12.5 per cent.

Effect of drought in Kansas is seen in the state report which estimates abandonment of acreage due to warm, dry weather as 7 per cent up to April 8 and intimates that further losses have occurred since.

Trading Largely Increased.

Dry weather talk has increased the volume of speculative trading which aggregated 298,575,000 bu, an increase of 39,000,000 bu over the previous week, and 60,000,000 bu over last year. Open interest at the last of 165,817,000 bu, compared with 168,461,000 bu a week ago. Evidently the short and hedging interest has been reduced, as hedges especially are constantly being taken off as millers and exporters make sales of cash wheat.

Wheat traders incline to the belief that activity in buying and selling credited to the Grain Stabilization corporation is engaged in for two reasons. One is to prevent, if possible, prices advancing on bullish crop news, and the other to induce millers and exporters to buy more wheat so that stocks can be reduced. Officials of the Stabilization Corporation are watching dvelopments closely and are understood to be bullish, but they do not want prices to get out of line.

Feel Profit Taking.

Price recessions in the last four days of the week were due to profit taking and bear pressure, being based on reports of showery conditions in parts of the southwest, and on fears of general breaking of drought which has been on there for nearly two months. Every day of dry weather reduces crop prospects and brings in new buying. At the same time, however, there has been an advance of around 17c from the recent low point, which in the minds of many traders discounts a lot of crop damage. Another fact or that was especially commented on was the indisposition on the part of foreigners to follow our advances with buying orders.

Stocks are being reduced faster than last year, but are sufficiently large to permit an unusual shrinkage up to July 1.

May wheat closed Saturday at $1.10⅞@1.11, July $1.12¼@1.12⅛, September $1.14⅞@1.15, and December $1.19⅛. Prices for the week follow:

Minnesota Power and Light.

I am interested in Minnesota Power and Light company 4½ per cent bonds maturing in 1978. Can you tell me something about them?—E. A. G.

Minnesota Power and Light company supplies electric power and light service in an extensive territory in northern and eastern Minnesota. It serves 100 communities in a territory comprising a population of about 327,000, including the iron mines district and Duluth.

The company operates electric generating plants having an aggregate generating capacity of 106,211 kilowatts, of which 89 per cent is hydro-electric. A complete interconnection of the company's properties makes it possible to supply electrical energy to the entire system from hydro-electric plants on various streams.

The $4,000,000 first and refunding mortgage 4½ per cent bonds, due in 1978, are part of an issue dated May 1, 1928. Upon completion of this financing there will be outstanding $28,700,000 of first and refunding mortgage bonds and $7,476,000 bonds of an underlying divisional (closed) issue outstanding with the public. Junior to these bonds there will be $8,447,400 of 7 per cent preferred stock, $165,000 of 6 per cent preferred stock, 70,126 shares of $6 preferred stock, and $20,000,000 of common stock (par $10). The common is owned by American Power and Light company.

For the year ended Feb. 28, 1930, net earnings from operations amounted to $3,896,034, which was more than 2¾ times annual interest charges on bonds (including this issue).

These bonds are regarded as high grade, a suitable investment for a business man's funds.

Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe.

Will you kindly tell me about Santa Fé railway common stock? What were earnings in 1929? How much are dividends and when are they paid? —Mrs. G. T.

Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé railway net income in 1929, available for dividends, was $61,071,746, which was 9.84 times dividend requirements on 1,241,728 shares of 5 per cent preferred stock (par $100), and equal to $22.71 per share on 2,416,293 shares of common (par $100).

For 1928 net income was $49,930,431, which was 8.04 times preferred dividend requirements, and equal to $18.09 per share on the common.

The common stock is on an annual dividend basis of $10 per share, which was the total paid during 1929.

The dividends are paid quarterly, Jan. 1, March 1, etc.

Both the preferred and common stocks are high grade.

SYNOPSIS.

Catherine West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam in the Havre to Paris train. Macadam is an Englishman who lives in Paris. Catherine tells him that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is a little apprehensive about the coming visit because she had received, just before sailing, a letter from Berenice Cushing, who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam is a lawyer and he tells Catherine that his firm handles Mme. Bender's affairs, but he doesn't know the widow very well. He had heard that she was ill. Arrived in Paris, Catherine is a little disappointed when her cousin's chauffeur is not at the station to meet her. Geoffrey sees her into a taxi, giving her his address and telephone number. He tells her that he will be anxious to know how things are at the Bender apartment and she promises to tell him. Arrived at Mme. Bender's apartment, the concierge tells her that madame is very ill. Catherine waits at the door for some time before her ring is answered. Finally Edwards, the butler, responds to the ring. She is treated coldly by the servants and by James, Mme. Bender's maid, suggests that she go to a hotel. Catherine insists on staying at the apartment, as she is suspicious of the servants. Jeanne tells her that Mme. Bender attempted to commit suicide the night before. The next morning Catherine goes in to see Mme. Germaine Bender, who is pathetically glad to see her. She tells Catherine how she had taken poison by mistake, and Catherine believes her.

INSTALLMENT XIII.

A DISCREPANCY.

Catherine's attention was transfixed by the instant alteration which had taken place with the patient. Mme. Bender's wan features assumed a timid, conciliatory smile as she relaxed and lay back breathing hard.

"It is nothing, Jeanne! I was only telling mademoiselle how imbecile it was of me to mistake the plain glass for the green. Never in my life have I done such a thing. It makes me feel quite, quite odd!" She finished with a hysterical laugh of apology infinitely pathetic.

The maid, now on the other side of the bed, nodded with grim significance at the visitor.

"One makes these mistakes sometimes when one is not quite one's self," she remarked soothingly, yet with emphasis. "One imagines all sorts of things. Madame knows now that she was wrong, because I showed her the plain glass with the disinfectant still in it. Is it not so, madame?"

"Ah, yes, that is so. You were right, of course," agreed the invalid, with eager alacrity. Then she caught the maid's unresponsive hand in hers and pressed it affectionately. "What would I do, where should I be, without my dear, good Jeanne? No one, Catherine, would do for me what she does," she added, as though longing to assure the other of her appreciation.

"You had better go now, mademoiselle," suggested the woman, firmly. "This has been quite enough for one day."

The girl rose, but a lightning clutch at her sleeve pulled her back again.

"No, Jeanne, let her stay! I will not excite myself; really, I will not!"

"No, madame," Jeanne said quietly; then, stooping so that her lips were Again she kissed the thin cheeks and withdrew, gravely puzzled by the recent scene.

close to the other's ear, she whispered in a low, distinct voice, "Madame must try to behave reasonably if she wishes to be permitted company at all."

At once Mme. Bender gave in with complete docility.

"Very well, then, I will do as you say. But she is to come again soon? Catherine, my dear, you will sit with me often, will you not? I am alone so much, and I think and think—such strange, disturbing thoughts . . . "

"Yes, of course, dear, I mean to be with you every day as long as you will have me."

Again she kissed the thin cheek and withdrew, gravely puzzled by the recent scene. Jeanne followed her out, closing the door softly, and, when they had reached the bend in the passage, spoke in an undertone.

"You see what it is like?" she said; and, though her tone was sorrowful, there seemed, oddly enough, a touch of triumph in it—almost, thought Catherine, as if she believed that her word had at first been doubted.

"I don't know what to say, Jeanne," admitted the girl, slowly. "Madame was much more rational than I expected. In fact, if I had not been told about this insanity, I doubt if I should have noticed anything. It was only when she mentioned the poison——"

A quick gleam came into the other's eyes.

"Ah, yes, I heard a little of what madame was saying. It is as I told you: she is trying to justify her action and make us think it was unintentional."

Catherine shook her head uncertainly. Mme. Bender's protest had had such a ring of sincerity. It was hard even now to believe she had been lying.

"You are quite certain it wasn't accidental?" she suggested thoughtfully.

"It seemed to me——"

The maid raised her eyebrows disparagingly.

"Who can say?" she returned after a pause. "Perhaps it was as she says—though it is strange how the mention of it throws her into a fever. No, I am afraid she has lain there making up this story, which she now quite thinks is true. She is often like that."

"Do you mean, Jeanne," whispered Catherine, recalling the marked discrepancy between the invalid's statement and the maid's, "that what she says about calling you and your not hearing her is an invention?"

"I am sorry to say, mademoiselle, there is not one word of truth in it."

"I am sorry to say, mademoiselle, that is not one word of truth in it," she replied positively. "I was upon the threshold when it happened, and snatched the glass from her lips. She did not know, of course, that I was watching. Eduardo, Berthe will both bear me out. They heard me cry out and ran to see what was the matter. Eduardo telephoned for the doctor, who was on the spot in half an hour."

There seemed no doubt about it. Catherine pondered the matter unhappily.

"But, why—why should she want to take her life?" was all she could manage to say. "A year ago I saw no sign of such a thing, wretched though she was."

"Ah, that is the nature of her malady. Melancholia. It comes in fits, and when the spell is upon her the poor creature cannot be held responsible. Only three weeks ago—but no, I must not alarm you unduly," she broke off, closing her lips with determination.

"Tell me, Jeanne; I would much rather know the truth."

"Well, then," admitted her companion, reluctantly, watching her as she spoke, "if you must know, I came into the room there to find madame, in her nightdress, standing upon the window sill preparing to throw herself into the street below. If you will look you will see that I have had two bars fastened across the opening to prevent her attempting it a second time."

Catherine drew in her breath sharply. This was something not easily explained away. Painfully she inquired the details, and learned that after the recent scene Mme. Bender suffered from nervous collapse, following which the entire affair appeared to be erased from her memory. Not once had she referred to it, nor asked why the bars were there.

"You understand why it is I have moved my bed into madame's dressing room, next door," went on the maid. "As I told you last night, it is not safe to leave her for any length of time."

Inconsequentially Catherine recalled Jeanne's departure the evening before, but naturally said nothing. After all, her charge had no doubt been sound asleep at the time.

"Of course it isn't," she replied earnestly. "But, all the same, it is more than one person can take on. Why, you can have no liberty at all! Oughtn't you to engage a professional nurse to share your duties?"

The look of fanatical obstinacy she had seen before tightened the strongly marked features.

"Ah, no, mademoiselle! Madame has a horror of strangers. Such a thing might drive her to desperation. No, I have served her for fifteen years, and I shall continue to do so now that her need of me is so great. Who so well as myself understands her, who would protect her not only from herself but"—she hesitated, then finished with slow emphasis, "from those who perhaps might do her injury?"

What on earth could she mean? Catherine stared at her in astonishment.

"Surely, Jeanne, there can be no such person. Why do you suppose there is?"

For a second there was guarded silence. Then the maid, with a suggestion of a shrug, replied:

"I must not make any accusations, mademoiselle. But does it not strike you as strange, to say the least, that on the occasion I have mentioned and on two days ago the attempts at suicide should have followed close upon the visits of an old friend?"

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

This is a lively number, built on farce comedy lines. It is bursting with action, keeps you looking if not always laughing, and it is extremely generous with its featured players, who are almost constantly in the limelight.

Mr. McLaglen and Fifi D'Orsay give a satisfactory account of themselves. Mr. Brendel as the soft, moronic, tittering, goofy, peeping Tom he impersonates, made me feel a little ill. Supporting players do pleasing work.

The story is one of those light, frolicsome, impractical affairs in which farce and musical comedies specialize. A sailor wanted by the Paris authorities, who have a fortune to bestow upon him, believes they crave his presence for quite a different reason. He runs like everything.

His efforts to elude his would-be benefactors and theirs to land him constitute the chase which carries John Patrick Duke and his buddy, Axel Olson, into a world of adventures robust, ribald (at times), and ribtickling (occasionally).

"Hot for Paris" has been rather well directed and may please you a lot more than it did me.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Does this kind of weather give you the garden fever?

The Answers.

Mrs. Anna Buck, 717 Emerson street, housekeeper—The warm days do and the cold days don't. I can't have a garden now, because I am so located that what the dogs don't dig up the cats do. I have always enjoyed working in one and some day I hope to have one again. It is a pleasurable, healthful, and inexpensive recreation.

G. H. Johnson, 7817 Phillips avenue, salesman—It sure does. I haven't much of a garden, but I expect to plant a few seeds within the next week or so, that is, if old man frost stays away, or if it is not snowing. Apparently we may expect anything of the weather.

Mrs. Bernard A. Ciesluk, 155 North Le Claire avenue, housewife—It does not. I have never had the garden fever. We once had a wonderful opportunity to buy a house with a large garden on Long Island, but I passed it up for a New York City apartment. I love flowers and all that, but I don't like the garden variety of work.

H. A. Drake, 3058 North Kolmar avenue, furrier—Sometimes. But not so much now as I did during the warm spell preceding the recent snowstorm. We had a garden when I was a boy on the farm. Once having had a garden, one always wants one. It's one of the ways of getting back to nature.

Mrs. Mary O'Neill, 645 Wrightwood avenue, housewife—I have a small flower garden in which I raise tulips, iris, and so on, and I have a beautiful lawn. But whether I am too high up or the ground is too low, I don't know, but it is too far for me to stoop to conquer for results.

Varied Faiths Recall Debts to Jefferson

On 187th Anniversary of His Birth.

Charlottesville, Va., April 13.—(AP)—Thomas Jefferson, American crusader for the right of freedom of religious worship, was eulogized by representatives of three faiths and two major political parties today. The speakers were observing the 187th anniversary of his birth. The ceremonies were at Monticello, the home he planned and whose building he supervised.

Senator Clarence D. Dill [Dem., Wash.] and Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.] spoke from the portico of the Jefferson mansion on the mountain top, two and a half miles from Charlottesville.

After a procession to Jefferson's grave there was a prayer by Bishop Collins Denny of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, Protestant representative, and brief remarks by Rabbi Edward N. Calish of Richmond, Va., representing the Jews, and the Rev. John A. Kelliher, Richmond, Va., speaking for the Roman Catholics.

Wreaths were placed on the grave. Among them was a simple design of palms and magnolia leaves sent by President Hoover. It was placed by Senator Fess.

An airplane circling overhead, dropped flowers.

Today was the second of the three day observance. Yesterday at the Founder's day excercises at the University of Virginia, he was remembered as Jefferson the educator. Tomorrow, in an address over a nationwide radio hookup, Dr. Edwin Anderson Alderman, president of that university, will eulogize Jefferson the statesman.

"It would be difficult for us to overestimate," Senator Fess declared, "the supreme importance of Jefferson's accomplishments toward the liberties of a great people. The enfranchisement of the human intellect in matters of thought, including the freedom of religion, is perhaps the greatest boon to the human race."

"If we were to write a new declaration of independence under the inspiration of Jefferson's principles we should write it in the terms of 1930," Senator Dill said, "that the new declaration should not be a repudiation of monarchy, but a vote against the rule of money. It should not be a breaking away from feudalism, but an overturning of monopolies and mergers."

Passavant Hospital Plans Closer Working with Northwestern

Expansion of the service of Passavant hospital in divergent fields was announced yesterday by Lawrence H Whiting. He is head of a committee of business men seeking a closer association with Northwestern university medical school, specially in providing college work and a college degree for nurses. The committee also plans extension of charity service and that for patients of moderate means. A nurses' training school is to be built.

The research program contemplates not only help in diagnosis but in the study of causes and newer treatment of diseases. It is hoped that much of the research work at the university will be extended to the hospital. Though all doctors on the staff are also faculty members of Northwestern, details of the plan will formulate a closer relationship.

Northwestern plans to offer regular university courses leading to a college degree for nurses. A degree in advance of the R. N. the graduate nurse holds today will be granted if the student meets the requirements of both the nursing school and the university—which is expected to raise the standard of nurses' training.

An endowment soon will be sought for the nurses' training school, which will be built on the McKinlock campus, adjoining the Passavant hospital.

"In Passavant," Chairman Whiting said yesterday, "we provide for all classes. Our provision for the wealthy is unequaled, for the more moderate purse, is as good, and continually will be improved. As to charity, every one knows that charity work is nothing more than the dividend a hospital pays on the community investment which it represents.

"A community relations commitee is being formed to study the needs and to represent the neighborhood in the hospital councils. One delegate from each north side social service agency will be asked to join. This, too, is a new idea in hospital relationships."

THE STAGE

APRIL 1 was the dead line for plays eligible for this year's Pulitzer prize, and the season for guessing what the decision of the judges will be is now open. "The Crime Code," by Martin Flavin, is a heavy favorite in the betting. "The Green Pastures," by Marc Connelly, and "The Last Mile," by John Wexley, would seem to be disqualified, in spite of their merit, because they are not "original plays" in the strictest sense of the phrase, but are dramatizations of printed material. Thus "The Green Pastures" came from Roark Bradford's book, "Ole Man Adams and His Chillun," and "The Last Mile" was based on a series of articles written by a convict under sentence of death in an Oklahoma prison.

Here is the roll call of past Pulitzer prize plays: "Why Marry," by Jesse Lynch Williams, 1918; "Beyond the Horizon," by Eugene O'Neill, 1920; "Miss Lulu Bett," by Zona Gale, 1921; "Anna Christie," by Eugene O'Neill, 1922; "Icebound," by Owen Davis, 1923; "Hell Bent for Heaven," by Hatcher Hughes, 1924; "They Knew What They Wanted," by Sidney Howard, 1925; "Craig's Wife," by George Kelly, 1926; "In Abraham's Bosom," by Paul Green, 1927; "Strange Interlude," by Eugene O'Neill, 1928, and "Street Scene," by Elmer Rice, 1929. Thus we find that Eugene O'Neill has won the honor and the prize money of $1,000 three times.

"The Poem of David," a one act play by Kenneth Sawyer Goodman and Ben Hecht, is announced as curtain raiser for "Israel in the Kitchen," at tonight's special performance in the Goodman theater. David Itkin, who is staging this bill, will act in it, thus making his debut on the English speaking stage. He was formerly associated with the Habima wing of the Moscow Art theater.

The Freiburg Passion Play, which will begin an engagement at the Civic Opera house May 4 under the auspices of several charities, is believed to have a longer history than any of the others. It dates back to 1264, nearly 400 years before the founding of the better known Passion Play of Oberammergau.

The company is composed of players who represent generations of family tradition. George Fassnacht Jr., who has the part of Christ, is the fifth in his line to carry this honor. Other leading parts are taken by members of the same family. George Fassnacht Sr., his father, is the Judas; Augusta Fassnacht, his mother, is the Mary, and Detty Schumann Fassnacht, his cousin, is the Magdalene. The group consented to leave their native village in Baden for this tour only with the understanding that every performance should be given in the cause of charity.

Churches Begin Holy Week at Palm Services

City's Religious Life Is Quickened, Pastors Say.

Loop Services Today

Religious services during Holy week, as held during the luncheon hours in the loop, will be listed daily:

Chicago temple, 12 to 12:45—The Rev. Dr. Roy Ewing Vale, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Oak Park.

Garrick theater, 12:10 to 12:30—The Rev. Dr. John Henry Hopkins, rector emeritus, Episcopal Church of the Redeemer.

Great Northern theater, 12 to 1—Auspices of the Missouri Synod Lutheran church.

Cohan's theater, 12:10 to 12:50—Auspices of the Federation of Lutheran Brotherhoods.

St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church, Adams and Des Plaines streets—Mass at 12:10.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Holy week began yesterday with Palm Sunday services in hundreds of churches of all faiths. Throughout the week daily services of various kinds will be continued until Friday noon. Then the climax arrives with the three hour or "tre ore" service commemorating Christ's crucifixion. The three hour service will be held in all Roman Catholic, in the Episcopal, and in many Protestant churches.

Protestant leaders declare that the recent visitation evangelistic campaign has had considerable effect on the religious life of this city. Clergymen of all faiths say the present lenten season has brought more response than any for many years.

Emphasis on changing religious moods of the people of today formed the background of a sermon yesterday morning by the Rev. Dr. Harold E. B. Speight, professor of philosophy at Dartmouth college. Speaking at the University of Chicago chapel, he declared force of habit does not work in religious matters as it once did. He said impulses have taken the place of habits in religious expression.

The Dartmouth professor said many persons feel they have no religion at all unless it is marked by ardor.

"They doubt their faith if the peace and confidence of religion come and go like a flowing and ebbing tide," Dr. Speight said.

After pointing out the varying moods, Dr. Speight declared that the "ebb tide hours" are useful. He compared such hours with those in which sailors prepare a craft for going to sea when the flood tide comes.

"Like the sailor," said Dr. Speight, "we can undertake forms of self-discipline and self-preparation in those times when our vision is not clear, when our enthusiasm is flagging, so that we shall be ready to benefit by the returning ardors and kindling of faith of happier hours."

Rostand Monument Dedicated in His Own Marseilles

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, April 13.—In the presence of Eugene Lauthier, undersecretary of Beaux Arts, and leading literary personalities of France a monument was dedicated today to Edmond Rostand, French dramatist, in his native city of Marseilles.

The monument, which shows the poet's head carved from the block of stone serving as the pedestal, is the work of Paul Goudard and is placed in Amable Chanot park, the principal public garden of Marseilles, where expositions are held.

Maurice Donnay, playwright; Gaston Rageot, president of the Society of Men of Letters, and M. Lauthier in addresses praised the genius of the author of "Cyrano de Bergerac," "L'Aiglon," and "Chantecler," declaring him a worthy successor to Victor Hugo and at the forefront of French drama and poetry.

New York Opera Renews Contract with Its Manager

New York, April 13.—[Special.]—Otto H. Kahn, on behalf of the Metropolitan Opera company, made public tonight a letter to Giulio Gatti-Casazza, that company's general manager since 1908, notifying him the board of directors extended the contract to May 1, 1935. Mr. Kahn said the board's action was a renewed mark of confidence. Mr. Gatti-Casazza came to the Metropolitan after ten years of opera management in his native Ferrara and ten years at the Scala, in Milan.

Singing Starts Yearly Display at Arts Club

BY THALIA

The Arts club's innovation in opening the annual exhibition of the work of its professional members with a soiree instead of a tea, as it has done previously, proved to be a most felicitous arrangement. The affair, which took place last night, was highly successful.

The array of creative works, totaling 107 items, was imposing, and many of the artists were present, as well as a large gathering of the so called lay members and their guests. A buffet supper was served in the galleries at 7 o'clock, and afterwards Miss Mina Hager sang a program of songs. The supper table was a lovely sight with two huge urns filled with Easter lillies, white snapdragons, and white carnations, and Miss Hager's songs were received with enthusiastic response.

Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, president of the club, was active in seeing to the successful progress of the evening, looking festive and gay in a black figured chiffon gown with a jacket edged in copper colored sequins.

Professional members whose work was in the exhibition and who were present included Charles Fabens Kelley, Joseph Birren, Gerald Frank, Katherine Dudley, Eleanor Duke, Marie Blanke, Bertha Jaques, Elizabeth Browning, Josephine L. Riechmann, and Jean Crawford Adams. Boyd Hill, whose water colors of "A New England Church" and "A Maine Shipyard," painted during summer vacations in New England, were in the exhibit, was present with Mrs. Hill, and others included Miss Peggy Hamilston, Mr. and Mrs. William Prescott Hunt, Miss Marie Rozet, Col. and Mrs. George T. Langhorne, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew R. Sherriff, Dr. and Mrs. Otho Fisher Ball, and Miss Alice Roullier.

Frederic C. Bartlett's "Circus" and "Visit," Sylvia Shaw Judson's sculptures, "Little Gardener" and "Life Study," and Oskar Hansen's "Winged Figure" were among the works attracting attention.

The Century of Progress banquet to be given under the auspices of the Association of Arts and Industries on Thursday evening, April 22, is to be a gala event. Manners Rate High in a Man's Charm for Women

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Could you not deliver a message to that class of perfectly wonderful men who have every qualification a good husband should have except nice manners?

"Manners may seem trivial in comparison with other things, but if men only realized how much women are impressed and swayed by them there would be fewer men going through life without the women of their choice.

"I know exactly two in that plight, wondering why they have been rejected. But isn't it embarrassing to a girl dining with a man if he does not rise when women come to their table? One was rejected for that reason. The other for breaches of table etiquette that were too gross to be thought possible in one of his abilities.

"If men knew these things wouldn't they read every available book on etiquette and observe other men's conduct?—A. L. C."

It would seem as though men bent on making an impression on a girl would go into the matter of conventional etiquette observances with themselves when they see their love cause waning. But the trouble with most persons who have not been ground from childhood up in the niceties of social behavior in that they are unfortunately unaware of their lack. So observation of other men or women carries home no lesson.

Balanced against a whole set of sturdy virtues, maybe ignorance of the social graces appears a trivial fault. But the fact remains that the average woman can more easily love a man with a past full of holes than she can adjust her taste to his social crudities. Maybe it does stamp women as superficial judges of character.

Maybe it does not, since countless numbers of men, deprived of early advantages, have achieved knowledge of the proprieties due to their own effort; also because good manners are an absolutely necessary passport into good society. Again, because the usual conventional modes of behavior, not being a complicated study, are easily within reach of any one who wants to learn.

Back of it all it is pride in her man that is so much a part of woman's love for him that is the influence brought to bear on her rejection of one who fails her before her friends.

Anyway, boys, if your girl has been acting cool toward you lately you might interview yourself on the subject suggested by A. L. C.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 13.—The secretary of labor and Mrs. Davis have as their guests for a few days Mrs. Fred W. Thomas of Beaver Falls, Pa. The secretary is spending the week-end in Cleveland, where he went to attend a meeting of Moose, the order which he founded.

Miss Helen Cannon, daughter of the late Joseph G. Cannon, speaker of the house years ago, has returned from Danville where she went because of the sudden death there of her only sister, Mrs. Ernest X. Le Seure, several weeks ago.

North Shore Art League Show Is Good

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The North Shore Art League is again bringing great credit on itself with its annual exhibit in Community house, Winnetka. Among the art associations of Chicago, this north shore league ranks high. The members are some of them professional painters and some of them individuals who find pleasure and interest in exercising the craft of brush and paint.

The current exhibit has a number of delightful paintings. There are a certain few a bit amateurish and some that might just as well be at home, except for the undoubted pleasure it brings their executors to see them hung in formal company. Landscapes, portraits, still life, among these three subjects the artists have let their fancies roam.

"Peonies," by L. S. Jerrems is a decorative canvas. Grace M. Haskins contributes some of the strongest and most beautiful work shown. Her "Still Life" is stunning. The "Wisconsin Garden," by Mary B. Poull is attractive, a bright spot of color and perfume. Elizabeth K. Peyraud has a delightful still life. A "Portrait Study," by Hope H. Dagenhardt, is of interest, and the portrait of Mr. Davies, the head of Community house, by Mrs. Boldenweck, is a good piece of characterization.

Alice A. Lazard shows an intriguing "Cactus Native," and Gertrude S. Kinder has two exquisitely colored and exotic studies to her credit. Percy Eckart shows a richly painted Smokie mountain landscape and Rudolph Inverie caps it with another romantic landscape. Mary S. Backius offers two delightful studies of dogwood in blossom. An arrangement of parrot and grapes and green plant by Marguerite C. Taylor is very effective.

Among the other artists are Alice Mae Jackson, Allan Philbrick, Kate Bacon Bond, Sarah Crosby Buck, Susan Risk Patten and B. B. Alling.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must be original. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

I took my little son with me when I went hunting rabbits. After I had tried unsuccessfully to shoot one, Bobby said, "Daddy, why don't you drive it home and let mother shoot it?" L. S.

My little grandson, 4, is punished by being placed on a chair until he promises to be good. One time he got down too soon and his father started to spank him.

Junior said: "Well, daddy, I think you shouldn't spank me. I am just coming to talk it over with you." H. L.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Fails Him in Trouble.

"Dear Miss Blake: Do you think because I am in trouble now that my girl should give me up? SMITTY."

You would expect her to befriend you now when you need a friend, Smitty. Were she in love with you she wouldn't fail you at this time.

Put a Stop to It.

"Dear Miss Blake: What do you think of a girl who accepts presents from me but does not notice me on the street at times and hardly ever talks to me? VERY BLUE."

She is selfish and unprincipled, but why do you stand for such treatment? She is the type who will accept your gifts and laugh at you for being such an easy mark."

Attention Given the Feet Is Well Repaid in Comfort

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Now begin the groans that from tiny corns do grow.

So long as the weather remains cold you can live with a corn on fairly amicable terms, but let a warm day appear and nobody's relations with the corn sufferer is going to be exactly amicable.

And if calluses decorate the soles of the feet, they'll burn like nothing this side of purgatory. More people could have the chiropodist-visiting habit and be little worse off financially. The visits, unless the feet are in bad condition, average around two or three dollars. A woman will spend that on a wrinkle cream without batting an eyelash. The chiropodist visit might be an even better wrinkle eradicator.

These reputable places for feet-treatment are a godsend. Their implements are many and extraordinarily efficient at getting at the root of the trouble. They are sterilized. At least, the professionally proud would no more take a chance with non-antiseptic ized working tools than would the surgeon of standing. Reputations are at stake.

It is a good idea to go a couple of times a year and have the feet overhauled not only to get relief but to prevent in time the conditions that lead to irritation.

A woman who has had trouble with her feet for years was talking about the foot advantages allotted the present day young ones. She confessed to wearing a three shoe at the age when her young daughter, 15, walks unembarrassed into a shoe store and demands a good, roomy five. The corn and callus troubles of this rising generation will be one of the least of their annoyances, unless, when they get to be 18, they get a Cinderella complex, as some of them, unforunately for their feet, do.

To take the burning, stinging sensation out of the feet salt foot baths are recommended, after which let the cold water spray play for a couple of minutes over the pedal extermities.

You can remove some of the callus with one of the hand pumice stones.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

E. M. H.: A GOOD EYE WASH may be made with boric acid, 1 per cent; sodium biborate, one gram; water camphor, 60 drops, and 3 ounces of distilled water. Apply with an eye cup. Boiled water, to which a little salt has been added, is another good wash.

"JENA" SYMPHONY OFFERS PROBLEM FOR MUSICAL DETECTIVE

BY EDWARD MOORE.

A symphony called "Jena," after the German city where its manuscript was discovered, and with enough evidence attached to make it possible that Beethoven wrote it, was played for the first time in Chicago by André Skalski and his orchestra at Kimball hall yesterday afternoon.

Beethoven's authorship perhaps never can be conclusively proved. It rests more on the fact that his name was on some of the parts in the handwriting of the copyist than on anything else. If so, the piece would seem to date to a time before the one now published as Beethoven's first. As that was a formative period in his life, when he still was affected by what Mozart and Haydn had been doing, internal evidence is not altogether trustworthy.

It is true that there is a several times repeated passage in the second movement that would have made Mozart's wig bristle in horror. It is also true that Beethoven seems never to have done that sort of thing again. Mostly the symphony, a quite short one, consists of pleasant melodies in the idiom of the late eighteenth century and not developed to the extent that Mozart or the young Beethoven used to indulge themselves.

Mr. Skalski, who evidently believes in the Beethoven theory, played it with the firm tone that one associates with Beethoven rather than with Mozartean lightness, making, by the way, an excellent impression. He also introduced another novelty, Max Reger's arrangement of a so-called suite in G minor by Bach. In reality, it is a pastiche of movements from different suites by no means all in the key of G minor. That fact, however, does not keep it, or most of it, from being entertaining music, and it was presented with a good deal of an air by Mr. Skalski and his men.

Princess Agreneva Slaviansky and her royal Russian choir gave the first of two concerts—the second will be next Sunday—at the Studebaker. Lest the idea of royalty and modern Russia should seem incongruous, the choir is said to have been organized in 1858 by the present director's father.

About twenty in number, the choir is a flame of bright colors, gold lace, and high head dresses. They sing, dance, and play balalaikas, singing with one of those subterranean bassos to give foundation, dancing frequently with the knee cracking gymnastic Russian bendings, though sometimes gravely and gracefully. Not all their songs are Russian. I heard an arrangement of the little thirteen measure prelude by Chopin, also "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "Ol' Man River," which no doubt gave us the same impression as when Americans seek to present European music to Europeans. The Russian part of the program, however, was highly attractive.

Boris Rosenfield, pianist, appeared next door at the Playhouse, playing crisply, intelligently, and, better, with a sense of the exultant in music, as though he were still of the age to have enthusiasm. His program was considerably less conventional than the normal piano program, and in it he seemed to have a distinct point of view as well as the ability to hunt up new music.

Over on the other side of the loop Anatol Frikin was giving a recital of songs for baritone voice, German lieder, Russian songs, and a Russian aria, French songs, and American songs. Evidently an earnest student, both the earnestness and the study were apparent in his performance, and generally with considerable effect upon a satisfactory if none too rich voice.

Understanding Any Child Is Effective; Punishing Isn't

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

One of the most frequent questions asked me in letters is: "How would you punish such a child?"

My answer is, "I wouldn't."

A frequent statement is, "I punish my child but it does no good."

My answer is, "It won't." That is, no permanent good."

A much more common statement than either of these is: "I scold, I nag, I argue, I talk until I'm weary and my nerves are ragged. What would you do?"

My answer is, "I would drop all that. I would do something utterly different from what you've being doing, whatever that may have been."

The trouble with all these methods—punishing, scolding, arguing—is that they make use of the principle of opposing forces. Quite unintentionally, of course.

And just as long as you and your child are opposing each other—as long as you are on one side and your child on another, you won't get anywhere. You may get a little surface compliance for the time being. If you're severe enough you may get subservience—obedience through fear. But that's not what any intelligent parent wants.

No, just as long as you're pushing or pulling by scolding or arguing or punishing your child, nothing fundamentally good will happen. The only thing that is truly fruitful is to get your results by working with him. By whatever means you know make him understand this coöperation. Then he will do these necessary things of his own accord.

He must feel, deep down inside him, that you are his friend. To make him feel this you must try to see with his eyes, to hear with his ears. And this requires caring and imagination.

The eyes and ears of a child see the world and hear it from a different level—a different experience. You must understand that to work with him.

A psychologist of note made this remark the other night: "No matter how learned a psychologist or psychiatrist may be, he cannot help his patient at all until he is in rapport with him. Rapport is vital."

It's the same with children. "I understand. I'm on your side. I'm with you." That must be the feeling if you're to reach any goal worth reaching. That must be the keynote.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Cooking Pictures.

A continuous stream of letters come in asking which cook book to buy. About now young women who will be married in June begin to think about selecting the proper cook book. Always it is a little difficult to tell some one applying here which book to get. One may be reminded of the old joke about buying the girl or boy a book, with the answer, "He has a book."

Lately I have been thinking about the real value of pictures of food, particularly pictures which give the different stages in preparing a fowl or doing something of that sort, or showing cuts of meat and groups of utensils for doing different jobs. The late books are rather scantily illustrated; therefore, I have turned to Mrs. Janet MacKenzie Hill's "Practical Cooking and Serving"—a book for which I have always had a fondness—as something to recommend because it is so generously illustrated, as well as having such a great number of recipes. With the index, it contains 731 pages, and has nearly 250 illustrations. A single illustration of a group may contain ten items.

It is a great help in cooking to know how a product should look, and how it can be set up. For instance, it is worthwhile to know how to mount a poached egg. In this book there are pictured many services of fish. The book would be worthwhile for one thing alone; it contains such excellent pictures and descriptions showing what to do with fowl. There are a good many pages devoted to this subject, and the descriptions may be just as helpful to an experienced cook as to an amateur.

The picture of the back of a chicken trussed for roasting might be invaluable, along with the description, to a young cook. If she wanted to understand tendons here is a picture showing them, and another showing a chicken dressed for broiling. There is also one showing how wild duck should be trussed for roasting. How to garnish many a dish is helpfully presented, while the illustrations of special utensils are most valuable. This book, copyrighted in 1902, is to be purchased now for two dollars and a half.

LITTLE FOLKS—GOING PLACES. By "Tack" Knight

This Evening Wrap Is a Mere Capelet

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—As the days and skirts grow longer, Paris wraps shrink with the nights. In the winter collections their level had risen to the hips; the summer collections have reduced them to the dimensions of the little fichus and circulars dear to the romantic period. Obviously our new found French optimism extends even to the weather, and the couturiers en masse have faith in the prophecies that it's "gwine to be a hot summer."

To be as smart as it is brief, your wrap must be of snowy ermine. Foxes of all kinds can settle down to a comfortable home in their holes this summer, for they have at last been wrenched by fashion's edict from the feminine neck, where they have been entwined for so many seasons. Ermine offers, to my mind, many advantages over fox as a summer fur, for it is light, warm enough for chilly shoulders, and cooler looking than the long haired fox.

However that may be, the Paris couturiers have been universally converted to ermine and there is not a single collection that does not boast at least one example of the miniature wrap in this regal fur. Lelong's short ermine cape-coat with its abbreviated gilet front, Molyneux's long sleeved Spanish bolero in ermine, lined with black velvet, Paul Poiret's 1830 cutaway, to name only a few, prove the versatility of this popular wrap.

The delightful little ermine capelet shown in our sketch is from Heim. He has worked it in horizontal bands shaped on one side into an asymmetrical up-curved closing that continues into the long scarf end to be thrown around the neck. It is worn with an evening frock of turquoise blue mousseline, also from Heim, who this season has turned his talent to textiles, as well as pelts. The shaped flounces of the three tiered skirt imitate the asymmetrical form of the ermine capelet, as does the sleeveless bolero attached to the bodice.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

GIRL'S DRESS.

This is a dress that the sophisticated girl will like. The flaring skirt is gathered at the front and dips gently at either side. A crushed girdle marks the normal waistline and ties in a pretty bow at the left side. The simple bodice is sleeveless and the cape collar, stopping at either side of the front shows a round neckline. Organdy, taffeta, crêpe de chine, voile, and linen are smart materials for this sort of a dress.

The pattern, 3360, comes in sizes 8, 10, 12, and 14 years. Size 8 requires 2⅛ yards of 39 inch material with ⅝ yard of 32 inch contrasting.

Bridge Party Disturbed.

A lady who had broken up housekeeping in the small town where I lived years ago asked me if I would not like to use a very beautiful davenport which she had but did not want to sell with her other furniture. I assumed that I would have this for several weeks at least, and was quite thrilled with the prospect.

However, I was not so thrilled when she sent a moving van after it in the middle of an afternoon party I was giving, necessitating three of my guests standing until I could arrange other seating accommodations!

Silent Drama Stars Find Talkies Lower Their Pay

Hollywood, Cal., April 13.—[Special.]—Colleen Moore, whose salary as a movie star was $12,500 a week during a contract which recently expired, is now offering her services as a film actress at $7,500 a week. Other stars of silent film days also have accepted considerable "cuts."

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

When planning your garden with the desire for beautiful flowers, be sure there is plenty of blue in the color scheme. Besides being a color that blends harmoniously with flowers of other hue, blue is a favorite color with bees. It's a pretty safe bet that without bees we would have no flowers, and without flowers no bees.

Perhaps the most important but little known work of the honey bee is the conveyance of pollen from flower to flower in collecting the nectar, thus assisting in the fertilization of plants and assuring their productiveness.

Blue flowers harmonize with those of other colors and are not only an invitation to the busy little bee, but for beauty as well. They will add much to your garden if the following list is used:

Among sweet peas an attractive color scheme may be obtained by blending rose pink and salmon pink with blue, delphinium and gaillardia with bachelor's buttons, and forget-me-not [myosotis] with baby's breath, Gillia blue thimble flower, heliotrope, love-in-the-mist [nigella], or verbenas.

Many others are to be found if one takes the time to study the blending of those blue flowers with contrasting shades. Blue is especially valuable, as it is a comparatively rare color among our cultivated plants. Never, if you want a beautiful color scheme in your garden, plant reds and yellow together.

REAL ESTATE LOANS.

Junior Mortgage.

SECOND MORTGAGE LOANS

There are a lot of things we have done and are doing in the interest of the home owner, but the most important one has been the reduction of rates on second mortgage loans. Five years ago we introduced to heard of low rates on second mortgages; we have reduced these rates three times. For five years the rates which we have charged on second mortgage loans have been the lowest rates in Chicago—and they still are.

But there are a lot of things we don't do. We don't loan on speculative or commercial properties, we restrict ourselves to single dwelling houses and up to 3-apartment buildings. We don't over appraise property. We don't make excessive loans. We don't allow the customer to be slow in making his payments. We don't pay brokerage. We don't have to pay exorbitant prices for our supply of funds.

These "don'ts" are among the major reasons why we are only charging 3½% for a 1 year loan, 6½% for a 2 year loan, and 9% for a 3 year loan, in addition to the 7% accruing interest.

We have not been in the second mortgage business "high, wide, and handsome." We only loan to the best kind of people—and in the best kind of people we have a deep and thoughtful interest. To all of them we extend a most hearty and cordial invitation to come to us for their second mortgage financing.
